Section 7 This amending act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I am voting "No" against the majority of the Republican Senators on this bill and I would like to read one paragraph from today's Evening Bulletin on this subject. The heading of this editorial is "Scrap of Paper?" "This illustrates the nature of the battle waging at Harrisburg to defer the effective date of state responsibility for the mentally ill. It is largely a battle to make a favorable showing for the state budget by keeping the counties saddled with costs of which the state had promised to relieve them."

I consider that the Republican majority in the Senate is maintaining a fallacious policy and therefore on these three bills I am voting "no."

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, may I suggest to my colleague from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, that this need not bother him, because I am informed that Philadelphia does not pay its bills in connection with the maintenance of the indigent any way, as they owe the state $2,280,000 now for the care of the indigent for the last two years.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I call the attention of my floor leader to the fact that it is quite fashionable to encourage deferred payments, and that the city of Philadelphia will pay in instalments, and I also would like to read these figures, taken from this article from which I just quoted concerning the failure of Philadelphia to live up to its promises: "Philadelphia will have to dig up $400,000 to piece out this year's budget, and $1,200,000 for next year," and that seems to me a great deal more to worry about than omitting past payments.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have frequently said things about Philadelphia when I thought they were wrong and now I am going to say something when I think they are right. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has taken not only from Philadelphia but from other communities in this Commonwealth money that does not belong to them. In 1938, these communities understood the institutions were going to be taken care of and accordingly made their budgets and had to borrow the money afterwards.

In Philadelphia they took over their institution lock, stock and barrel, and Philadelphia had not provided in their budget for that expense and there is no reason why Philadelphia should have provided for it and there was no reason why the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, having absolute charge of that institution, should ask the city of Philadelphia to pay three dollars a week for every patient in the institution. It took over the property and we are paying the mortgage interest on it—it was agreed and we were ready and willing, but we did not expect the Governor of the Commonwealth would come in and postpone that provision of the act as far as the city of Philadelphia is concerned, which covers the repayment or the payment of so much each week for each patient in the institution. There are six thousand patients in the institution and there is a charge of three dollars a week for each patient. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is trying to collect that and it has no right to collect it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

It was agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, tell us the purpose of the amendments?

Mr. WALKER. It will be a pleasure, Mr. President. First I want to say to my step-brother from Allegheny I wish to congratulate him on his birthday, the thirty-fifth year of his existence in this world of turmoil and strife. Congratulations, Senator, may you live thirty-five more.

Now, returning to the marriage bill, in a number of places throughout the bill the words "notary public" or "notaries public" were inserted into the bill in order to give notaries public the same rights as aldermen and magistrates to issue applications for marriage licenses. Being somewhat familiar with the hodge-podge situation in which notaries public are created here in the Senate, we felt it would be best that they be removed from the same class as those who issue marriage licenses or accept applications for the same and therefore notaries public have been taken out of the bill. They were inserted in the bill over in the House; they were not in the bill originally.

The other amendment, or the second amendment referred to, page fourteen of the bill, section thirteen, beginning with line nineteen, in the House there were two paragraphs stricken out of the bill on page fourteen. One paragraph, paragraph subsection B reads as follows:

I am sorry, Mr. President, but I wish the gentlemen who have gathered around my step-brother from Allegheny would conduct their conference some place else, because he is deeply interested in this explanation, I know, or he would not have asked me.

Now, on page fourteen, subsection B, line nineteen, the paragraph reads as follows:

"(b) No marriage may hereafter be entered into in this Commonwealth by virtue of any civil or religious ceremony whatsoever unless a license for such marriage is secured as required by this act and all such marriages hereafter entered into without proper license shall be null and void except as follows:"

Now, Mr. President, the thought in restoring that in the bill was this: that if an innocent young couple full of spring and June roses got a license to marry and they take that license and a wedding ring and go to a justice of the peace or an alderman to be united in the holy bonds of wedlock and then six months later discovered the squire's commission expired a week before and he did not have the authority to marry them, under the present law the experts on divorce say that marriage is not void but voidable.

I can understand what a voidable contract is but a voidable marriage would leave both husband and wife living in a constant state of terror in fear the other spouse would say automatically three times "I divorce you,"—exercise the right of option and get rid of the spouse. Under the desire of the act that is not good law.

Therefore those two paragraphs were stricken out of the act in the House and we removed the brackets so that the paragraphs are once more operative in the bill and the purpose of that was to insure that if there was some mistake made, if for example the license was signed by a minister in the wrong place or any other technicality arose over the issuance of the license, the marriage would not be void, the people would be legally married, so that there would not be any question raised or perhaps a cloud on their martial title and for that reason the exception was restored in the bill.

Now, Mr. President, also in the House there was stricken from the bill on page fifteen, subparagraph two. This paragraph in essence said even if all of the other restrictions that are placed in an application for a marriage license were ignored that the marriage would still be operative and we see no good purpose in permitting restrictions in the issuance of marriage licenses. For example, wait three days or that there must be an examination within a certain period of time, and that the license must be utilized within a certain period of time and then to turn around and through a paragraph which would eliminate all of the restrictions to be placed around the control of marriages, would be rather silly and as a result, that paragraph having been stricken out in the House, we once more put the brackets around that paragraph and eliminated it from the bill. Those in substance were the amendments made.

The last amendment made, as read by the clerk, was on page fifteen, section sixteen, line twenty-two, where a word appeared in the bill as follows: "e-e-i-g-h-t-e-e-n" and we assumed the sponsors of the bill meant eighteen and we corrected the spelling of that word.

This, Mr. President, is a somewhat sketchy idea of what we did with this marriage code and if there are any other questions the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, my step-brother, desires to ask on this glorious birthday of his I will be perfectly willing to try to answer them.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I thought my colleague from Allegheny had the floor but I am perfectly willing to answer an interrogation.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I yield to my colleague from McKean.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I would like to know what the situation would be if two people, without the physical examination required by our present law and without getting this beautiful license on which we put so much dependence, would get married by either a magistrate or a minister of the Gospel; what would be the situation as to whether or not that marriage was legal, if they got married without going through this formality of having a physical examination and getting a license?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, as I understand the wording of the bill as it is in its present stage that marriage would be null and void. As I understand the code there must be a license issued and there must be a physical examination—the gentleman from McKean has had vast experience, much more experience in the practice of the law than I, but I distinctly recall when I went to law school in relation to the discussion of common law marriages—I will say frankly I have had very little experience but the professors in the law school in their wisdom explained that cohabitation does not make a common law marriage. If they are married by a justice of the peace or an alderman or a minister without a license the marriage is null and void, because, in the first place, under the act they did not have a license and in the second place under the act they did not have a physical examination and as I recall the act itself, Mr. President, I might suggest to the gentleman from McKean I think there is even a penalty clause for a justice of the peace or an alderman or a minister of the Gospel who is authorized under the act to perform the marriage ceremony, there is a penalty attached to that if the marriage is not coupled with a proper license.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Then it is my understanding, Mr. President, that if two people got married without the blue license with the ribbon on it, that marriage would be such that the children of that marriage would be illegitimate.

Mr. WALKER. My understanding, Mr. President, is that if they do not have a license with the blue ribbon, and maybe the cupids in the center, that the marriage is null and void. Now, if a marriage is null and void and there are children born of that union and it was not a legal marriage, in my legal opinion, for whatever it is worth to the Senators, I would say those children are illegitimate. There is not any doubt in my mind but that this act definitely eliminates common law marriages in Pennsylvania.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am for this bill in its present condition, full strength, and I would like to know whether these amendments here in any way dilute the strength of the bill.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, in my opinion I would say these amendments restore, not in toto but to a large degree, the bill as it was originally introduced in the House, which was in its youth and vigor approved by the Pennsylvania Federation of Women who have worked very hard and earnestly to obtain passage of this bill.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, there has been a lot of joking out I was very sincere in asking the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, about these amendments, because I am vitally interested in this bill.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I just want to answer by saying I am quite serious in this matter and I think my Republican colleagues on this side of the house know that I feel quite strongly on this question and I just want to answer the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, by saying he is not the only one who is quite serious about this matter.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I did not mean to imply by my remarks that the gentleman from McKean was not serious.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, wanted to know whether the amendments diluted the bill or not. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, said they did not, but if the gentlemen from Philadelphia and Allegheny get together they will find the bill in its present form does dilute considerably the legitimacy of many children, that may be born.

RECESS

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 9:00 o'clock, p. m., E. S. T.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

L. 1278), entitled "An act relating to counties of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes: and revising, amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto," imposing additional duties on and providing for additional compensation of veterans' grave registrars was passed finally, May 20, 1941.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed third reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to Amend section 1 (section 439), page 3, line 7 by striking out, with boldface brackets, at the end of the line, the following: "[to perform duties similar to those performed by]"; Amend section 1 (section 439), page 3, by striking out, with boldface brackets, line 8, and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "to assist"; Amend section 1 (section 439), page 3, line 11, by inserting after the word "family" and before the word "and" the following: "under any of the laws of this Commonwealth and of the United States".

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, these are amendments which have been suggested by the Attorney General and His Excellency the Governor to this bill, which I think are acceptable and should be made.

The amendment was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, as we do not have a copy of the bill on our desks in its present form I would like to ask the gentleman from Fayette to explain to us in a general way just what these amendments cover.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. As the gentleman from Montgomery will recall, we amended this bill to some extent, placing in the bill that the grave registrar, the present grave registrar in a county, was given the additional duty of assisting war veterans in certain matters, and the bill read that the grave registrar was to perform the duties of the service officer of the veteran's post, and the Attorney General, as well as the Governor, felt that the term "duties of the service officer of any veteran's post" was too indefinite—it was not specific enough—and these amendments make the phraseology more specific. That is all the amendment does.

Mr. EDMONDS. There is no other change in the bill, Mr. President?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. There is no other change in the bill at all. This just makes a little more clear what additional duties we are placing on the grave registrar.

Mr. EDMONDS. Thank you very much.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order.

The Senate resumed the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1007, (House Bill No. 230), entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act, approved the twenty-second day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (Pamphlets Laws, four hundred fourteen), entitled "An act to provide revenue for State purposes; imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property; providing for the assessment, collection, and lien of the same, and the distribution of the proceeds thereof; imposing duties on executors, administrators, registers of wills, recorders of deeds, prothonotaries, and court clerks, and on persons, copartnerships, associations, banks, national banks, trust companies, and other corporations receiving deposits of money, and on certain corporations and limited partnerships; conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments; imposing penalties; and making an appropriation," as previously reenacted and amended, by continuing the State personal property tax and the emergency rate of tax on scrip bonds, certificates and evidences of indebtedness, assumed or on which interest is paid by corporations, for a further limited period of time exempting casualty insurance corporations not having capital stock and relieving life insurance corporations from the duty of reporting and paying tax under section seventeen of said act.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire to say a few words on this bill. The bill embodies a proposition that I have opposed on the floor of this Senate for some years back. I have always felt that this bill has to do with the question of thrift and as those who have studied our form of government well know, thrift is inseparably woven into the fabric of our free form of government. I have maintained for some time that the state personal property tax, as we have it in this Commonwealth, is a tax on the thrifty of this Commonwealth.

This money, as we all know, goes to maintain our relief system in Pennsylvania. If you analyze the report of the Department of Revenue or the returns for relief under a similar act passed by the legislature, you will find that some counties, although small, contribute far more money under the law than many of our larger counties do, and if at the same time you will analyze the report on relief as furnished by the director of Public Assistance in the Commonwealth, you will find that many of those larger counties that pay little taxes under the law as it now stands concerning personal property, receive far more relief money than some of the counties that pay a large personal property tax.

Now, Mr. President, I maintain that is inequitable, it is unfair, it is unjust, and consequently this tax is not a proper tax for raising money for relief and I want to refer to a report submitted to me by the Department of Revenue from which I desire to read in order to substantiate my argument.

For instance, Berks County paid in 1940, $258,445.64 under the personal property tax law as it then existed and at the same time it received for the year 1940 for relief $186,830, so you can see the inequity that exists in Berks County.

Bucks County paid $121,949.71 under the personal property tax law and received from relief, as relief grants for the same year, $48,336.

Montgomery County is an outstanding county in that respect. It paid in 1940, $794,123.55 under the personal property tax law and for relief it was paid back only $181,601.

Mr. President, on the other hand take for instance Cambria County. It paid in only $69,554.30 under the personal property tax law for 1940, and it took out $385,772.

Then take the county of Schuylkill. It paid in 1940, $80,956.18 under the personal property tax law and it took out in the form of relief for that year $492,473.

I could go on through the list and point out many other instances of the same character but the point I am trying to make is this, that this form of taxation is not fair. In other words, you are taxing under this personal property law the thrifty people in order to raise money to pay those who are unfortunate, not thrifty, or for some other reason the county in which they reside can not pay their fair share of the state tax burden.

There are many ways that we could raise money for this purpose that would be more equitable, Mr. President, than taxing some farmer down in Montgomery County or over in Chester County who through thrift has saved a little money; we could raise far more taxation by perhaps taxing those who like to frequent amusements. Now, that is not a necessary service. If I want to go to some amusement, that is not necessary, and if I desire to go I ought to be willing to pay a fair tax for going, and, on the other hand, if I care to go to some place where intoxicating liquors were sold, that is not necessary, and we could raise more money from that source, but to tax the thrifty all the time under our law is gradually destroying the very life of our free form of government.

Mr. President, much of this money that we raise under this personal property tax law goes into our large centers of population, our large cities. There many of those people seek their amusements in various ways. Some would go to boxing bouts, some would go to movie houses, some would go to theatres. If those people decide that is the form of amusement they like, rather than some other, they ought to be willing to pay a fair tax for that privilege and in that way that would make the tax a uniform tax.

Under this system, I repeat, and I want it clearly understood, that we are taxing the thrifty and it seems odd under our form of government, both the national form of government and the state system, that we are seeking out at all times those who are thrifty, piling more taxes on them, and we are gradually breaking the backs of those who are carrying the tax load today and it will not be long under this course until our free form of government will begin to break down.

I say we can raise this tax in some other manner. I never could understand why in a rich state like Pennsylvania, where we give thousands and thousands and millions and millions of dollars every year to amusements, we do not get any amusement tax at all, and at the same time you will read in the papers of the exorbitant profits that are made from that industry, and yet we get no amusement tax in Pennsylvania at all. Now, those are not necessary, and if you will go to your large centers and station yourself near the places of amusement, I will venture this statement, that those on relief will be found going into those places in far greater numbers than the thrifty people who are daily earning their livelihood in the pursuance of honest toil. Now, that is not fair and I hope the time will soon come that we will change our system and give the thrifty in Pennsylvania a little encouragement to help them rebuild this great democracy.

I know what I am stating here will not change any votes, but I want to go on record at this time as one advocating the return to the principles of democracy upon which this great republic was builded, and one of the paramount virtues is the virtue of thrift, and I repeat in conclusion, without thrift, when you take thrift out of the fabric of a free form of government, you begin to tear it apart and destroy it.

I certainly hope the time will soon come when we will begin to look around spread the tax over the whole population rather than picking out those who are thrifty and can easily pay, and pile it all on them. There is no tax on many of our people today, and if they seek out certain avenues of pleasure, if they deem that necessary, even though they are getting their money from relief, they ought to be willing to pay a little tax in order to enjoy that privilege.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I would like to reinforce and expand somewhat on the remarks of my esteemed contemporary from Washington County; we often think alike.

You may remember when George Earle was Governor, while he was a wealthy man, he had a very tender spot in his heart for the underprivileged. Some people said he was a parlor pink. It was Governor Earle's administration that stopped our amusement tax and what the gentleman from Washington forgot to state was the amount of money collected under that tax and I inquired and was told it was six million dollars in a biennium.

Now Governor Earle was also very tender-hearted towards the underprivileged who drive motor cars and he reduced the driver's license fee to one dollar—and while I will not say anything about the gallery up there but that was about the same time when we had a mob in the gallery—but I therefore reinforce my colleague's statement about the amusement tax and also I am highly in favor of putting the tax back where it was on drivers' licenses, at two dollars.

This afternoon I attended the movie at the Senate Theatre and I am sure all the relievers had all the seats because I had to stand during the entire performance, there was standing room only, and there was a grand opportunity to put an amusement tax on those people who are on relief and take all the seats.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I must agree with my colleague from Washington, Senator Reed, when he states that the personal property tax is more or less uncalled for. In the early part of this session I introduced a number of bills you might term as nuisance bills, but I was sincere about them, and if you will go over the bills you will find there is a possibility of financing this government without placing any further taxes upon industry.

For very many years I have heard my colleagues on the right crying out in the open spaces about the Democrats placing taxes upon industry and driving industry out of the state. It so happens I can now speak freely because I was informed this afternoon I am thrown out of my party, so not having any party, Mr. President, I can condemn both parties now—I might come to your party.

However, Mr. President, it is possible to raise many, many millions of dollars and at the same time reduce some of the so called nuisance taxes.

I proposed a bill placing a tax upon Juke boxes and a great deal of fun was had over that bill, but one of our neighboring states, the State of Maryland, has such a law and every Juke box in the State of Maryland is licensed and pays a fee of twenty-five dollars per year. We have in Pennsylvania thousands upon thousands of Juke boxes, deriving no revenue from the same.

I proposed a tax on bingo. You paid no attention to that. At the same time we have thousands and thousands of bingo games played daily throughout the Commonwealth, illegally. You paid no attention to that.

I proposed a tax on pari-mutuel horse racing. The neighboring states of New York, New Jersey and Maryland have such laws—West Virginia, that's correct—you paid no attention to that and go on down the line and it can be shown it is possible to derive at least one hundred million dollars per year from such taxes.

For instance, the tax on bank night. Here we have throughout the Commonwealth bank nights. I went through Pittsburgh last week and I saw a sign in a central theatre, "Bank Prize to-night, One Thousand Dollars." Think of it, bank prize of one thousand dollars. I live in a small town of thirty-five hundred population and they put up a bank prize every Thursday of three hundred dollars.

It seems to me the theatre men are willing to pay a tax, they are asking for the legalizing of bank nights and will gladly pay a tax but, oh no, you cannot see it, but you place it on industry, the same place where for year after year you cry we Democrats are driving the industry out of Pennsylvania, you have adopted the same program, you have never taken out an "i" or dotted a "t," and now once again when we propose reducing the personal property tax from four to three mills you again say you have to go on with it, because you do not have sufficient money to finance this government, so I say to you I for one will oppose this bill because I think it is placed on the wrong people, the small man who happens to be fortunate enough to have a few stocks or bonds and you say to him you must pay a personal property tax, but you pay no attention to those who can well afford it.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HALUSKA. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I would like to join the gentleman's party; he says he has no party, he belongs to neither the Republican nor Democratic Party. To what party does the Senator belong?

Mr. HALUSKA. I have a party, Mr. President, known as the Sixty at Sixty. I think the gentleman from Philadelphia is in line for it.

Mr. WOODWARD. I would like to confer with the gentleman later, Mr. President, and we will join together.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I have listened with a great deal of interest and appreciation to the discussion here this evening. I think it is a fine thing for Pennsylvania that on both sides of the Senate we are fast reaching the conclusion that the personal property tax is undesirable. As a matter of fact, in the report of the Pennsylvania Tax Commission for 1926, we declared it was the worst tax in the state. At that time it was four mills, limited to the counties and now it is eight mills, one-half county and one-half state.

There are two practical conditions I think ought now to be considered. The first is that in making the budget we must work with bills for raising revenue that have come to us from the House, and the House has not sent over any other bills for revenue than those which we have considered today, and therefore we must recognize the fact that since their constitutional duty is paramount in the matter, we cannot raise taxes on a new question at the present time.

In the second place this idea is most important; I think it is worth while to consider that a certain amount of permanency or stability about the tax system is a good thing. We all of us hope there will be a reduction in taxes affected by the next legislature, but if on the other hand we would now act to repeal some of the old taxes and start in new taxes and then find out the cost of relief went down very materially, we could abolish some taxes, there would be an uncertainty attached to our whole revenue plan, which I think on the whole would do more harm to business than would be done by restoring these emergency taxes for another two years.

That is the reason that personally I am willing to vote for this bill. I would not endorse in Pennsylvania taxation that is bound to hit the thrifty; that is poor policy and is bound in time to exhaust the reserves of the state, but I think there is one thing worse and that is to change our tax system every two years, and so it seems to me it is a lot better to hold on to a permanent plan until the emergency that has been created by relief has passed, and when that emergency has passed, then let us revise our tax system in a sensible, broad-minded way, and see if we can get a tax system that will provide sufficient revenue for the Commonwealth, and yet at the same time not act to dry up the estates of the thrifty, such as has happened with a tax of this kind.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I do not want to add much to the statement of my colleague from Washington, the proposition that thrift is interwoven with our form of government, but I merely want to add a few observations on that particular subject. Last night the entire nation, not only our nation but all nations in this hemisphere and nations out of this hemisphere, listened for forty-five minutes to a speech made by the Chief Executive of these United States of America, wherein he outlined the many dangers that now beset us, and in his appeal he called upon the people of this nation to do their part in order to meet these dangers. If we analyzed the speech well, analyzed the subject matter treated by him, we would see fundamentally that what he was calling upon all of us to do was to be thrifty, to, as we popularly say, put our shoulders to the wheel.

Now, in order that we may fit into the picture as he unfolded it to us, it will be necessary for all of us to follow the road of thrift, not the road of prodigality—the road of the prodigal and the spendthrift; we will have to be thrifty if we are going to meet the call made on us.

I wish to state here some figures that have already been stated before on this subject of taxing personal property. We have seen from year to year the tremendous amount of money that goes into the amusements of this state and the whole nation; we have seen year after year the tremendous salaries that men in that industry draw out of the incomes of that industry. For instance, here is L. B. Mayer, managing director of Loew's Incorporated. In 1940 he drew down a salary of $697,408. That did not include his expense account, which was almost equal to that amount. Nicholas M. Schenk, president of the same company, drew down $318,881, in addition to expenses. W. C. Fields, the actor, drew down $255,000. Deanna Durbin, screen performer, drew down $209,833.

Now, it might be amazing to know how much of that wealth came from the State of Pennsylvania. I am sorry I do not have those figures here with me, but it would be amazing, and I cannot do anything but agree with my colleague from Washington County that here is a field of taxation that we have absolutely neglected, where, on the other hand, we have placed iniquitous taxes upon those who have been thrifty.

It seems highly inconsistent to have the Chief Executive of the United States calling upon us to follow a course of life which leads to thrift, to be thrifty and careful, and at the same time we tax that very ideal, the ideal of being thrifty; we tax it here and destroy it in this state.

I again wish to repeat in this connection, because the bill before us is a bill to raise revenue for relief, I sincerely believe that we can repeal every relief law today and there would be no one starve in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, because the people of America, in my study of the history of this nation, have always been charitable; the history of the founders of this nation show proven charity in that nobody ever starved, but we with our relief set-up, with these flat heels who are these parasites who are constantly on our backs for their jobs, we have killed the charitable spirit of the pioneers and the ancestors of the nation; we make it unnecessary for the spirit of charity and brotherly love to exist because everybody turns to the state when in need of bread and butter; or in some difficulty, they turn to the state, and certainly they will continue to turn to the state because we have created a situation that induces that.

If we would only repeal a lot of this relief set-up we would be able to repeal a lot of these taxes and we would still find that nobody would starve, a neighbor would take care of his neighbor; we are still our brother's keeper, and I profoundly believe that a Christian nation like America would not disregard that very Christian admonition that we are our brother's keeper and I cannot conceive the time might come when the people of America, if we repealed these relief laws, would allow their brother to starve or their neighbors to starve; they would not starve, and it is high time, I think, in view of the serious conditions that beset us, that we take as truthful the speech of the Chief Executive of the United States, that it is time we do something about this subject. I intend to vote for this bill and will vote for it, but as my colleague from Washington has said, I am serving notice I certainly am coming to the end of this path where we are being constantly asked to raise these tremendous funds for the relief of the drone and taxing the thrifty in order to provide that relief.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I should like to ask the gentleman from Fayette one question.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Fayette permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman from Fayette whether he thinks the Department of Welfare would administer relief any better than the Department of Public Assistance?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I think we could abolish the Department of Public Assistance; it should never have been created, and the Department of Welfare could very efficiently administer that set-up, such as relief to the blind and the aged and relief to dependent children. I am for that kind of relief, but I am not for giving this relief to an able bodied fellow who can go out now and work and if they cannot find work I still repeat that there is no honest true American that will allow his neighbor to starve if he can afford to share some of his bread with him.

Mr. WOODWARD. I understand, Mr. President, the gentleman from Fayette has respect for the Department of Welfare.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Yes, Mr. President, I do, but I do not respect the Department of Public Assistance, which is composed mostly of those people we call flat heels.

Mr. HALUSKA. I am sorry, Mr. President, I must take issue with the gentleman from Fayette but, however, when he talks about relievers, as my colleague from Washington, Mr. Reed, pointed out, in Cambria County we paid in $69,000,000 and withdrew $329,000, I can not let the statement go unchallenged.

We are passing these tax bills because we must raise money to take care of the needy.

I agree in one sense, possibly we have a personnel that takes up about one-third of the money appropriated for relief, but we can not lose sight of the fact that we have in this Commonwealth thousands upon thousands of aged persons who must depend upon some source of relief. Today, as we all know, a man who is forty-five or fifty years of age finds it very difficult to obtain employment; a man above fifty is definitely out; and a man from sixty to seventy is living on borrowed time. That man must turn to us for some aid and we must adjust ourselves to the fact that he must be taken care of. We have widows and we have the blind, yes, and we have many hundreds of folks who try to obtain honest employment and can not get work and therefore they must be fed.

You might say, as my colleague has stated, that our neighbors might keep them, but do not forget our neighbors also are on relief.

In my county, as you have noticed, we have many, many thousands of persons who can not get employment in the mines or in the mills because of their age. However, they must be fed and we must pass taxes but we are passing the wrong type of taxes, as I have pointed out awhile ago, and we are placing a hardship on those who are least able to pay.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendment in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I desire to explain my vote on this bill. I have, I believe, a number of times voted for a tax on personal property, simply because I thought the tax was imperative and necessary. I have been a staunch advocate of economy in government.

Because I feel that the tax on real estate is and has been for a number of years bearing an unfair share of the tax burden, I have been hopeful that in this session of the legislature we might have been able to do something for the over-burdened taxpayers. I realize that I am not the only person interested in relieving the burden on the owners of real estate; many or perhaps the majority if not all of the members of the Senate, I know, are sincerely concerned, and I do hope that before this session is ended, if we can not do anything to relieve the burden on the owner of real estate, that we might be able to do something to equalize that burden.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I intended to make some remarks on this bill on second reading, and possibly move to have it recommitted, but in the absence of my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, I would prefer to make the remarks when he is present. I might say it is his court.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate my colleague from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Always, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I would like the gentleman from Philadelphia to explain just what he meant when he made the statement that it was Senator Shapiro's court. I still believe I am an attorney practicing law in Philadelphia and I might say the same for my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, briefly, Senator Shapiro wanted to delete the Municipal Court in Philadelphia, but he did not succeed in transferring certain functions of the Municipal Court to the Court of Common Pleas, so he was optimistic about it and gave us two new courts in Philadelphia County, numbers six and seven, to take care of extra business that would result from the deletion of the Municipal Court.

Well, Mr. President, he fell down on the Municipal Court but he did not fall down on getting two new courts, you see, and, of course, each court has three judges and of course in this court there are three democratic judges and each judge gets fourteen thousand dollars a year salary and three times fourteen is forty-two thousand dollars a year. This is part of the speech I was going to make when Senator Shapiro was here.

Does that answer the question?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, is the gentleman from Philadelphia familiar with the work and activities of Common Pleas Court No. 7 in the City of Philadelphia?

Mr. WOODWARD. Well, Mr. President, I apologize to Attorney Jaspán. I am only a layman and I only know the gossip, that this court found it very difficult to find any place to go, and having found a place—they turned the sheriff out, I believe and went into the sheriff's offices. The three judges are very fine judges, I know, but I think the gentleman will agree they do have very little to do, and I am trying to reduce the number of Common Pleas judges from one hundred twenty-nine to something like a hundred, and that is a beginning. I am picking out the Democrats first.

Mr. JASPAN. Am I totak it, Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia introduced this bill because of gossip only.

Mr. WOODWARD. Oh no, Mr. President, I consulted with Mr. McCracken, one of the leading members of the bar. Of course, he is a criminal lawyer.

Mr. JASPAN. Is the gentleman from Philadelphia familiar with the work of the Common Pleas Court No. 7?

Mr. WOODWARD. I understand the three judges are A-Number-One judges. This is impersonal, of course, and of course the bill does not do much until the three judges die. I will admit that.

Mr. JASPAN. May I further interrogate the gentleman, Mr. President.

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, we will go right on.

Mr. JASPAN. I take it from what the gentleman says, Mr. President, he knows little or nothing about Common Pleas Court number seven, excepting what he was told by strangers or friends, is that correct, to be frank.

Mr. WOODWARD. Well, let it go at that; I do not object to that, no; common gossip and common talk—the fifth wheel of an automobile.

Mr. JASPAN. I desire to further interrogate the gentleman.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Does the doctor realize court number seven tries civil and equity cases as well as criminal cases?

Mr. WOODWARD. Oh yes, Mr. President. I often drop in on the courts.

Mr. JASPAN. Does the gentleman know where Court number seven is located? Where is Court number seven located?

Mr. WOODWARD. We have a large building called the City Hall and the irony of it is that the county has turned out all the city officials excepting the Mayor and it is County Hall, and when we come to the Charter Bill I want to keep peace in the Hall but there are no city officials in the hall, I believe any more, excepting the Mayor.

Mr. JASPAN. Does the Doctor realize Common Pleas Court number seven is located on the sixth floor of the City Hall in Philadelphia?

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, Mr. President, where the sheriff used to be. I do not want to wear the gentleman out.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. As a matter of fact, Mr. President, the gentleman has always been advocating only one Common Pleas Court, is that correct?

Mr. WOODWARD. One what, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. One Common Pleas Court for the entire Commonwealth.

Mr. WOODWARD. Statewide, that is correct.

Mr. STIEFEL. Isn't this bill contradictory to the position the gentleman has always taken in this matter?

Mr. WOODWARD. Well, I feel I am getting into a contradictory position, I will admit that, but if the gentleman will allow me to say so, there are one hundred twenty-nine Common Pleas Judges in Pennsylvania and I have on my desk a letter from the prothonotary of the Supreme Court relative to traveling judges and that shows during 1940, there were 498 applications to the Supreme Court to be allowed to go to the larger cities, where there are good shows and good hotels and such.

Mr. STIEFEL. To be consistent, Mr. President, would the gentleman introduce a ripper for six courts instead of one?

Mr. WOODWARD. This bill is not a ripper, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia is always collecting interesting sayings. I heard him last week quoting "sic transit gloria Mundi."

Mr. WOODWARD. That is right, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. I wonder if the gentleman from Philadelphia recalls what Mr. Kelly said when the Supreme Court declared that the ripping out of the Municipal Court was not constitutional?

Mr. WOODWARD. This is not a ripper, Senator Stiefel. This is not a ripper, please understand that, but if you will allow me to say this also, we have fifty-eight judicial districts—perhaps that is more than Senator Jaspan knows—we have fifty-eight judicial districts in Pennsylvania and every ten years there is a reapportionment of the judicial districts and every time they reapportion they make new districts and we will soon have sixty-seven. From my slight experience it seems that every lawyer some day expects to be a judge.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, what is the gentleman's definition of a ripper?

Mr. WOODWARD. A ripper, Mr. President, is a bill where you throw out the occupant of an office. This does not do that. They continue until the expiration of their terms.

Mr. STIEFEL. In 1937 they used the expression "rip out the Municipal Court."

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, that is correct.

Mr. STIEFEL. And according to the provisions of the act, even if the court had been ripped out the judges would still remain salary recipients.

Mr. WOODWARD. In this case, yes.

Mr. STIEFEL. I just want to call to the gentleman's attention that on the day when the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania declared the ripping out of the Municipal Court unconstitutional Mr. John B. Pelly, the leader of the party in Philadelphia said "they put the zippers on the ripper" and now I believe and I am sure the Senate of Pennsylvania will put the zippers on this ripper too.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not know much about Philadelphia or Common Pleas Court Number Seven, but may I suggest to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, he is making the wrong approach to the subject. I do not think ripping the court out would be the answer or the solution to the problem, because I firmly believe the answer would be to take away the twenty dollars daily expenses to traveling judges. You know, the reason they have so many traveling judges, I have discovered, is because when there is a political personage in a community to be tried for some crime of some sort they bring in a judge from some other county so the local judges do not have to take the rap in that particular county; most of the traveling judges just cover up in some other judge's territory so that he does not have to face the political personages in his own county, and I think the gentleman will get a lot of support and if he so desires I will cooperate in cosponsoring a bill to cut out this traveling judge business.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I wish to make one correction in the statements made. The gentleman from Westmoreland used the term "traveling judges." Back in my county they call them "gypsy judges."

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. I understand, the gentleman from Philadelphia is worried about the fact that there are 129 Common Pleas judges in Pennsylvania; is that correct.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Walker will have two more in Allegheny County.

Mr. MUNDY. May I say to the Senator, if it will help any, I am willing to drop a couple in Luzerne County and will co-sponsor a bill for their removal.

Mr. WOODWARD. I would like to say to the gentleman from Luzerne I hope he and I will bury the hatchet because I got one of his bills out of committee and I promised to keep one of the Mundy bills on the Calendar constantly.

An Act relating to the adoption of the song entitled "Pennsylvania," words and music written by Gertrude Martin Rohrer and providing for its adoption as the State song of Pennsylvania.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have not even seen a copy of the song yet. I mean, seriously, there was a bill passed in the House. I think we are moving too fast on this song business. I would like the sponsor to have this bill held over until we can get some action on the House Bill and if necessary hold a musical feast of some kind, an audition; let us hear all these songs and let the music lovers decide which will be the best song for Pennsylvania.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, this session is certainly one that is full of surprises. I am delighted the gentleman from Westmoreland has such a fine musical ear.

Mr. DENT. I am a great musician, Mr. President. I play the drums.

Mr. WALKER. I so understand.

Mr. President, may I respectfully suggest to the gentleman from Westmoreland the song he suggests is over in the House—I understand now it has passed in the House and is over in the Senate, and being a reciprocal body I would like to pass one and send it over to the House. This Bill 1005 is a song that has been adopted, as I understand it, by the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs, and if the Senator so desires I have copies of the song and will be glad to distribute them. We have victrola records and will be glad to play for him.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I think if the people of Pennsylvania find out the Senate of Pennsylvania is passing a Pennsylvania song that has never been heard we will be the laughing stock of the whole state. We might hear the song sung on the streets tomorrow and not know what it is and yet we have voted to adopt a song for the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. MALLERY. Before getting off of this business of songs, Mr. President, I was requested to introduce a bill that would provide a song for the state and I assumed or gathered the opinion somehow or other, that such matters should originate in the House. In fact, I did not have the temerity to introduce a bill because I thought some one on the right or the left might ask me to sing this song but if my colleague from Allegheny County can get away with the proposition without singing the song I may before the session ends, possibly on the last day, introduce my bill.

The PRESIDENT. Does the Chair understand the gentleman from Blair wants to sing the song?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would just like to say I have a copy of the same letter coming from a resident of my county, who has written another song called "Pennsylvania," and I understand the bill on the Calendar calls the song "Pennsylvania." Is it the same song?

Mr. WALKER. May I suggest to the gentleman from Westmoreland if the words and music of his song were written by Gertrude Martin Rohrer then it is the same song and if it is not then of course we are on another tune entirely.

Mr. DENT. What is the name of that song?

Mr. WALKER. This song is called "Pennsylvania," whereas yours is called "Pennsylvania,"—a very subtle difference. You have to have a very highly trained musical ear to catch the symphony in the song written by Miss Rohrer, which is "Pennsylvania."

Mr. DENT. This is also called "Pennsylvania," words and music by John R. Kiefer. We are getting it all wrong. Somebody is going to have a song and not know the right words.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1029, entitled:

An Act creating a Joint Legislative Committee for the purpose of making a thorough study and investigation of the State Employees Retirement System; providing for its appointment; authorizing the employment of necessary

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,
Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like at this time to ask permission of the Senate to have spread upon the Journal the official proclamation by the President on the national emergency. I have a copy here, taken from a Philadelphia newspaper, which I assume is editorially correct, and I would like to submit it and have it printed in the Journal so that it will be readily available to the members of the Senate, in the trying days to come.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection it is so ordered.

PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION ON UNLIMITED EMERGENCY

Washington, May 28—(AP)—The text of the Presidential proclamation of an unlimited national emergency:
Whereas on September 8, 1939, because of the outbreak of war in Europe a proclamation was issued declaring a limited national emergency and directing measures "for the purpose of strengthening our national defense within the limits of peacetime authorizations," and

Whereas a succession of events makes plain that the objectives of the Axis belligerents in such war are not confined to those avowed at its commencement, but include overthrow throughout the world of existing democratic order, and a world-wide domination of peoples and economies through the destruction of all resistance on land and sea and in the air, and

Whereas indifference on the part of the United States to the increasing menace would be perilous, and common prudence requires that for the security of this Nation and of this hemisphere we should pass from peacetime authorizations of military strength to such a basis as will enable us to cope instantly and decisively with any attempt at hostile encirclement of this hemisphere, or the establishment of any base for aggression against it, as well as to repel the threat of predatory incursion by foreign agents into our territory and society,

Now, therefore, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, do proclaim that an unlimited national emergency confronts this country, which requires that its military, naval, air and civilian defenses be put on the basis of readiness to repel any and all acts or threats of aggression directed toward any part of the Western Hemisphere.

I call upon all the loyal citizens engaged in production for defense to give precedence to the needs of the Nation to the end that a system of government that makes private enterprise possible may survive.

I call upon our loyal workmen as well as employers to merge their lesser differences in the larger effort to insure the survival of the only kind of government which recognizes the rights of labor or of capital.

I call upon loyal State and local leaders and officials to cooperate with the civilian defense agencies of the United States to assure our internal security against foreign-directed subversion and to put every community in order for maximum productive effort and minimum of waste and unnecessary frictions.

I call upon all loyal citizens to place the Nation's needs first in mind and in action to the end that we may mobilize and have ready for instant defensive use all of the physical powers, all of the moral strength and all of the material resources of this Nation.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United State of America to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this twenty-seventh day of May, in the year of Our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-one, and of the independence of (Seal) the United States of America the one hundred and sixty-fifth.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

By the President:
Cordell Hull
Secretary of State

Almighty God, we pause at the beginning of this day's session to call upon Thee to guide us as individuals, to help us as a State, and to preserve us as a Nation. Throughout the ends of the world our President of these United States has made our position as a Nation clear. May we give heed to his words lest we as a Nation go the way of many Democracies in our day. Help us first of all, O God, to keep faith with Thee. Rule our hearts and establish our will to the end that security, order, and peace may prevail. Be Thou our strength and guide in these trying days we pray, in the name of Christ. Amen.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, at this time is it permissible for me to ask for leave of absence from the session of this House to be held on Monday, June 2?

The SPEAKER. It is permissible if the gentleman so desires.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I request a leave of absence from next Monday's session.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, leave of absence is granted. The Chair hears none.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask leave of absence for myself after today's session.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I personally feel that there are entirely too many leaves of absence. I feel that there should be some very good definite explanation why the gentleman seeks to be excused.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I yield to my colleague, the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, may I preface my remarks on behalf of my colleague, from Montgomery, Mr. Wood, with a similar request for myself for a leave of absence. To save the time of the House we thought we would join our requests together.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Montgomery ought to be used to a short "tale."

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, we contemplate being in the position that Major Bowes is on the radio once in a while. We intend to go to an event where they go round and round, and where they come out nobody knows. We ask the indulgence of the majority floor-leader and we ask his concurrence in our absence. I know if he had the opportunity to go with us he would be glad to enjoy this event on Decoration Day.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman withdraw his objection?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, since they promise to go round and round, I will withdraw.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, if they don't land in our laps, when they go round and round, we will be with you on Monday.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I would like to advise the two members who have asked for a leave of absence to go to a merry-go-round. If they stay here they are on a merry-go-round all the time.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask leave of absence for myself for the balance of the week's sessions.

The SPEAKER. I think the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner has the gentleman from Blair "one down" now.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I was so busy going round and round during this session, maybe I am a bit confused. I ask leave of absence for the balance of the week after today's session on account of business.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman have any business left?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I want to go home and find out.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET
DURING SESSION

Mr. BAKER asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Insurance to meet during the session of the House.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1485, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section four of article two of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, prescribing procedure to be followed at regular sessions of the General Assembly and the publication of legislative histories thereat.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, it was the understanding when this bill came out of Committee, it would be sent back to the committee on Constitutional Amendments after two readings. I am here to say at this time I intend reluctantly to comply with this agreement. I have observed the procedure in this House for a number of years and for a number of sessions and I have felt there are certain defects that might be cured in our legislative procedure, and I, together with my good colleague, the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Gates, conceived an idea which we have embodied in House Bill 1485. I think this bill has great merit. I believe it will be productive of very much good in the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Since this bill happens to appear on the floor of the House at a time when our desks are cluttered with so many bills, I am quite sure that many of the Members of the House had no time to give this bill any thought much less to read this particular bill, and because of that fact I ask the indulgence of this body for just a few minutes in order that I may call to their attention just what this bill is.

House Bill 1485 is a bill providing for an amendment to the Constitution. It would continue the legislative procedure as theretofore, meeting on the first Tuesday of January, and after meeting and organizing work, would as usual recess for a week, giving time to appoint committees and giving time for the officers who are elected to outline a program.

After the first week's recess, the Members of the House will again assemble here and then would devote the five weeks following the first week of recess to the matter of introducing bills. Bills would be introduced. This Constitutional amendment would require that every week there would be printed a joint House and Senate history, giving the titles of these bills as we have done heretofore, and in addition to that it would require that there be printed after the title just what change this particular bill as introduced, would make in the laws of our Commonwealth or what provisions it would make if it were a new act.

After this period of five weeks this new procedure would require that we adjourn for a month, four legislative weeks, and go back to our homes if necessary, and this Joint House and Senate history would be distributed. Let me call your attention to the fact that the Constitutional Amendment requires that the Senate and House joint history will be printed each week and it will be made available for distribution over the state. The description of these bills which have been introduced would give to the people of our state some knowledge of the bills introduced and give them an opportunity to study them so that they could in turn contact their representatives and urge the passage of certain bills that may seem good, and also on the other hand urge the defeat of other bills which they might deem not for the best interests of this state.

During the five week period in which bills were being introduced this House would not be barred from certain action. These bills could be considered in Committee but not reported out; public hearings, if necessary, could be held on these different bills which have been introduced, and party caucuses could be held to determine the stand the parties might want to take on certain bills. There is nothing partisan about it. After five weeks we could come back here with a knowledge of these bills, and then print an accumulated history jointly with the Senate, and there would appear in that history nothing but the bills that have been released from committee.

I contend that the Chairmen of the Committees having these bills before them, and having an opportunity to study them, would be able to know in a very short time what bills have merit, what bills they would like to report to the House and what bills they would like to have buried. I believe this would result in better legislation. I understand there are other Members of this House who would like to talk on this bill and I do not want to monopolize the privilege that was so kindly extended to me, so I will now comply with the request of this Committee on Constitutional Amendments.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be re-committed to the Committee on Constitutional Amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I intended to oppose the motion to recommit this bill, but since one of the co-sponsors of the bill, Mr. Nagel, has indicated he is under agreement to recommit it, I do not intend to press that point. I do want to say I hope that the recommission of this bill will not mean its burial. I believe the Committee on Constitutional Amendments could do no greater piece of work in this session than to do the few things they want to do with this bill and then bring it before the House for action.

Mr. Speaker, it will take the vote of this General Assembly and the vote of the next General Assembly to put this resolution into effect. I am going to very seriously recommend that every Member of this House get a copy of House Bill 1485 and read it thoughtfully and carefully. It is a piece of legislation that seems, I think, in the minds of men who have had more than one session's experience here, to be sorely needed.

There is one phase of the situation concerning which I think I am particularly qualified to speak. At the last session of the legislature it was my privilege to serve as vice chairman of the Printing Committee. I had occasion at that time to note what a great waste took place in printing bills for the information of members. I noted also at the same time how very little information the members succeeded in getting out of perhaps seventy-five percent of all the bills.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, may I temporarily withdraw my motion to recommit this bill so as to give the gentleman an opportunity to speak on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman may withdraw the motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, if this resolution in this session or in the next session were put in line for a constitutional amendment, it is my opinion that not only would the General Assembly be furnished with information concerning bills that are going to be brought before them for action, but information that would really be information and not simply perfunctory styling of words.

It is also my settled conviction if this legislation should become law that the state of Pennsylvania would save not less than one hundred and fifty thousand dollars in printing alone in any normal session. Since the sponsor of this bill has withdrawn his motion or his acquiescence in recommitting it, I am going to ask the Members, in order that this matter may be brought seriously before the attention of each and every one of us, that this bill be not recommitted.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I realized when this resolution providing for a constitutional amendment was submitted to the Members of this House that it was not a perfect piece of legislation, but we were hoping the men who had served in this House would study it, sit down together and in some manner try to make a perfect bill that would expedite the work of the General Assembly.

Every member of this House knows it is humanly impossible for us to read and to understand from two or three thousand bills that are presented in this House. We know when we meet in the various committees, and since I have been a member of the legislature, I have deemed it one of my obligations to attend committee meetings, that much discussion takes place pro and con, whereas if this particular piece of legislation is enacted into law, each Member of that committee would be thoroughly conversant with everything that a new bill tries to do.

I believe at this time I would like to read a statement which I cut out of a Philadelphia paper this morning, which is headed "Legislative Doggling," by the Committee of Seventy of Philadelphia. The article reads as follows:

"Four and one half months of wrangling by the Pennsylvania Legislature already has cost the State's taxpayers more than one million dollars in expenses, the Philadelphia Committee of Seventy charged today, demanding the end of the legislation session. The committee yesterday said that on the twenty-one hundred bills introduced as of May 10 only 28 were passed and sent to the Governor."

Mr. Speaker, I believe under this particular resolution no complaints would be forthcoming from citizens of the state of Pennsylvania. It will not only expedite the work of this Assembly, but it will also economize in the amount of money that is paid by the taxpayers of our State, and undoubtedly with every Member of this House being familiar with every bill, it certainly would give to the state of Pennsylvania better legislation.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, for that reason I would ask that the membership of this House pass this bill, send it over to the Senate, and then if anyone has any amendments we certainly would be glad to listen to them.

However, Mr. Speaker, I do feel morally responsible to agree with my co-sponsor, Mr. Nagel, that it was a distinct understanding with the Committee on Constitutional Amendments, if they would report the bill out for two readings that we would recommit the bill, and to keep our word with that Committee I simply cannot ask that anything be done but that this bill be recommitted, with the sincere hope that the committee again will re-report the bill for the consideration of the House.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I want the Committee on Constitutional Amendments to know I always endeavor to keep my word. As I said, I am making this motion reluctantly because I feel that this bill has some merit. I hope if and when this bill is sent back to Committee it will not go back there and be buried. I know this Committee has sufficient intelligence to give it further study. I think the matter has been brought to their attention sufficiently and I am satisfied they will give the matter study.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Constitutional Amendments.

The motion was agreed to.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, lines 1 and 2, by striking out the following: "eleven million dollars ($11,000,000)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "six million two hundred fifty three thousand six hundred dollars ($6,253,600)".

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, lines 5 to 9, by striking out the following: "and for the payment of assistance admin—" in line 5, and all of lines 6 to 9, both inclusive.

Amend bill, page 2, by inserting after line 20, the following: "Section 3. Out of the moneys appropriated by section one of this act, the Governor, the Auditor General, and the State Treasurer, or the majority thereof, shall, from time to time, allocate to the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department, respectively, such sums as may be deemed necessary to pay the administrative expenses of the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department in auditing and disbursing appropriations for, or relating to, public assistance, including any Federal funds supplementing such appropriations."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, this is a stop gap bill. We are appropriating for general assistance beginning with the new biennium on June 1st of this year. The Senate passed the bill providing for the appropriation of eleven million dollars. It is understood, of course, whatever appropriation will be made, will be made with the idea of its lasting as long as the money lasts, and thereafter the appropriation bill for the entire biennium which was passed by the House yesterday would take up the appropriations and continue on.

Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that the amount set forth by the Senate of eleven million dollars was not unreasonable or unjust, and there is no reason to make any change by this amendment. The gentleman on the other side has seen fit to reduce the amount to $6,253,600, which of course is a very odd figure, but represents the amount estimated to be sufficient to see relief through during the month of June.

Mr. Speaker, I think the amendment is unwise because it is going to force the Governor to give complete attention to the entire budget program within a very short time after the session adjourns. He should not be forced to do it. As a matter of fact, it is well known by everybody who knows anything about the budget and the signing by the Governor of the appropriation bills, that the relief appropriation bill has been used, not only during this administration, but in the last administration as the item which to a large degree balances the budget one way or the other. As a result of that the relief appropriation bill really should not be signed until after the general appropriation bill is either signed or the amount of the bill has been decided upon. The general appropriation bill cannot be definitely decided upon until all the other bills, or many of the other bills, which are on the Governor's desk have been signed or vetoed, because the amount which is inserted in the general appropriation bill will vary up and down in many instances, depending upon the signing or the vetoing of the other bills. If the session continues into the middle of June, which it certainly must, the Governor has thirty days after that time, or until the middle of July to act upon the legislation. We all know from experience of the past that it is not too much time. He should not be forced to pass upon this merely because you are trying to force him. It seems to me there is no possible reason for putting in this amendment except to force the Governor to do that which he should not be forced to do. There can be no legitimate reason for that situation at all, and if the session should continue until the end of June, we might find ourselves in a very embarrassing situation. For example, you might very eagerly be about to adjourn, say, on the twenty-sixth day of June, or in that neighborhood, then something would happen to delay the session for a week or ten days more. Each day you would think that at least in three or four days away, you are going to be able to adjourn, and then you would have to pass another stop-gap appropriation. Then you would come up to the end of June and be ready to adjourn, and have no appropriation bill except the general appropriation bill available. If you should happen to go over in to the month of July, it would be necessary to pass another stop-gap appropriation. In that instance, it might very likely be necessary to keep the Legislature in session a couple days more in order to meet that situation.

If there be any reason or logic in cutting down the amount of the appropriation at the present time, I would say go ahead and do it, but as I see it, there cannot be a single reason advanced for the reducing of this amount at this time, because what is the difference if we make it ten million dollars or twenty million dollars or thirty million dollars? It wouldn't make any difference because we are going to supplement it with another appropriation bill. We well know that six million dollars is not going to last the biennium. We well know eleven million dollars is not going to last the biennium. Therefore, it seems to me the only reason for putting this amendment in is to try to annoy and harass the Governor and the Department of Public Assistance, making it more difficult to obtain money from the Federal Government. Not that they finally will not do it, but it is a complicated procedure in obtaining the money and it complicates the procedure of the Governor in passing upon the legislation which he has before him, forcing the matter without any reason or logic, whatsoever. It seems to me it is unfair to offer this amendment and it should be voted down.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I was rather interested in the remarks of the gentleman with reference to the reduction in the bill from eleven million dollars to six million dollars, to the effect what difference would it make whether the amount be twenty million or thirty million dollars or any other figure. Possibly it should be the one hundred and thirty million dollars he complained so seriously about in the bill yesterday which we passed and sent to the Senate. Then, of course, it was wrong; today it could be more.

Mr. Speaker, may I give the gentleman a reason why I feel action should be taken to reduce the amount. The Senate has had the same opportunity to study the subject as has this House. Apparently they have proceeded in a rather lackadaisical manner in their studies. Now apparently they are asking for about two months more study. We are serving a notice on the Senate that we are expecting action by that body in this coming month. We are keeping figures down to that particular figure.

As to the Governor being inconvenienced, I am assuming that he and his department are following legislation in this House and I also assume they are following the action in the Senate. I assume they know just as we know, the present conditions and what may be anticipated. I assume that the Governor has had full notice and full information as to the legislation that has been passed in both Houses, so that the Governor will be able to act immediately if necessary. It would not be the first time a Governor has been asked to devote his time to a particular subject. Therefore, I say to the gentleman from Dauphin the reason he gave why it should be left at eleven million dollars is in order to give the Senate two months more time to waste, when their study should be completed now, and they should be prepared to act.

Mr. Speaker, I might say this is perhaps the only method we can use to force the Senate to give consideration to this vital problem.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, what I have been saying on the Floor of this House time and time again is now being demonstrated. The gentleman from Monroe has no concern for the people on relief, except for one purpose and that is to use it politically. And what do they do? They reduce the amount to the people on relief. For what purpose? For the single purpose of trying to force the Senate to act upon their budget program within three or four or five days, or at the most one or two weeks after it has been submitted to them by the Members on the other side. They are not interested in the people on relief. Why do they put this amendment in? They put it in for one reason and one reason only, and that was for the sake of playing politics and attempting to work a squeeze play on the Senate. That is the answer from the other side as given to me as to why this amendment was put in this bill and for only that reason. They are not interested in the welfare of the State, nor are they interested in the welfare of the people on relief, nor are they interested in orderly government, nor are they interested in what is right. They are interested in only one thing, they are interested in playing politics and trying to force the Republican Senate to take action on this bill before they have time to consider it.

Mr. Speaker, they speak about the length of time they have had to consider this matter. Certainly they had a length of time to consider the whole matter. The Governor in his budget message said this, and I quoted it exactly on the floor of this House. The Governor said he welcomed any suggestions, that this was not a "must" program and if we have any suggestions, come in and make them. Have they come in from February 2 until yesterday and made any suggestions? There was not one word suggested until yesterday or the day before. Nobody came to the Governor's office with any suggestions. Only yesterday or the day before, they come in here with an alternative plan. They say, "here it is, you must swallow our alternative plan; you must take it right away or else." Or else what? Or else we are going to force you to do it by cutting down the appropriation for relief. The gentleman is not fair in stating the Senate had two months to consider this. That is not true and the gentleman well knows it. He knows the law provides that the Governor has thirty days after the Legislature adjourns in order to pass on bills. He knows that there is always on the desk of the Governor after the Legislature adjourns a vast amount of legislation which it is impossible for him to consider in a few minutes, or in a few hours, or a few days time. He knows, or ought to know, that the general appropriation bill or the items in it depends in many instances upon other bills which are passed by this Legislature which are on the Governor's desk for signature, and that the general appropriation bill should not under normal procedure be signed by the Governor until these other matters have received consideration. Yet, despite that knowledge which the gentleman has, or should have, he comes before this House and suggests we are asking too much time for the Senate to consider that legislation. We are not asking for any time, nobody is asking for any time for the Senate to consider this legislation.

I assure you, Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, that the Senate is going to give much more time and consideration to this program than was given by this House of Representatives, particularly by the Committee on Appropriations and the Committee on Ways and Means.

The gentleman has since stated that the only purpose of these amendments is to work a squeeze play upon the Senate. Mr. Speaker, if that is the only purpose for the amendment, I think my request to vote down the amendment has certainly been borne out.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Dauphin would have you infer what we are proposing is to reduce the amount of relief in Pennsylvania. That, however, Mr. Speaker, is not the true situation. We are not endeavoring to take away one cent from those who are on relief. We have complained, not once but many times, on the floor of this House that relief as it is administered in Pennsylvania today is keeping the individuals that are unfortunate enough to be on the relief rolls in virtual starvation. Sufficient sums are not allotted to properly take care of the families now on relief. Our party has always been prepared and is now prepared to adequately take care of those individuals. We suggest as a matter of fact that the Department of Public Assistance make an effort to furnish at least a sufficient allowance for shelter for these families on relief. The power to do it is within that department. I am saying, Mr. Speaker—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. The Speaker. The gentleman from Delaware will state his point of order.

Mr. TURNER. The gentleman is not speaking on the amendment.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has given both speakers wide latitude. The question before the House is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the question raised by the gentleman from Dauphin was whether or not we were playing politics with relief, whether we were endeavoring to cut off relief or to reduce relief. I am stating to the Members on the other side we are not, we are willing to meet with them and go further on the subject. I am answering directly the question raised by the gentleman from Dauphin.

May I add also in relation to the question of study. I am at a loss to understand, Mr. Speaker why the Senate should need two more months to study. Who is playing politics with relief? Why, the Senate. The Senate is desirous of having an extension of two months for the playing of politics. The Members of the House on this side are saying to the Senate, "You have a relief bill that you can pass, which will take care of the problem for the coming biennium. We will give you this stop gap of a month, but we are expecting now that you do give it attention."

The subject is not new. They heard the Governor's message the same as we did, they received the same recommendations, they know the problem, and the problem, as we have changed it, is on the same subject matter. All they need do, and all that we have heretofore done, is verify the figures and verify the accuracy of the Governor's statement.

May I add in closing relative to the statement that we should go to the Governor instead of this House with our program, that the gentleman from Dauphin, the same as I, heard the Governor on more than one occasion say, "The problem of legislation, the problem of solving those things that face the Commonwealth are not his but are exclusively those of the Legislature." I am surprised and shocked, Mr. Speaker, that the minority leader should now say instead of laying our program before this House we should have taken it to the office of the Governor. I am saying, Mr. Speaker, we have laid our program, according to the Governor's own words, before the proper body.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, in the first place let me correct the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman. The gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside did not say the Democratic Party was cutting relief nor playing politics with the relief bill. What he said was this, that they are using relief and the relief appropriation to play politics.

In the second place the gentleman from Dauphin did not say that we should go to the Governor and that the Governor should work out our program. The gentleman from Monroe said the Governor ought to know all about it and be able to act on it promptly, and therefore there was no reason why he could not dispatch the fiscal program immediately. What the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, said was if the gentleman from Monroe wanted to have his program considered very promptly by the Governor and wanted to work things out with the Governor, he should have gone in the days that have passed and mapped out and discussed it in order that the Governor might have a chance to know the things which the gentleman from Monroe has just revealed to the House in the last few days.

Now, Mr. Speaker, if this House follow the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, you cannot create anything but chaos and confusion. The gentleman from Monroe knows it has been the custom ever since I have been in the House that the general appropriation bill and most of the appropriation bills, the ones for hospitals and homes and other bills of that character reach the Legislature finally in the very closing days or moments of the session of the Legislature. There is a very sound reason why that is so, as the gentleman from Dauphin pointed out. Because there are many bills which the Members of the Legislature have, which if they finally are passed by the Legislature and are signed by the Governor, may impose further requirements for expenditures upon the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Therefore, if you cannot determine what your appropriations are going to be until the last moment, you cannot determine exactly what your taxes are going to be and what taxes will be required until the closing moments. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, if you follow the gentleman from Monroe in his insistence that there must be immediate action by the Senate upon the program which he has just given to them, even if he were correct in his statement that the Senate had ample time to study that program, nevertheless, the practical result of that would be that the Senate and the House would then move to adjourn within the next few days. What would that mean? What would be the result? There are about 300 bills in the Senate that have been passed by this House which are the acts that you are interested in. They are bills which have already passed through the House and which have been sent to the Senate for action. There are about 200 more bills in this House which have come from the Senate, which the Senators want to have acted upon, and which we must have time to act upon in the committees of this House before we can determine upon the adjournment. How could you then possibly follow the line which the gentleman from Monroe has placed before us? How can you follow that course of procedure? We might as well say, "We will appoint a committee on conference between the two Houses now on that program and we might as well quit." If you quit, than all of these bills are going to be lost and all of the bills of the Senate are going to be lost. If we follow the usual course in the next couple weeks, and you want to pass those bills that you feel you should pass, which have come from the Senate, and if you want the Senate to pass those bills which have come from the House, if you follow that course, there will be undoubtedly placed upon the Governor's desk at last a couple hundred bills. Then you would ask the Governor within the short space of time that is allowed, within a couple of weeks, to pass upon a couple hundred bills. You know the course they take, they have got to go to the Attorney General's office. The Attorney General must scan them. You know many times there are errors in the bills when they get there. The Attorney General must write a message to the Governor. They must go to the Governor's desk for consideration, and not until those bills have been cleared from his desk has he an opportunity to determine whether there is any effect in any of those bills upon fiscal program.

Not until the Governor has determined how much money is required by the other appropriation acts can he start work on the general appropriation bill and the other appropriation bills which are sent to his desk. The suggestion of the gentleman from Monroe is preposterous: it is absolutely absurd. It is just another indication of the kind of chaos and confusion which is now the program of the Democratic leadership in this House. I think in the next few days the people of the Commonwealth are going to awaken to the situation. I think you men on the other side are going to awaken to the situation with which you are faced and you are going to repudiate that kind of a program.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Blair will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I had a desire to put in a motion after the finish of the first reading calendar, but due to the fact that I was absent at a committee meeting I was not able to get it in, and I now ask whether it would be permissible at this time to make a motion.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair will receive the motion of the gentleman under the circumstances as explained. The Chair hears no objection, The gentleman sent his motion to the desk?

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL NO. 284

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 1578 (Senate Bill No. 284), Printer's No. 146, entitled:

An Act to amend section 901 of, and to add sections 901.1, 901.2, 901.3, 901.4, 901.5, 901.6, 901.7 and 901.8 to, the act, approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 932), entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class; and amending, revising, and consolidating the law relating thereto," by regulating the dismissal of employes and subordinate officers of the city.

was recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special on Monday, May 26 be reconsidered.

Mr. GROSS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, vote on the motion to recommit?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Gross, vote on the motion to recommit?

Mr. GROSS. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, the bill had been originally passed over on first reading, and while my attention was diverted for a few minutes, the motion was made and passed very quickly.

This bill came out of the Committee on Third-class Cities. It is essentially a third-class cities bill, and while we are not permitted to state what takes place in committees, I feel sure if the membership of the House knew of the action that was taken, or the nature of the action that was taken, by the Committee on Third Class Cities they would feel the House should back up the Third Class Cities Committee and give all the Members of the House a chance to vote "aye" or "no" on this particular measure when it comes up for final passage. It is our desire to have the bill remain on the calendar and either be voted through or voted down upon the floor of the House.

Therefore Mr. Speaker, I ask all of my colleagues and the Members of this House to vote "aye" on this motion.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I oppose this particular motion. I know of nothing to make me feel that the House did not recommit the bill after due and mature consideration. The effect of the motion, if it were to be sustained, would be tantamount to that of discharging the Committee which now has received the bill for its consideration. Under those conditions I ask the Members of the House to oppose the motion.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I feel that the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, is somewhat in error. The membership of this House did not have a chance to give mature deliberation to the motion by which this particular bill was taken out of the hands of the Committee on Third Class Cities and put in the hands of the Committee on Judiciary Special, which by no stretch of the imagination would have any jurisdiction over the matters contained in this bill. It was a motion made simply to pickle the bill. I did not want to ask for a roll call on this matter but if there is going to be opposition I am going to ask for a roll call, and Mr. Speaker, I so ask for a roll call on this motion.

On the question,

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1545, as follows:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 901) entitled "An act for the protection of producers of farm produce providing for the licensing bonding or holding collateral of and the regulation of certain dealers in farm produce as herein defined within this Commonwealth conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Agriculture providing for appeals and injunctions and prescribing penalties" by redefining the term dealer.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 901) entitled "An act for the protection of producers of farm produce providing for the licensing the bonding or holding collateral of and the regulation of certain dealers in farm produce as herein defined within this Commonwealth conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Agriculture providing for appeals and injunctions and prescribing penalties" is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted et cetera That the following words or phrases unless the context clearly indicates otherwise shall have the meanings ascribed to them in this section.

(a) "Dealer in farm produce" means any person association copartnership or corporation engaged in the business of buying receiving selling exchanging negotiating or soliciting the sale resale exchange or transfer of any farm produce and includes every person association copartnership or corporation receiving or purchasing farm produce on consignment or on a net return basis but shall not include persons associations copartnerships or corporations owning or operating retail grocery stores or those owning or operating retail grocery stores and maintaining warehouses or farm product assembly stations in conjunction therewith in this Commonwealth.

(b) "Department" means the Department of Agricultural vegetable fruit and floriculture products of all soil poultry eggs nuts flowers and honey but shall not include timber products tea coffee or livestock.

(c) "Farm produce" includes all agricultural horticulture of this Commonwealth.

(d) "Net return basis" means a purchase for sale of farm produce from a producer or shipper at an unfixed or unstated price at the time the produce is shipped from the point of origin and it shall include all purchases made "at the market price" "at net worth" and on similar terms which indicate that the buyer is the final arbiter of the price to be paid.

(e) "On consignment" means any receiving or sale of farm produce for the account of a person other than the seller wherein the seller acts as the agent for the owner.

(f) "Producer" means any producer of farm produce in this Commonwealth.

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ELY. Mr. Speaker, the act which this bill before us seeks to amend was passed in 1937 for the purpose of protecting farmers from unscrupulous commission merchants who come through the country buying up produce and then when the farmers seek their money for this produce the commission merchants cannot be found, and no residence or place of business of such commission merchants can be found.

In the operation of this act it was discovered that it also covered grocery stores. The amendments which are before us seek to remove the grocery stores from the definition "dealer" in the act, which is all right, but in so doing it opens the most beautiful loop hole that could possibly be conceived for an unscrupulous dealer. The amendment provides that "anyone owning or operating a grocery store shall not be covered by the act."

If the unscrupulous dealer desires to be relieved from his responsibility of providing a bond and having a license, all he has to do is to rent or buy a grocery store and hire someone to operate it for him and he will be scot free under the act and can continue his illegitimate dealings as he pleases, while the honest dealer would still be required to furnish his bond and secure his license. There is a very satisfactory way of removing the grocery store from the provisions of this act but the amendment does not do it. It is very dangerous and should not be adopted in its present form.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. STANK. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on State Government for further study and possible amendment, and I ask for a roll call.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this motion. This bill has been carefully considered over a long period of time. There was a very large hearing held in the auditorium in the Educational building at which both sides had a chance to appear and express their opinions. Following that there were a number of caucuses held by the parties concerning this bill.

The bill is a very simple bill. The provisions in it are very just. The amendments to the act are not very great. It does not seem to me when the bill has been on the calendar for quite some time, that the bill should be recommitted. I can conceive of no other purpose in recommending the bill than to kill it by having it held in committee. If that be done a great injustice will be done to the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, I would not generally ask the indulgence of the House. If I cannot be interesting enough for you men to listen to me I think it is my fault and not the fault of the Members of the House. On the other hand, the measure before us is of tremendous importance. The bill, as I have said, has been on the calendar for some time and has been given careful consideration. Amendments have been made meeting the objections of many people and many conferences have been held. The Speaker and myself have sponsored this bill. It is rather unusual for the Speaker to sponsor a bill, but we sponsored this bill because we felt it was of tremendous importance to protect the people of Pennsylvania. If the bill is returned to Committee and pickled an injustice will not only be done, but it seems to me that we are saying to the people in this industry that they can cheat the people of Pennsylvania and that the Legislature of Pennsylvania will do nothing about it. I cannot therefore believe that the Members of the House will recommit this bill and I ask you to vote down the motion.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the motion?

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I hesitate to rise on this measure and I am not going to speak on the merits or demerits of the bill. I only want in passing to remind the Members of a certain editorial that appeared in a Philadelphia newspaper, specifically, the Evening Public Ledger, two days ago. I, as a Member of the House, one Member who is going to vote for this particular bill, wish to protest the actions of a newspaper that advocates the freedom of the press. I do not think it is fitting and I do not think it is proper for a newspaper of this Commonwealth to publish the trash and the unwarranted attacks upon the Legislature that the Evening Public Ledger in Philadelphia published in its editorial a few days ago. I refer specifically to an editorial which was headed, "Honesty or Dishonesty."

This bill has been on the Calendar for many days and I understand this bill has been studied by many of the men in this Chamber and I feel, in fact I know, and I think the sponsors of this measure know, that if there is any opposition to this bill, it comes from men who conscientiously believe the bill does not have any merit.

Mr. Speaker, I am going to vote for House Bill 849, because I feel it is a meritorious measure, but I also believe, especially in this day and age when the very fundamentals of our democracy are being threatened, that at least newspapers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should attempt to keep the bulwark of democracy safe and not publish editorials which threatens democracy within our own gates of Pennsylvania. I say to the Evening Public Ledger without fear of contradiction, that their editorial a few days ago, when they remarked that this bill is not going to be measured by Democrats or Republicans, with which I agree, but they say that we should draw two columns, one marked "Honest Members" and the other marked "Dishonest Members," and those voting against this bill will be stamped as dishonest Members. I say they are open to condemnation and I say to you, Mr. Speaker, today that I am voting for this bill but I want the newspapers to understand that I am not voting for it because the Evening Public Ledger has threatened to call me dishonest. I am voting for it, because I believe it is a meritorious bill, but I warn the Press of the Commonwealth, if editorials such as these are repeated to the people of Pennsylvania, misleading, vicious and unwarranted attacks on the Members of the Assembly who conscientiously have studied this bill, I say they are performing something which they will regret at a later date.

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, I hesitated to speak on this bill but I want the people in Pennsylvania to know the men who vote "aye" on this bill are voting that way because they feel it is just and good, but the men who do not vote "aye" are neither dishonest nor treacherous to the people they represent; they are voting so because they conscientiously believe the bill is not as meritorious as they would like to have it.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I very rarely during the time I have been in the House have had much quarrel with any Member as to why he votes for or against any legislation. I realize full well each of us has many problems to meet and each of us must meet those problems as we see them from our own district. I am always very sorry and have deep regret for those Members who are subject to the pressure of minority groups. I am always sorry for the Members who are subjected to pressure from any group, which in any way deters or changes or alters the course which he might follow in this House. It seems to me that the Member of the Legislature who is most happy in his job and the Member of the Legislature who gets the most out of his experience in the House is the one who charts his course. First, a study of the legislation, secondly, the information that he has, and thirdly, what he thinks his particular district wants, and then perhaps if there are no other issues in the matter, he may think of some group in his own community who desire some particular piece of legislation. The bill before us today seems to me to rise beyond the question of partisanship, as is evidenced by the sponsorship of this bill; it rises beyond the question as to whether some particular group in our district brings pressure to bear upon us and urges us or argue with us to change our opinions on the bill.

I am certain every Member in this House in the first place is in favor of honest dealing; I am certain in the second place every Member in this House wants to protect those people in his district who may in any way be affected by crooked, or other abuses which disadvantageously affect the people, and in many instances affect their pocketbooks when in many cases they can not stand such a charge upon their pocketbook as is made.

I agreed to sponsor this bill because I think the lowest form of thievery there is in the world is the merchant that cheats his customer. The merchant who buys false scales, or the merchant who buys false containers, the merchant who puts out some kind of product and puts something in it or leaves something out of it that should be there and which the public expects to find there when they buy that product.

Mr. Speaker, it seems to me as I studied this question in the last six months, the question involved is not only the question of weights and measures, but also the question of the commodities that are sold to the public, which are a direct fraud on the public, in that the merchants do not have the kind of substance or the sort of substance the merchant is saying to the public is contained in that package.

Just to disgress for a moment, may I say that I was in the Department of Agriculture and I saw there a sort of transparent paper-like cellophane, the contents of which were colored yellow, and which supposed to be cheese popcorn. There wasn't any cheese in it. There was some kind of a chemical sprayed over the popcorn in order to give it a similar sort of taste. I am convinced that the shelves of our merchants are filled with many false products of that kind. I am convinced that the people are being gyped in many instances by false scales, false containers and by false weights and measures.

This bill is a very simple bill as it has been amended. In the original form it had several features with which it did not seem to me the merchant who sold coal could possibly get by. There were some features in it, and I was amazed to find that some of the coal dealers who talked to me about it, thought it was a proper measure, but as the bill now stands, it seems to me it makes very little change and it simply says that you must have a licensed weighmaster weigh the coal. It says you must have a form approved by the Department, which form must be numbered.

On that subject, Mr. Speaker, let me pause for a second. I have in my possession a little book used by some of the coal dealers which can be purchased I am told for ten or fifteen cents. Every page of this, although they are blank pages and have not been used as yet,—I am wrong, not every page, but a large majority of the pages, at the beginning have on them a form of seal which has already been stamped in this book. How can you expect the person who is going to receive coal can be sure the amount he receives is the amount that the seller is saying is contained in the truck if you are going to have loose booklets like this which can be purchased any place, and upon which a seal so faintly imprinted that you can only recognize the word "seal," on it.

This act provides these slips shall be numbered; they shall be put out by the Department on forms which have been approved by the Department. Then it goes on to say what these slips shall have upon them.

In addition to that it provides for the licensing of the weighmaster, and how they shall be licensed. It likewise provides for the penalties that shall be imposed if the person does not carry out the provisions of the act. Those are the three principal things.

The gentleman from Philadelphia yesterday asked me to make some amendments to which I agreed. Those are the only changes in the bill from the present law in Pennsylvania. It is simply an act for the protection of the people. I might say that a great part of this protection is for the people who are not able to stand any cheating on their coal slip. They are the people who, to escape the prices which they must pay to the ordinary dealer in their district, are buying coal from the truck because they are told they can buy it for a dollar or two dollars a ton cheaper. They are the people that cannot stand to be soaked by a shortage of two or three or five hundred pounds on a truck. I cannot see how any dealer, I cannot see how anyone in the coal business, can object to this bill.

If I go to a gasoline station I do not expect the gasoline dealer to just pump out gasoline. I expect it to be measured by a measuring device. If I go to a butcher shop to get a ten pound roast, I want to be able to look at the scales and see what the scales show and be sure I am getting a ten pound roast. But if I go to buy coal, I know it has not been weighed, it is a guess at some mine or some breaker or some coal pile. It is a guess there is a ton on there and that is going to be broken into several parts, it is going to be taken out over the state and hawked around the state and sold to people who are told they are buying it cheaper and then they find it is hundreds of pounds short in weight.

I say to the Members of the House that I did not think it was necessary to speak upon this bill today. I thought it was so obvious that it was unnecessary to speak upon it. In the interest of fair and square dealing, in interest of the people of the Commonwealth, to see that they get correct weight when coal is delivered to them, I felt it would not be necessary to say anything. Therefore I did not expect to make any remarks, but I did not want the very expressive remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, on an editorial to which he took exception to pass without comment.

Mr Speaker, I want the Members to know these are very slight amendments to which the Members of the House certainly can agree, and to which no dealer who is willing to give to the public honest weight can take exception.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, in line with Mr. Levy's remarks I would like to take exception to the article which was printed in today's paper by Huston McCollough. Mr. McCollough says that, "Cullen ran out on the Speaker, his leader". For the benefit of Mr. McCollough, my leader happens to be over 200,000 people in the twenty-second legislative district in Philadelphia and for his information I wish to state I ran out on nobody.

The Speaker knew my stand all through on this entire question. So, therefore, I would like Mr. McCollough to get his story straight. In fact, the gentleman came to me yesterday and I told the gentleman to go where it was good and warm. Maybe that is why he printed that. That goes double for Mr. McCollough since that is his article. If that is not it, I want the Philadelphia Public Ledger and Mr. McCollough to know I am not particularly interested in what they think; I am representing a district. My district is against this bill. That is all in regard to that.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill, the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, on page 6, line 16, it is provided, "when solid fuel is sold in lots not exceeding one hundred pounds" does that section put out of business the coal dealer who goes out and picks up a load of coal and sells it by the bucket to these poor unfortunate people who can only afford to buy that much at a time?

Mr. TURNER. I don't think so because there is very little amendment to the present law in that section.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I am voting on this bill, I am not voting on any other bill.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, this bill is an amendment to the present law.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, if the other law is wrong, why should I vote for this one?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I cannot tell the gentleman any other reason.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, what I ask of the gentleman from Delaware is this, does it put this fellow out of business?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman asked permission to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, and the gentleman from Delaware should be permitted to answer the questions.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman referred to another law. I am not interested in another law.

The SPEAKER. Then the gentleman should have waited until the gentleman finished his answer no matter what his answer is. Does the gentleman desire to interrogate the gentleman further?

Mr. CULLEN. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will give me the courtesy to answer his questions, I will permit myself to be interrogated. If he does not do that, I do not intend to be interrogated.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, my question refers to House Bill 849, page 6, line 16. Does that particular section prevent the small dealers who in a coal wagon sell coal by the bucket, — does that prevent him from selling coal?

Mr. TURNER. I would say no, Mr. Speaker. That question was raised with me about the words "not exceeding one hundred pounds." If I may point out to the gentleman, the act which has been the Weights and Measures Act pertaining to coal is the act which we are amending. Section 5 says this, and this is the amendment: "When solid fuel is sold in lots of less than" which is what the Baldi Act says, "of less than." The amendment says "not exceeding one hundred pounds." The provisions of this section do not apply if the solid fuel is delivered in closed containers or closed bags. The only change that appears in the bill is the change in the words "of less than" to the words "not exceeding".

The other change is in line twenty. The old act said "expressed in pounds" the amendments say "expressed in avoirdupois pounds". I do not think there is any change as far as the small dealer is concerned. That question was raised with me and I went and looked up the bill. I cannot see that that makes any change as far as the small dealer is concerned. Looking it as a matter of construction I like the words "not exceeding" better than "of less than". I cannot see much difference between "of less than" and "not exceeding". If it is of "less than" one hundred pounds, it is less than one hundred pounds. If it is "not exceeding" one hundred pounds, then it does not exceed the amount of one hundred pounds.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, where it says "if the solid fuel is delivered in closed containers or closed bags" I might say that a bucket is not closed.

Mr. TURNER. That is right, Mr. Speaker, but your fault there must be found with the present law. This does not change it and if you kill this bill, that will not change it.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Turner admitted the fault is in the present law. It is my conviction that I am not voting on the Baldi Act. I am voting on this bill. It is my conviction if the Baldi Act is faulty, why should I by my vote say it is all right? If that particular section of the act is not enforced then the Bureau of Weights and Measures is to blame. Is the Bureau of Weights and Measures to interpret the law to suit themselves or are they to enforce it as written? As I understand it this section is carried over from another act. It is my conviction the provision in the other act is wrong and for that particular reason I am going to vote against the bill.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I had no intention of arising on this bill, but when my colleague from Philadelphia, representing the same district as I do, the twenty-second legislative district, makes a statement in regard to the desires of the people in that district, I feel in all fairness to myself and the people in that district, that I should also say a word.

I have no objection to the statement Mr. Cullen made with regard to the Evening Public Ledger. I have not been influenced nor impressed by what they have said, but at the same time I have made an effort in the past few days and in the past few weeks, to find out from the people of my district what they think about this bill. I have received perhaps six or seven postal cards, all typed the same, with merely the names and addresses of certain people who were opposed to this bill. However, I have spoken to very many people in the same district who have told me that they were definitely in favor of the bill. I believe that every Member should vote as his conscience dictates, and as the people of his district wish him to vote. I believe the people of my district want me to vote in favor of this bill and I am so voting.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Delaware if this bill carries a repeal clause?

Mr. TURNER. It does not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman if the law as it exists today does not remain the same then.

Mr. TURNER. No, Mr. Speaker, because this is an amendment to the act, it does not have to carry a repeal clause.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, does the law as it exists today, continue in existence if there is no repeal clause in the act?

Mr. TURNER. No, Mr. Speaker, not in the construction of the act. The only change that is made in the law is the change made by the amendments in this present bill before you.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman what happens in our situation in the bituminous coal fields where there are no scales, but where the coal is weighed on the car as it comes out of the mine and goes across the tippie and then is dumped into the truck and delivered to the recipients. Will this law prohibit the business of selling or delivering of coal in that mine?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman asked these questions some time ago and my answer to the gentleman is in section 6 on page 6 which says,

"This section shall not apply to the sale of a boat-load or railroad carload of solid fuel delivered direct from the boat or car to one purchaser and accepted as to weight by the purchaser of the bill of lading or other vouchers issued by the carrier".

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I agree with that, but that does not cover my situation as I view it. Here the coal comes out of the mine and across the tippie, and a string of cars is weighed, then the coal is dumped from that tippie into the truck which delivers it to my home. As I understand the bill, if it becomes a law, we will be prohibited from continuing that practice back in our mines.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I cannot conceive that the gentleman is correct. In the first place it runs in my mind that I have been advised that there were scales for the purpose of weighing when it became necessary to deliver a truck load or less than a truck load of coal. How else could you ever measure the coal? You say they dump it from a car into a pile and then you buy a ton or so out of that pile.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Out of the truck, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, how does the gentleman know whether he has a ton of coal or not?

Mr. O'CONNOR. I know it by the weighmaster's report. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware evidently does not understand my question, we are not speaking of a railroad car or of a boat. I am speaking of a little open car that comes out of the mine, goes across the platform and scales on to the tippie and tilts. The coal is dumped into the truck and is delivered to my home without any weighing of the motor truck that carries the coal or without any weighing of the car which was carrying the coal.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, under those circumstances, I would say you would have to have your coal weighed; you would have to have a weighmaster's certificate.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, that is my understanding of the bill, and I am glad the sponsor of the bill agrees with me. I want to go on record as being heartily in favor of honest weight, but I cannot vote for this bill when he and I agree that the majority of mines in my district can no longer sell coal.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I thought the gentleman was mistaken but some of my colleagues from the soft coal region have called my attention to something which was perfectly obvious. The gentleman says the coal as it comes out of the mines is weighed. All he needs to get is a certificate from the person who weighs the coal as it comes out of the mine. The certificate is given to the truck driver who delivers the coal. There isn't any difficulty about that. It seems to me to be a perfectly proper regulation. It is weighed as it comes out of the mine. The weighmaster at that point weighs the coal and all he needs to do is make out a certificate which he hands to the truck driver. The truck driver at your home gives you a copy of the certificate. I do not think that is placing an unreasonable burden on the people who buy soft coal. I think that is a protection for the people.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to again interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware if he now agrees that the matter which he has just described of delivering and weighing coal is the way we do out in Cambria County. I cannot find anything in the bill. If what the gentleman suggests is true that this bill repeals the present law, that would permit us to continue that practice. We want to continue doing as we are doing now.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I did not say it repeals the present law. I said it repealed the present law insofar as the amendments are amendments to that act. They would repeal anything that is amended in that act. There is no change in the law except the change which is set forth here.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Delaware if this law does not specifically state that the vehicle in which the coal is delivered must be weighed.

Mr. TURNER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, will that not change our practice, because the coal is not delivered to us in the cars in which it comes out of the mine. I would not be opposed to the bill if it would not change the situation which exists in our county.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, cannot the trucks be weighed?

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, we do not do that; we do not have the facilities.

Mr. TURNER. Well, Mr. Speaker, you have to weigh the coal in your car?

Mr. O'CONNOR. Correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Well, Mr. Speaker, can't you weigh the trucks?

Mr. O'CONNOR. No, Mr. Speaker, the coal is weighed up in the air before it comes down into the trucks. If this bill does not repeal that provision of the present law then I am for the bill of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner. If it does, I am against the bill.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, if the Baldi Act were to be enforced, you would have to weigh your truck and you would have to weigh your coal. Under the circumstances which you have given to me now you are violating the law under the present act.

Mr. O'CONNOR. That may be, Mr. Speaker, but you are getting honest weight.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, how does the gentleman know?

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, the coal is weighed on the tippie and we get our waybills from the man who weighs it.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Delaware advise the House whether or not if the Baldi Act were enforced it will be necessary to have this bill.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, my information is that those who are in charge of the enforcement of this law and who have the responsibility for enforcing it, and I am speaking now of the Department of Internal Affairs and of the Sealers of Weights and Measures in some of our counties, this act will enable them to better enforce the law.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, is not the power to enforce honest weight now in the Baldi Act?

Mr. TURNER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, is not the difference between the Baldi Act and Bill 849 merely in the copies of slips and in the increased fine?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would not say merely, I would say as I said in the beginning, there are only three real changes. One of the most vital changes in the Baldi Act which is put in this act is that "slip" question, as I tried to point out here.

There have been many instances where truck drivers have two sets of slips. One of them has the real weight that was in the truck and the other one had another weight. The driver carried them so if he was picked up he would have a slip to give. If he was not picked up then he could deliver to the other slip. The reason this question of slips is in here,—and that is the pinch on the fellows who want to cheat,—is the fact that they have numbers on them and they are on forms which are prescribed. The slips must be made out in triplicate and the numbers must concur. Therefore when he uses a slip that is numbered there cannot be any change in the slip.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Delaware feel it is possible to pass laws to make a dishonest man honest?

Mr. TURNER. No, Mr. Speaker, I have had too much experience for that.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I would like to point out to the Members of the House that the failure, especially in the city of Philadelphia to receive honest weights in coal, is the failure of its present administration to administer and enforce the law that is on the statute books.

Mr. TARR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TARR. Mr. Speaker, I have been trying for quite some time to get up enough nerve to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, and now that I have the opportunity, I hope I do not fail—

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I must be slipping.

Mr. TARR. Mr. Speaker, I am not interested in the hard coal situation, but I would like to know from the gentleman whether he is familiar with the method of the delivery of house coal in the soft coal region, that is, direct to the homes.

Mr. TURNER. No, Mr. Speaker, I would not say that I am familiar with it.

Mr. TARR. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know in the soft coal districts it is difficult to buy coal direct from the mines, and does he realize that the enforcement of the Baldi Act or the new act would mean that those persons who start out from a custom mine would be subject to arrest before they get to a scales?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I do not see it that way. I do not so interpret the law.

Mr. TARR. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Delaware understand that there is a scale at every soft coal mine?

Mr. TURNER. No, Mr. Speaker, I understand from the gentleman from Cambria that there is a railroad track scale, but I did not understand that there is a scale at every mine.

Mr. TARR. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentlemen from the hard coal regions and the cities, I desire to say we do not have scales at all of our custom mines. We have no scales whatsoever. A great deal of our coal is hauled from the mine to the closest available scale. The scale can be one mile away or it can be ten miles away or there need not be any. I see no reason why a man starting out with a load of coal could not tell the first policeman that stops him that he was going to a scale, or if no one stopped him he could dump his coal. Furthermore I do not think the enforcement of the Baldi Act or the new act would solve the question, because we cannot weigh our coal after it is once in the cellar. All we are asking for is honest weight. I realize and I appreciate what I am saying is not going to change the minds of those persons in whose districts the problem is different, but it is not going to help the soft coal districts in the matter of soft coal for custom use, and I am going to vote against the bill.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to clear up in the mind of the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Tarr, the question he raised. He says that a man starts out from the mine and his scale may be ten miles away and therefore he would not have any slip, and then he could deliver that coal. Of course, if he does not have a slip he cannot deliver the coal because the person will not accept it without a slip. When he gets to the scale he will get a slip and then he can deliver it. If he delivers coal without a slip he is violating the law. If he is going to the scale he can get his slip at the scale and then he starts out to make his deliveries. Mr. Speaker, I think this is a tempest in a teapot in a way. I realize that the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor, has a situation in reference to weighing on the truck, but it seems to me that a merchant who is selling a commodity ought to have a scale upon which it could be weighed. Certainly it ought not to be by guess-weight. People ought not to be compelled to buy it by guess, they ought to be able to know when they buy a ton of coal they are getting a ton of coal. I would not go into a butcher shop and buy meats without a scale. I would not go into a grocery store and buy sugar except in a container, or potatoes unless I knew it weighed so much. You would not go to your store unless they had a scale or unless the commodity is in a container. The same thing is true with cement or anything else. You would not purchase anything unless you had a chance to see the weight of it. It is a simple problem where those conditions exist to get the weight of the truck, and it is a simple problem to weigh the coal. If these other problems arise it seems to me they could go to the weighmaster and get their slips and make their deliveries.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. BENTLEY filed the following reason for his vote:

My vote in opposition to House Bill No. 849 is not to be construed as in opposition to the principle of the Bill which, as I understand it to be, is "honest weight," particularly of coal sold to household consumers.

With this principle of "honest weight" I am, as I believe are all of my brethren in the House, in full accord.

However, as drawn, House Bill No. 849 provides for a license fee of $5.00 per annum to be paid to the Commonwealth, $2.50 of which is to be returned to the County Treasurer from the County where paid.

No provision is made for any portion of this license fee to be returned to the several cities of the Commonwealth, although many of these cities maintain Bureaus of Weights and Measures, at considerable expense to their taxpayers. These city operated inspection bureaus render weight inspection services in this field, which are at least comparable to those rendered by the County Bureaus of Weights.

No legitimate reason has been offered as to why counties should receive a part of this license fee in aid of their weight inspection service, but none be given to cities providing such weight inspection.

For this reason I oppose the bill.

Mr. RUSH filed the following reason for his vote:

I am voting "no" on House Bill No. 849, Printer's No. 760 because this bill does not correct the situation on short weight on coal. If the Baldi Act was enforced we would not need this legislation.

MEMBERS CONGRATULATED

The SPEAKER. The Chair has just learned that the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Wolf, was awarded his Master of Arts degree at the University of Pennsylvania yesterday. The Chair congratulates the gentleman.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Wolf.

Mr. WOLF. I wish to thank you, Mr. Speaker, for your very kind congratulations. I, of course, feel very proud in receiving that degree from a great University which celebrated its two hundredth anniversary last summer.

Some member of the House this morning asked me this question, "Now that you have a master's degree and a master's technique, does that help you to soothe the feminine charms?" In answer to that question I might say all of the things I learned about feminine charms on the campus of the University of Pennsylvania would come under the heading of "extra-curricular activities."

REASON FOR VOTE

Mr. BRETHERICK filed the following reason for his vote:

While I have voted "Aye" for House Bill No. 1385 (Senate Bill No. 507) known as the Wade Congressional Reapportionment Bill, I most certainly do not approve of the amendments introduced by Representative Achterman and adopted by this House, and especially as such amendments affect Montgomery County.

I have voted "Aye" for the bill because of the great importance of the bill and the realization that it will be referred to a conference committee composed of members of the Senate and the House at which it is hoped the inequities contained in the bill as amended will be remedied.

HOUSE BILL NO. 573 MADE SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 573, Printer's No. 708, on page 26 of today's calendar, bills on third reading, be made a special order of business immediately.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 573, as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, this is the general appropriation bill which was introduced by me on behalf of the administration. It carries out the items as they were contained in the budget. Since that time there have been amendments made by the Committee on Appropriations. With some of those amendments we on this side are in accord, with other amendments I think we on this side are not in full accord. However, since the general appropriations bill must be passed and since it has almost without exception in the past been put in the hands of a Conference Committee, we propose to vote for the bill in its present form, although there are some changes in the bill with which we are not in full accord.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

SENATE BILL NO. 1004 RETURNED WITH AMENDMENTS

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 1004, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance, and providing for certain allocations therefrom, for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred forty-one, and for the payment of assistance and expenses accrued or incurred prior to, and remaining unpaid on, May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred forty one.

with the information that the House has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

SENATE NON-CONCURS IN HOUSE AMENDMENT

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate non-concur in the amendments made by the House to Senate Bill No. 1004.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 1004 is the special relief bill which it was necessary for us to introduce in order that the poor and needy of this state should not be without relief after the first of June.

We find, Mr. President, in the amendments as passed by the House, that the amount as provided in the Senate bill has been reduced, and it was our intention to concur in that reduction in order to make certain that the people who needed food and relief would not be without those things.

We also find, however, that another amendment has been added by the House which without question is purely political, and that is the amendment which provides the method of allocation for the administration in connection with those funds.

Now, Mr. President, in a matter of this importance, of this grave importance to the people who have nothing with which to go on buying food and the other necessities, it just does not seem possible, certainly not reasonable, that any group would be willing to even consider politics in connection with a matter of this kind, and because of that political clause put in this bill by amendment in the House, at this time, Mr. President, I have moved that the Senate non-concur in the House amendment.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, if the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, had been satisfied to make the motion to non-concur in this bill without making his remarks, we probably could have expedited this matter much sooner, but since he has seen fit to make remarks which were absolutely uncalled for, I deem it my duty to say something about his remarks.

He charged that the amendment made to this bill by the House is political in nature, because that amendment says that out of the money appropriated by this bill, there shall be a certain amount taken out for administration purposes, and the section added to this bill says: "Out of the monies appropriated by section one of this act, the Governor, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer, or the majority thereof, shall from time to time allocate to the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department, respectively, such sums as may be deemed necessary to pay the administrative expenses of the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department in auditing and disbursing appropriations for or relating to public assistance, including any federal funds supplementing that appropriation."

Now, Mr. President, what the gentleman from Allegheny calls non-political is a provision such as the following, contained in House Bill No. 571, printer's number 697. This proviso reads:

"Provided, however, that allocations to the Department of the Auditor General shall not exceed in the aggregate the sum of $240,000 and allocations to the Treasury Department shall not exceed in the aggregate the sum of $665,000."

A provision of that kind is non-political. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, tells us a provision of that kind places a ceiling upon how much can be spent for administrative purposes, yet the gentleman from Allegheny does not realize that there is no other department of this state, Welfare, Highways or any other—Treasury Department or any other department—that the gentleman from Allegheny is willing to put a ceiling upon, so far as expenses for administrative purposes are concerned. The gentleman from Allegheny would not consider placing a ceiling on the expenses of the Department of Public Assistance, but here, the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department, very fortunately at this time, happen to be administered by Democratic officers, and he considers it very grievous when we give those departments the same opportunity to have enough money sufficient to efficiently administer the duties of their offices.

Mr. President, I say that those remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, come with very bad taste, when he accuses the House of placing a political amendment in this bill. If there is any politics it is on the part of the Republican side, who want to put a ceiling on the departments controlled by the Democrats, but have no ceiling on the departments controlled by the Republicans.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am very sorry the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, is not present, so that he could do these distasteful things; then the gentleman from Fayette would be more properly in his role, of speaking on the side of justice and equity.

The amendment that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, referred to, is very clearly printed in the bill and if that is not a political amendment of the rankest sort I, in my brief experience and career here in the Senate, never saw one.

The gentleman from Fayette suggests that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, is not sincere in his classification of this amendment. I suggest to the members of the Senate the gentleman from Fayette refers to the placing of a ceiling on the expenditures of the Department of Public Assistance. I would like the gentleman from Fayette to be a little more specific—he is talking in generalities somewhat along the line of the Minority Floor Leader. I would like him to be a little more specific and tell the members of the Senate where the gentleman from Allegheny refused to place a ceiling on the expenditures of the Department of Public Assistance. He suggested the Majority Floor Leader is insincere and I for one resent the inference and think he ought to be specific in his clarification of that.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. It will be a pleasure, Mr. President, to be very specific in this matter.

In the House of Representatives on February 24, 1941, that luminary of the Republican Party, Mr. Woodside, Jr., introduced House Bill No. 571 appropriating $130,- 370,000 to the Department of Public Assistance for relief grants in this Commonwealth, and then in section three he made it read like this: "Out of the monies appropriated by section one of this act the Governor shall from time to time allocate to the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department, respectively, such sums as he may deem necessary to pay the administrative expenses of the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department in auditing and disbursing appropriations for or relating to public assistance, including any federal funds supplementing such appropriations. Provided, however, that allocations to the Department of the Auditor General shall not exceed in the aggregate the sum of $240,000 and allocations to the Treasury Department shall not exceed in the aggregate the sum of $665,000."

That bill now reposes in a committee of this Senate, after the members of the House deleted the last proviso and made the bill read that the money shall be appropriated by the Governor, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer or a majority thereof.

Now, the gentlemen from the right have not in any appropriation put any ceiling on the other departments, the Department of Public Assistance or any other department, saying that they shall only spend a certain amount for administrative purposes, and we can see through that position. All other departments are controlled by the Republican Administration but the Auditor General and the Treasury Department are not controlled by the Republican Administration, and so therefore you reach out to control those departments by putting ceilings on the amount that they may spend for administrative purposes, but you are not concerned about putting a ceiling on the expenditures of the Department of Public Assistance or any other department that comes directly under the control of the Republican Party.

I ask you who is playing politics and why should not those two departments, the Auditor General's Department and the Treasury Department, have something to say in ascertaining the amounts that are necessary for administrative purposes? Why should that be left alone in the hands of the Governor?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I do not see any purpose in beating around the bush about this thing; I think we might as well come out in the open and be frank with what is the purpose of this amendment.

The gentleman from Fayette ought to know, if he does not, that both the general appropriation bill and also the main relief appropriation bill carry provisions for the administration expenses in connection with this relief.

Now, since the amendments have been placed in the general relief bill, as indicated by our colleague from Fayette County, it makes it all the more unnecessary to have any allocation, particularly with that kind of provision in this special relief bill which is being rushed through, or was rushed through insofar as the Republicans were concerned in this body, for the purpose of making certain that the people who need relief in this state would not have relief fail them on the first of June, due to the inactivity and the dilatory tactics of the Democratic House of Representatives.

Mr. President, it is easy to understand why individuals become influenced by politics in certain connections and relating to certain bills or certain acts, but one thing, Mr. President, I cannot understand, is how anybody can be low enough to play politics with the miseries of human beings, and that is exactly, Mr. President, what is being done by this second amendment in this special relief bill and it certainly comes with poor taste for anybody to endeavor to sustain that kind of activity.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, when I think of the Democratic Party and how it feels about the poor unfortunates, I can honestly say that we do not have to talk loud about how we feel about them or how much we feel for them, because our past history demonstrates full well how close to our political and statesmen activities we hold the unfortunates who are on relief.

It seems silly to say you recognize in the general appropriation bill that you must pass and you must have included in the act a clause whereby the necessary administrative monies may be appropriated and expended by the State Auditor General and the State Treasurer and the Governor.

As I understand it—and maybe I am wrong—the relief money runs out June 1st; evidently if the relief money runs out on June 1st, then the appropriation for the administration of relief runs out also. There is not much sense in passing six million dollars for emergency relief if you are not going to allow to operate the machinery that must necessarily be applied in order to do the work to spend this money for the benefit of these poor people they are crying so loud about now; you certainly must appropriate the money for administrative costs, and certainly it looks to me like very good legislative work on the part of the Democrats to see to it that the administrative machinery will not break down during this so-called emergency when the regular relief funds have been spent.

So therefore, Mr. President, I want to say to you it is absolutely essential and important that the proper monies be allocated to those departments which have a finger in the administration of public relief. You can not say to this Senate and the people of Pennsylvania that for eleven months out of the year it is proper to allow the Auditor General to have a check upon the activities of the Department of Public Assistance, but during one month when you make a special appropriation it will not be necessary for the Auditor General or the State Treasurer to check upon the activities of the Department of Public Assistance.

In Section 2 of this bill you make all the provisions necessary for the administrative expenses of the Department of Public Assistance, but remember that the State Treasurer and the Auditor General and the Governor's office are integral parts of the relief system and you can not allocate money for administrative costs to the Department of Public Assistance and not give money to the other integral parts of that system, without destroying the public assistance set-up in the state of Pennsylvania.

This is not a bit political. What can there be political in this, when all they are allowed to control is the amount of money they spend according to law in order to properly administer the relief act?

There is nothing wrong with the amendment and there is nothing political about it, except perhaps one political party trying to call another political party black; like the pot and kettle trying to decide which is the blackest.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, under ordinary circumstances I would not attempt to augment the very able argument of the gentleman from Fayette, followed by the very fine presentation of the Democratic phase of this argument to the members of this Senate by the gentleman from Westmoreland, but my sense of fair play rebels against the insinuations on the part of the Majority Floor Leader in the Senate.

We have now reached a point in the legislative session when politics ought to be subordinated in the interests of the people of the state as a whole, but instead of that the action of the majority floor leader indicates to me very, very clearly that the lines are going to be tightly drawn.

Now, as between the attitude of the Democratic and Republican parties toward the people on relief, we are perfectly satisfied to accept the feelings of those to whom we have been very, very kind and very considerate while the Democrats were in power in the state of Pennsylvania.

I think when the gentleman attempts to indulge in mawkish sentimentality about the people on relief, painting a picture of the Democratic Party attempting to take from the people the things to which they are rightfully entitled, he is indulging in a rather spurious argument and throwing up a smoke screen.

When the Republicans give to a Republican Governor the power to hamstring two elected public officials of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania it is called economy or efficiency or some other spurious designation, but when the minority membership of the Senate attempt to give to them something to which they are rightfully entitled, a sufficient amount to properly administer an act of the state of Pennsylvania, they get up on their feet and call it politics.

I am going to ask the minority membership in the Senate to vote "no" on the gentleman's motion to non-concur in the amendment inserted by the House.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I have listened to this discussion with a great deal of interest and in so far as this Session is concerned, with the history of its developments, I am firmly of the opinion and the fact of the matter is that this question is not political, although raising it for an emergency appropriation to provide relief is a new angle of it, and an angle that personally does not appeal to me as either broad or statesmanlike.

The fact of the matter is when the first transfer appropriation was made in March, we had discussion at that time, and at that time we raised the question as to whether or not we should concur in the Democratic amendments, and one of the amendments was simply to place in this bill a provision that the Governor, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer, or a majority of them, a majority being of course the two spending agencies, should allocate the monies to those agencies. We objected to that on the floor of this Senate and then the leader of the minority party, Senator Shapiro, threw out the suggestion this was a thing that ought to be compromised. We made the suggestion on our side of the line we were willing to compromise with a fixed sum, so that relief funds might not be unduly tapped for this purpose.

Now, Mr. President, has the relief fund been unduly tapped for this purpose? I give to the Senators again the figures that I got from the Department of Public Assistance in March.

In January of 1939 the number of assistance checks was 1,177,169; in December of 1940 the number of assistance checks was 764,744. That is a decline of more than one-third in the number of assistance checks.

The number of employes in the Department of Public Assistance in connection with the work of the pay roll was, in January of 1939, 313, and in December of 1940 it was 249, so that the pay roll in the Department of Public Assistance had gone down from $31,950 to $24,300, and the average cost per check, which in the first month was 2.71 cents became 3.18 in the last month.

Mr. President, at the same time what was happening in the department of the State Treasurer—and the State Treasurer is now the Auditor General and would be one of the three that would make up the majority under the terms of this bill, the number of employes in January of 1939 were 269, with a pay roll of $29,800; the number of employes in December of 1940, were 279, with a pay roll of $32,900, although in the meantime the number of checks had gone down by more than one-third.

Now I say, Mr. President, that is a condition in which, the prudent sense of the Senate should devote itself to the question as to what is a fair compensation for those auditing officers and that amount and no more should be awarded for the purpose.

May I say that the entire fund, which is a trust fund with us—remember these funds are raised out of special taxes and allocated for relief and for relief alone—if that trust fund is to be administered as a wise and prudent trustee would do, we are bound to see that the expenses of administration of the trust shall be kept to a minimum, and would it be worthwhile to pass now any resolution or legislation which would say that the Governor, who is responsible for carrying out the budget, and the Auditor General and the State Treasurer, who have no responsibility for carrying out the budget, or a majority of them, shall make the allocation.

If, on the other side of the Senate, the Senators want to have a fixed amount for those two fiscal officers, I do not think there would be any objection on our side to making that a fair amount. We did it before in March and it can be done again. If, on the other hand, you demand the right to take the entire fund, on a vote of a majority of them, then I say stay here until next Christmas before we yield to any form of extortion such as this.

I heartily concur in the motion of my colleague from Allegheny that the Senate non-concur in this amendment.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I understood the gentleman from Montgomery to say that the money is in trust, and taxes are raised for the simple purpose of relief and should not be used for any other purpose.

I wonder if the gentleman from Montgomery knows that the Department of Commerce used thousands upon thousands of relief dollars for advertising the now Governor of the state of Pennsylvania prior to the Republican convention in Philadelphia, in the so-called Department of Commerce's advertising campaign, and you used a long-winded excuse by saying that by so doing you were reducing the relief loads by having new industries come into Pennsylvania, and the biggest thing you ever saw was an entire add in the Saturday Evening Post and other periodicals.

Mr. EDMONDS. Is the gentleman from Westmoreland asking me a question, Mr. President?

Mr. DENT. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. EDMONDS. I did not know that any of that money came from the relief fund, Mr. President, and I do not know it yet.

Mr. DENT. I am telling you.

Mr. EDMONDS. I still do not know it, Mr. President.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDMONDS. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. REED. Would it be possible under this amendment, Mr. President, to have a sum fixed that would be necessary to distribute this fund through the proper agency?

Mr. EDMONDS. That is what we agreed to last March and what was done last March, with the first transfer appropriation. I see no reason why the House should not suggest doing that at this time, but they have not suggested that, they have sent us an amendment in a form where the only thing we can do is concur or non-concur. We can not amend it again, and personally I am opposed to any concurrence with a proposition of this kind.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I do not usually talk three times on one bill but in this instance I should like to ask permission to do so.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection the gentleman from Fayette may proceed.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDMONDS. With pleasure, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the gentleman from Montgomery seems to approve the policy of placing a ceiling upon the expenditures of these two fiscal offices for administrative purposes. Does the gentleman also believe in applying that principle to the Department of Public Assistance?

Mr. EDMONDS. As an actual matter of fact, Mr. President, we have other ceilings, under our own control; as a matter of fact, if you have any legislation that looks toward allocating the amount of money that can be spent for examination and investigation, I would be willing to consider that, but remember that department is under the Governor and the Governor has the responsibility for making the budget work, and consequently if they go wrong we can feel sure that the Governor is the executive to curtail that, and that condition does not exist with the two fiscal officers.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. I gather from the gentleman's answer, Mr. President, that he believes in placing a ceiling over everybody except the Governor, because the Governor no doubt wears the halo or wings of being non-political, a Governor who is free of politics, but, Mr. President, I cannot understand the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, just like he does not understand me. He is so much worried and shedding these crocodile tears for the people on relief who will have to do without relief he says, unless this bill passes, and yet the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, despite the fact that this is simply an emergency measure that will only last for about thirty days, is willing to permit an amendment made by the House of Representatives to stall the giving of relief. He ceases to shed the tears then, despite the fact that this is merely an emergency measure. He would sooner throw this into a conference in order to win his point; we must place a ceiling on these expenditures for administrative purposes, over the two fiscal officers, but over nobody else.

Now, Mr. President, if the gentleman is sincere in his position he ought to withdraw his motion and let us concur in this amendment, because this is purely an emergency measure, and then whenever the general appropriation bill comes up for approval in this Senate, we might work on the bigger problem because the big problem involved is whether or not we are right on the proposition that the Republican side should not expect to put a ceiling over those two fiscal offices controlled by the Democrats and not be willing to place a ceiling over the Department of Public Assistance, over which they have control.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, so that the public may know the hypocrisy which is entering into this debate from some angle, I think our colleague from Fayette County very well knows that the fifteenth of June is the time that it will be necessary for the State Treasurer to pay those individuals who do the work necessary to get this relief to the people who need relief.

He knows very well that in order for that work to be continued and in order for relief to be not stopped or terminated temporarily in this state, that it is not necessary for any allocation nor is it necessary for any appropriation in this temporary relief bill, and he also undoubtedly knows that Senate Bill No. 1018, introduced by the gentleman from Dauphin, Senator Taylor, and which was reported out yesterday and is on the second reading calendar today, is a bill which appropriates two million dollars to the State Treasurer for the purpose of paying salaries to state employees, as requisitioned by the various department heads.

That bill, Mr. President, is also made necessary by the dilatory tactics and the inactivity of the Democratic House of Representatives in not getting the general appropriation bill over here until just this week.

The PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the gentleman from Allegheny that the Senate non-concur in the amendments to Senate Bill No. 1004.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I rise on a point of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Montgomery will proceed.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, it is my understanding that this bill, having passed the Senate and having been amended in the House, the question being on non-concurrence in the House amendments, we cannot further amend the bill at the present time? Is that right?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is of that opinion and is of the further opinion that the bill must go to a conference committee, unless the House recedes.

Mr. EDMONDS. I personally am willing to have this fixed with a ceiling, Mr. President, and I want to remind the gentleman from Fayette that was a suggestion which met with the cordial approval of the co-leader of the Democrats in this Senate at the time in March when the question came up for discussion. It is my recollection the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, suggested it and we accepted the suggestion and worked it out; we have lived for four months under that ceiling and it has not fallen yet, and if we cannot put a ceiling in this bill the only thing left to do is non-concur.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. The gentleman from Fayette speaks for himself; he has no mouthpiece in this Senate.

Mr. EDMONDS. The gentleman from Fayette does not need any.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise on a parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, in order that I may vote intelligently, "aye" or "no", if I want to concur in the amendment I vote "aye", is that correct.

The PRESIDENT. It just depends on what position the gentleman from Allegheny wishes to take. A vote in the affirmative is a vote to non-concur and a vote in the negative is a vote to concur.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I understood my colleague from Allegheny to say he wanted to vote intelligently and therefore I suggest to him he should vote "aye."

Mr. CAVALCANTE. The gentleman should vote "no", Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I still think there is a bit of confusion. The gentleman from Allegheny, as I understand, made a motion to non-concur in the amendments inserted by the House, which was duly seconded, and that is the proposition on which we are voting. I would like to advise my good friend his vote should be "no" on the proposition of non-concurring and then this will have the effect of throwing it on the House and I assume the House will not recede from its position, which will throw the bill into a conference committee. Am I clear on that?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No 443 on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand one hundred and four and to further amend sections one thousand one hundred and five, one thousand one hundred and twenty-one and one thousand one hundred and twenty-seven of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," providing for and regulating the tenure of office and salaries of county and assistant county superintendents be recommitted to the Committee on Education for the purpose of further consideration.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Wilson.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Yes, Mr. President

Mr. HALUSKA. What is the purpose of re-referring this bill, Mr. President?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. It is proposed that the bill go back to committee for further consideration.

Mr. HALUSKA. Does the gentleman from McKean have any amendments in mind?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, the question is whether or not this system should be put into operation and how it should be put in, and whether or not anything should be passed on this subject is being seriously considered. It is not being sent back to kill the bill particularly, but the question has not been decided by the people who are moving to send this back to committee.

Mr. HALUSKA. I ask, Mr. President, whether the committee gave that any consideration before the bill was reported out?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I think the committee did.

Mr. HALUSKA. I see no reason why the bill should go back to committee for consideration, Mr. President.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I do, Mr. President. Here are two bills dealing with the same subject and it is not yet apparent, to my mind at least, whether or not either of the bills should be passed, and if either of them should be passed, which one should be passed. The bills are going back simultaneously for reconsideration.

Mr. COX. Mr. President and the members of the Senate, early in the week this Senate passed a bill setting up an educational commission and making an appropriation for an exhaustive survey of the educational system of Pennsylvania. I was very happy to see this bill pass; because of my professional experience in the teaching field, I know such a comprehensive study is very necessary. If the House concurs with the Senate and such a commission is set up one of the duties of that commission should be to study very carefully this question of tenure.

One of these bills which is being recommitted deals with the question of permanent tenure for the county superintendents of schools. The county superintendent of schools in some counties of our great state is a very necessary officer, but in the urban districts and heavily populated districts, the county superintendent of schools is a needless adjunct of the public school system and I feel in many cases unnecessary and for that reason I certainly intend to vote to recommit these bills, hoping that by recommitting them they will no longer see the light of day.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I am not agreeing that this bill gives the county superintendents permanent tenure. If we could discuss the bill I could readily point out it is not permanent, far from it, and I strenuously object to sending the bills back to committee, but I am not optimistic enough to believe it would do any good—so let them go.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, in line with the remarks made by my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Cox, I have been deluged with letters from my constituents about Senate Bill 559. My answer to them is that I am not afraid of any investigation. Somebody said that he would rather have Mephisto legislate and Gabriel execute than Gabriel legislate and Mephisto execute.

My opinion about Senate Bill No. 559 is that it depends upon the persons to be appointed on this committee; if they will do a thorough job it will inure to the benefit of the entire Commonwealth. In the meantime I believe these two bills should again return to the floor of the Senate because they are going to fill a serious deficiency in our legislative system pertaining to the schools.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Does the gentleman insist on a roll call?

Mr. COLEMAN. Not necessarily, Mr. President, excepting that I want to get inserted into the record somewhere my opposition to recommitting the bills, the obvious purpose of which is to pickle them.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I still am asking whether the gentleman insist on a roll call. I do not think he has asked for a roll call.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, inasmuch as the opinion of my colleagues is so heavy against this bill of mine and Senator Ruth's, I do not want to take up the time of the Senate in having the roll called, but I wish you would extend to me the courtesy of having my vote recorded in the journal as "no."

The PRESIDENT. The question before the Senate is whether the Senate will agree to recommit Senate Bill No. 443, appearing on page 5, of today's Calendar and also Senate Bill No. 822, on page 14 of the Calendar. A vote "aye" is a vote in favor of recommitting the bills to the Committee on Education.

Is there any other information desired?

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. COLEMAN and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—27

Chapman,	Heyburn.	Miller,	Wade,
Cox,	Homsher,	Snowden,	Walker,
Crider,	James,	Stevenson,	Watkins,
Ealy,	Kephart,	Tallman,	Wilson, H. I.,
Edmonds,	Letzler,	Taylor,	Wilson, T. B.,

NAYS—13

Barr,	Cavalcante,	Dent,	Reed,
Bartlett,	Coleman,	Haluska,	Ruth,
Becker,	Crowe,	McGinnis,	Stiefel,
Carr,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Fayette will state his point of information.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, do I understand this motion carried both bills.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

MOTION THAT SENATE BILL 776 GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 776, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to fix the number of Senators in the General Assembly of the State; to apportion the State into Senatorial districts, as provided by the Constitution; and to regulate the election of, and terms of office of, the present and future elected Senators go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I object.

Mr. President, I am very sorry but I must object. This bill has gone over in its order three times and I must insist on a vote.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh, is very much interested in this bill; he is not here today and I think we owe him the courtesy of allowing the bill to go over in its order until Monday, when he will be present.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator McCreesh, should be familiar with this bill. He has had a lot of time to study it and I have explained it to him. I think the bill ought to go to a vote at this time.

Mr. REED. When this bill was called up yesterday the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator McCreesh, started for the microphone in order to discuss this bill and in the meantime some one headed him off by having the bill go over in its order. Senator McCreesh is not here today and I certainly think we owe him that courtesy.

Mr. WALKER. Yesterday, Mr. President, when this bill was brought up, the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, requested that it go over in its order and at that time I attempted to impress upon the members of the Senate the fact that we were desirous of having the bill voted on this week. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh, was present during the course of that discussion and he knew of the obvious desire on the part of the Republican Senate to have this bill voted on. Both the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell, and myself expressed ourselves on the floor yesterday of the desire to have this bill come up for vote today.

According to the statistics there are fifty members of this Senate and if each one impresses upon us the right of his Senatorial courtesy to have a bill go over in order, about 1950 we might get a vote on this bill.

I do not want to be discourteous to the distinguished gentleman from Washington, but I also am desirous of having this bill come to a vote today. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh, knew this bill was to be voted on today. I appreciate the fact that he is not here but I must ask my colleagues to extend to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell, the courtesy of having this bill voted on today.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, our colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh, very seldom takes the floor in a discussion of any measure, and he is generally here. I think we are setting up a very bad precedent in taking advantage of a man when he is not present. All of us at times must be away from the Senate and I know of no case where these same circumstances were present when that person was not accorded that courtesy. I can not see how one legislative day will make any difference in the consideration of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. There has been objection and unless there is a motion to the contrary, the Senate will now proceed to consideration of the bill.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I was informed by the sponsor of the bill that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh, really has no complaint against the bill, because those five wards they are all Democratic excepting one, and he is in a very privileged position.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I find by reference to the History that this bill was reported out as amended on the twentieth day of May. It has been on the Calendar nine days now and I think that is sufficient time.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I have made a motion to have this bill go over in its order and it has been seconded and I am going to insist upon that motion and ask for a roll call.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair did not understand the gentleman from Washington made a motion. If he desires to make a motion and it is properly seconded, of course, there will be a vote.

Mr. REED. I want to say further, Mr. President, I never knew of any measure coming up on a Thursday for final action when any member of the Senate requested that a bill go over in its order. This is an unprecedented practice in this Senate, because we generally have taken the position on Thursdays that no bills about which there is any controversy are taken up.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of information.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to inquire whether the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh, has leave of absence for today.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President,—

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I still have the floor. The gentleman is not going to get that in now.

The PRESIDENT. The answer is no.

Mr. WALKER. That is what I wanted to know, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair bases that statement on the inference that when we came to the order of business of leave of absence the Chair inquired whether there were any requests for leave of absence and there were no such requests. Therefore the only inference the Chair can take is that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh, has no leave of absence.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, this puts me in a most embarrassing position, because with all the earnestness in my heart and soul I say to the members of the Senate, yesterday afternoon my good friend, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh, told me he wanted to talk on this bill and he was denied the privilege because the Chair granted me permission to have the bill go over in its order.

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh, requested me to ask for leave of absence for him today but my attention was directed elsewhere when that order of business came up before the Senate. I trust nobody doubts my veracity in the Senate, least of all my good friend from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

The PRESIDENT. What is the Senator's request?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I want to explain the reason Mr. McCreesh is not recorded as having asked for a leave of absence, or my failure to ask for leave of absence for him.

Now, Mr. President, I would like to inquire as to what the exact status of the situation is. Are we going to vote on the motion of the gentleman from Washington, seconded by the gentleman from Fayette, that this bill go over in its order?

The PRESIDENT. That is the motion.

Mr. COLEMAN. I ask for a roll call.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, it would be fartherest from my mind not to show any gentleman on the floor all the courtesy in the world, but nobody has brought the truth out as yet. There is more back of this bill than asking that it go over in its order. I permitted this bill to go over in its order three times, once on a motion, two days ago, by the gentleman from Lackawanna. There is something back of this bill. I know what it is and I am going to insist that the bill be acted on.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Tell us what it is.

Mr. FARRELL. I do not want to tell you; you folks know.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I want to explain to my colleague from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, I appreciate the embarrassing position in which his senatorial duties placed him, because for the moment they drove from his mind the request of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCreesh, to ask for leave of absence.

I also want to remind the gentleman from Lackawanna yesterday when he asked the courtesy of having this bill go over in its order I pointed out to him our desire to have this bill voted on today and the gentleman from Lackawanna assured me that he would like to have the bill go over another day because as I remember it then there were certain remarks he desired to make with regard to the bill and he did not want to make them at that time. We have a need to have this bill voted on because as I understand it there is a bill over in the House they would like to toss in our laps.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. COLEMAN and Mr. CAVALCANTE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—10

Barr,	Cox,	McQuiddy,	Ruth,
Cavalcante,	Haluska,	Reed,	Stiefel,
Coleman,	McGinnis,

NAYS—28

Bartlett,	Edmonds,	Mallery,	Tyler,
Becker,	Farrell,	Miller,	Wade,
Carr,	Geltz,	Snowden,	Walker,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	Stevenson,	Watkins,
Crowder,	Homsher,	Tallman,	Wilson, H. I.,
Crowe,	Kephart,	Taylor,	Wilson, T. B.,
Ealy,	Letzler,	Thomas,	Woodward,

So the question was determined in the negative.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair at this time wants to make a statement. At every Session of the Senate, in the regular order of business, the Chair announces leave of absence two or three times, and on a number of occasions where he knew there had been a death in the family of some Senator or that for some other unavoidable reason a particular Senator could not be present, the Chair saw to it a leave of absence was requested for that Senator. Where the Chair has no knowledge of any such occurrence and no response is made to the announcement of the order of business of leave of absence, the Chair takes it for granted the Senator who is absent has not requested any other Senator to request leave of absence, but that he wants, at least as far as his constituents are concerned, that the record show him to be present. For that reason the Chair will continue the past practice of announcing the order of business, leave of absence, two or three times.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, the Chair will remember when the Session started today the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, asked unanimous consent to call up a bill, which was not in the regular order of procedure. I was not present when the order of business, leave of absence was called.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair must differ with the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr. The Chair had in his hand a communication from the Governor which he was about to pass to the reading clerk when the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, arose.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, when I came into the House of Representatives in 1935, I came to Harrisburg a babe in the legislative woods, so to speak; I had two courses to chart, as I understood, one of being a politician and the other of being a statesman. I had to come down here and penetrate the parliamentary wilderness alone and traverse the legislative highway unaccompanied. I found out some few months later that while I wanted the statesman side of myself to assert itself, you have to be very practical in the consideration of legislation before the House and Senate.

The suggestion of my good friend from Philadelphia, Mr. Farrell, that there was something behind this bill brings to my mind the cry of politics in many things we consider in the Senate of Pennsylvania. On every particular bill that comes in here, Mr. President, somebody or other suggests there is politics back of it, and I want to be very honest and frank, Mr. President, and say that I think there is politics in everything from the Minute Men of Concord to perhaps the College of Cardinals.

One of my favorite American poets is Edgar Guest. Edgar Guest is the poet of the good hearth and the poet of the home; Guest's homespun philosophy is read throughout the world, millions of people daily read what he writes, and in addition to being a great student of human nature,

Guest is also a keen student of politics, as is indicated in this poem which I think is most appropriate in the consideration of this bill:

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

NO POLITICIAN

"He would not kiss the babies as he went along his way.
He believed that public business should no more than others pay;

He insisted on insisting on economy in fact,
Which for any politician was a curious way to act.

He said: "I made a promise to the people of the town
If they voted me in office I would cut the taxes down.
And I mean to keep my pledges," so he fired a dozen clerks,

Saying: "One is all that's needed, if he's honest and he works."

He refused to pose for pictures just to further spread his fame,

And on every civic project he refused to splash his name.
He was early at his office and upon the job he stayed.
He respected all the people, but no favorites he played.

He tried running public business in a private trades-man's way,

But the things they said about him filled his family with dismay.

He was honest; he was truthful; he was earnest and sincere,
But he was no politician—so he didn't last a year.

I am delighted this afternoon, Mr. President, to see, while I propose to vote against this bill, that the Senate of Pennsylvania is at last taking cognizance of their constitutional responsibility to reapportion the Senatorial Districts in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I have never been able to understand why, session after session, the legislature has been able to meet and adjourn without living up to what is clearly a mandate under the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania, and while I am discussing this constitutional question I would like to maintain too it has been never quite clear to me the power of the Senate of Pennsylvania on the matter of confirmation. Notwithstanding, Mr. President, that Constitution specifically provides and many bills that we pass provide that boards and commissions are appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, we violate that constitutional provision and that provision in the act because when we give the Governor our advice he does not pay any attention to it and appoints for the interim those whom we reject or whom we fail to confirm during the legislative session.

Mr. President, I have talked this matter over with some constitutional lawyers and they tell me the legislature has no authority, there is no authority vested in the legislature, to clarify that particular provision of the Constitution and it narrows down to a question of an interpretation of the Constitution.

This particular bill I think is tremendously important to most Republicans in the Senate and, I understand, to one or two of my Democratic colleagues.

Now, in 1937, in the House and Senate there was passed a senatorial reapportionment bill and about the time that myself and others who had aspirations of sitting in this august body were circulating nominating petitions, the Supreme Court of the State of Pennsylvania declared the bill unconstitutional, because somebody, inadvertently or otherwise, omitted some political subdivision of the Commonwealth—I think it was the fashionable suburb of Pittsburgh, Sewickley Heights, and one or two others, were omitted from the bill, which rendered it clearly unconstitutional. Under that reapportionment bill Lackawanna County was given two Senators; one Senator was taken away from Philadelphia, which as I understand it, has one Senator representing seventy thousand people as against my Senatorial District, which embraces 301,000 people.

That alone impresses upon us the essentiality of an equitable reapportionment in the State of Pennsylvania and I am voting “no” on this bill—while I may be considered a trifle inconsistent, because I think it is our job to reapportion—I am voting “no” on this bill because I think Lackawanna County for a period of ten or eleven years has been denied a second Senator in the Senate of Pennsylvania because the legislature did not live up to its constitutional mandate, and that is the reason, Mr. President, that I am opposing this Senatorial reapportionment bill.

Mr. STIEFEL. Under this bill, Senate Bill 776, the Fifth Senatorial District, which I represent in the Senate of the General Assembly, will become what I would call a Democratic stronghold, a thing which can never be conquered, which will perpetuate a Democratic Senator in that district.

I have been accused of being favorably inclined to this bill, for selfish interests, and for that reason, Mr. President, I am not going to cast my vote on this measure.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I presume it might not be necessary for me to explain my vote on this bill, but I am still wondering a whole lot about what is going on here. A babe in the woods, has been referred to—I am still more of a babe in this session than the gentleman from Lackawanna was, but I think I can explain the situation of a good many of us here by quoting a little poem, not by Edgar Guest, not by anybody else but myself. It is entitled “Legislators” and it is as follows:

LEGISLATORS

In the Senate or the House,
If you're quiet as a mouse
And just keep listening in without a word,
There are lots of things you'll learn
And you'll readily discern
That much of it is really quite absurd.

There are chestnuts from the fire
To be pulled at the desire
Of some fellow who would have you think that he Is the most unselfish creature
Without one single feature
Such as should not in his composition be.

Every fellow who is there,
Feels his duty is to share
The things of which he only is possessed;
And to give you all the dope
With a deeply cherished hope

That his selfish motives never will be guessed.

Oh, there's lots of heat and fire,
And sometimes you'll find a liar
Who will try to make you think that black is white;
But by deep and careful thinking,
Ears wide open, eyes not blinking,
You'll be lucky if you choose the thing that's right.

And of course there's hardly one
Who is really not in fun,
Who declares that he is not a candidate;
But that he would gladly bear
All the burdens that are there
If we'd just elect him gov'nor of the state.

Say, it's been a lot of pleasure
Just to try to take the measure
Of the fellows who are working on the hill;
And to find the little joke
There inserted by the bloke
Who presents what seems a very simple bill.

But while I am criticising
All these boys so enterprising,
I wonder what they're thinking about me;
And, by golly and by thunder,
I've just now begun to wonder Whether I'm the man I think myself to be.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, in response to the Statement of the gentleman from Lackawanna, Senator Coleman, just what he said is what I am trying to do. I am doing away with that district which only has seventy thousand votes; I am wiping out Mr. Kephart's district and putting Mr. Kephart's district into Mr. Jaspán's district, and it is doing just what they want.

Mr. President, there is not Democrat in this Senate, from Philadelphia, excepting Mr. McCreesh, who is not tickled to death with this bill. They may not say so publicly but they personally told me so.

Mr. President, I do not like to go into this, but this is a fair bill and I think it is a fair apportionment, very fair, and there is no reason why this bill should not pass.

Mr. BARR. Just to keep the record straight, Mr. President, with this bill as drawn I could be here fifty years; it fixes me up in good shape, but it is a reapportionment bill for Allegheny and Philadelphia Counties and I do not think that is the type of bill we want. I know the bill will pass and go over to the House and in time it will be sent to a conference committee, but I cannot sit idly by and vote “yes” in a selfish way so from a party viewpoint I am going to vote “no”.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the bill?
(During the calling of the roll):

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The PRESIDENT. The roll will be so verified.
The Clerk will call the roll of those voting in the affirmative.

The affirmative votes were as follows:

Bartlett,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Tyler,
Becker,	Geltz,	Miller,	Wade,
Carr,	Haluska,	Snowden,	Walker,

Crider,	Homsher,	Tallman,	Wilson, H. I.,
Crowe,	Kephart,	Taylor,	Wilson, T. B.,
Ealy,	Letzler,	Thomas,	Woodward,
Edmonds,

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none.

The affirmative vote will stand as verified.

The Clerk will call the roll of those voting in the negative.

The negative votes were as follows:

Barr,	Cox,	McQuiddy,	Reed,
Cavalcante,	McGinnis,	Mundy,	Ruth,
Coleman,

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none.

The negative vote will stand as verified.

The affirmative vote 29—negative 9.

And the question recurring,

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I have some comments I desire to make on Senate Bill 701, (House Bill 404), appearing on page ten of today's Calendar, and I wonder if the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, will allow me the courtesy of agreeing that this bill go over in its order until next Monday?

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senate the bill in question has not come up from the printer and therefore can not be acted upon.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Fayette.

The PRESIDENT. He is not present. He requested leave of absence.

Mr. WALKER. I do not think he is absent, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Fayette permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. I understood the Senate had taken a recess, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Not yet.

Mr. WALKER. While I was absent from the floor, Mr. President, I heard a rumor the gentleman from Fayette had requested that Senate Bill 701 go over in its order.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. COX, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1019, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies, with the approval of the Governor and the Board of Trustees of Pennsylvania Soldiers' Orphan School to acquire a certain tract of land for the use of said school and making an appropriation therefor.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. The bill is not as yet up from the printer, and in addition I have some remarks I should like to make on this bill, on Monday.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I will be perfectly willing to listen to the remarks of the gentleman from Fayette next Monday, but I would like to have the bill voted on today. I appreciate the fact that the bill is not up from the printer, but I certainly object to it going over in its order as I would like to get it disposed of. It has been on our Calendar for some time.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. The business of the Senate must be conducted in an orderly manner. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, has the floor and will be permitted to proceed.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am sorry there is a difference of opinion at the time this conference committee desires to have a meeting.

I understood the Senate had taken a recess and therefore left the floor of the Senate. Of course the fault is mine and not the Chair's, because the Chair had not announced the recess, but I understood the Senate had recessed and I left the Senate floor and I am now advised this bill has gone over in order.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understands that is correct.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am now in what is known as a dilemma.

Now, Mr. President, after conferring with my colleague, Mr. Geltz, from the great state of Allegheny, I withdraw my objection to the request of the gentleman from Fayette.

The PRESIDENT. As an evidence of the harmony existing.

Mr. WALKER. It is only a temporary truce, Mr. President.

Mr. CRIDER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. CRIDER, from the Committee on Military Affairs reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1017, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the fifteenth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (P. L. 186), entitled "An act declaring what officers are incompatible," by specifically exempting persons serving in the armed forces of the United States.

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I wish to make a few remarks on this bill, Senate Bill 555, provides that the Department of Public Assistance may make rules and regulations to keep secret the names of those who receive old age assistance in part from the Federal Government or as dependent children or blind persons. It is with the greatest reluctance that I vote for this bill.

The Social Welfare bureaucrats at Washington have secured the passage of an amendment of the Social Security Law which makes necessary the adoption of an act like this, if we shall continue to receive Federal aid in our relief problem. At this time it seems necessary to accede to their demands.

Of course the Federal money borrowed to pay Pennsylvania for assistance to the aged, etc., will have to be paid back by Pennsylvania in the fifty or seventy-five years to come. So the situation is simply that we are bribed with our own money to surrender our rights to those persons with an exaggerated social welfare complex who have charge of these matters at Washington.

Things have come to a sorry pass when the hard working people of this Country are forced to provide charity for a lot of unknowns, many of whom are living in idleness much better at public expense than they ever lived in the rosy days of National prosperity. The business of relief is a local matter. The people of this Country are by nature charitable. No one would let his neighbor suffer for want if he could share his food with him.

But our system of relief destroyed our instincts for charity when it passed to the cold hand of State and Federal bureaucracy, and the cost of relief was multiplied many fold, thus destroying incentive in the individual and causing a hopeless situation.

If our leaders would only read history they would find that an almost precisely similar situation existed in England in the beginning of the 19th Century and after a period of 40 or 50 years the condition had become so bad that England was saved only by a return to the old system.

Here in Pennsylvania the centralization of relief was a deplorable mistake. The abolition of the local poor boards was extremely bad, and I sincerely feel that the condition can only be corrected by doing what I urged back in the Pinchot administration—tearing the whole system out by its roots and returning the relief administration to the local authorities.

I have always regretted that Pennsylvania sought Federal Assistance in its relief problem. It was a matter of great chagrin to me that the leaders in this great Commonwealth felt it necessary to admit that we could not feed those who wanted relief.

We could have fed them. If we had organized properly for distribution of our surplus grains and fruits and vegetables—we could have supplied the whole population without anyone missing a meal.

When Pennsylvania took aid from Washington of course other states did the same and when the bill is finally paid Pennsylvania will certainly contribute more than its share.

When the Federal Government did grant aid by giving back some of our own money, it should have issued only the most general rules and regulations for its expenditure.

When we continue to pass such bills as this before us we take one additional step in surrendering state rights. I hope the time will soon come when we have officials here in Harrisburg and representing us in Washington who will have the courage to break up this system which, if continued, will destroy us.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, if I may add a postscript to the remarks of the President Pro Tempore, I would like to state as a matter of interest I have in my desk two bills, one bill dealing with unemployables and the other with employables. The first bill provides that the unemployables, who are always with us and always I suppose will be with us, be consigned to the Department of Welfare.

The second bill treats with the employables and provides that the employable will be consigned to the Department of Labor and Industry.

Both bills provide that after January 1, 1943, there will be no longer a Department of Assistance. These two bills I will either keep in my desk or hand over to the Department of Health for safe-keeping, because the Governor having changed his mind and taken over the mental hospitals—I have nothing against him—therefore I will pigeonhole these two bills.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I did not realize when I first read this bill that it was the medium for a wholesale attack on the relief measures which have been passed in this Senate and in this Assembly and the Congress of the United States, which had for their purpose the handling of one of the most difficult situations we have ever met in the history of our country.

I resent, not only for myself but for the great Democratic Party, the implications in the speech of the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Ealy. I live in a great industrial community, a community that has in the past done much to make our great country the country it is, and I have had the unhappy and unfortunate experience of seeing an entire industrial town dissolved, I have had the unhappy experience of seeing old friends and old neighbors, people who have worked hard and people who did not want charity, forced into a position where they had to appeal to the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to enable them to live.

The attack of the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Ealy, on the great work that has been done in this state has been, I think, tremendously unwarranted and I regret when I read this bill I did not know he was going to make a speech, as I would have liked to have put myself in a position statistically to answer the accusations he has made.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, if the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Cox, had followed what I said, he would have known there was no attack on those who really are entitled to relief. I am surprised he takes the position that the authorities in Allegheny County could not administer relief.

I was here when the relief system was first started. It was started under what was known as the Talbot Act, and under that system the state contributed money to the counties for administering their own relief. I voted for that bill in which we contributed money to Allegheny County and to all the other counties of the state, and I maintain it was administered much better in that way than it has been administered since by the centralization of relief.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Section 2 This act shall become final immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, as a member of the General State Authority I would feel much better if I would simply vote "present" on this bill.

The PRESIDENT. The vote of the gentleman from Somerset will be so recorded.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, in reference to Senate Bill 996, figuratively speaking, if we are going to lay the corner-stone for an executive mansion today, I dislike intensely not having my colleague from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy, present in the Senate, as he has been in the vanguard to have the Governor get a new mansion and I would therefore like to see this bill go over in its order until Monday, when I know my learned colleague from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy, will have some very appropriate remarks to make on this bill.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, a little while ago, during a recess of the Senate, I met our distinguished colleague from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy, out in front of the capitol building and he said to me "Good-by Johnny, I will see you Monday," and I said, "that is very appropriate." He then got in his car and proceeded on his way home. Now, Mr. President, many of us are homesick and we want to go home too, but we feel the responsibilities of the office to which we aspired and have been elected are more pressing than our duties at home, and we stayed here to vote on this bill, and I object to it going over in its order.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, this is one of the bills proposing the erection of an executive mansion, to be built through the General State Authority. I understand the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Early, introduced a bill and which I believe passed the Senate stating that we would not commence any more buildings through the General State Authority until they had completed those buildings which they already had in the course of erection.

As a member of the Appropriations Committee, I have been visiting hospitals in the state and I have seen some of the hospitals that have been built by the General State Authority, which are uncompleted. The Psychiatric Hospital in Pittsburgh is a good example of that, a building some nine or eleven stories high, standing for two years uncompleted because of the lack of funds, and I have also visited the Butler Sanatorium, and I for one think those buildings ought to be completed before other new structures are begun. I am opposed to the bill for those reasons.

Mr. EALY. The Senator is a little in error in the purport of the bill which passed the Senate. That bill provided that no construction should be undertaken without previous legislative authority. The bill which I introduced for abolishing the General State Authority, except as to buildings now under construction, was not let out of committee.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

PRESENT—1

Ealy,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAYLOR. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, as I understand it, Senate Bill 996 empowers the General State Authority to erect an executive mansion, and Senate Bill 998 authorizes the Secretary of the Department of Property and Supplies to dispose of the present mansion. We have no doubt about the outcome of the gubernatorial fight next year. Does the gentleman from Dauphin think the present Governor would sign Senate Bill 998, which authorizes sale of the present mansion, and veto the other bill, and leave the next Democratic Governor without a home?

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, for the information of the Senator from Lackawanna, the Speaker of the House and the Governor made these arrangements, that the property should be sold by the Department of Property and Supplies, and the Speaker of the House, the House leader and the State Treasurer, to mention a few on your side, all seconded the motion in unison that we do this thing, so there is no politics in it; it is purely a business proposition. They were pretty fair about it, because they knew they could not sit in it, but they were broad-minded about it.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, asked about whether, in the event the present executive mansion was now sold, the next Democratic Governor would have a place to live. May I suggest to the gentleman that will be so far in the future the mansion we are going to build under Senate Bill 996 will be out of date.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAYLOR. Yes, Mr. President, I will, if the gentleman from Warren will take the microphone so I may be able to hear him.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Dauphin if he thinks it will make any difference whether we construct a new executive mansion now or whether the next Governor or the next two or three Governors live in the present mansion; whether the gentleman from Dauphin thinks it makes any difference whether any of these new Governors live in a new or old mansion.

Mr. TAYLOR. Oh, Mr. President, it would make quite a difference. I do not expect to be a candidate and live in either the old or the new mansion. Is the gentleman from Warren personally interested?

Mr. CHAPMAN. I am not interested, Mr. President, but I would answer that, Mr. President, by saying that if I were interested I think it would make little difference whether I lived down on the river front or up on the hill where they are going to build the new executive mansion.

MOTION TO READ BILLS THE FIRST TIME

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the Report of Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 1004.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, on behalf of the Committee on Conference, appointed to consider Senate Bill No. 1004, I beg to advise you that the report of the committee, signed by all of the members of the committee, which is a privileged report, is on the desks of the members of the Senate.

SUSPENSION OF RULE 21

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I move that Rule 21 which requires reports of conference committees to be noted on the Calendar, be in this case dispensed with, and that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the report of the conference committee to the foregoing bill.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The report was read as follows:

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 1004

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering Senate Bill No. 1004, entitled:

"An act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred forty-one; and providing for certain allocations from such appropriation by the Department of Public Assistance and also allocations to the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department."

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report

C. A. P. BARTLETT
FRANKLIN S. EDMONDS
EDWARD J. COLEMAN
(Committee on the part of the the Senate.)
LEO A. ACHTERMAN
FRANCIS X. McCLANAGHAN
ELLWOOD J. TURNER

(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-one and providing for certain allocations from such appropriation by the Department of Public Assistance and also allocations to the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The sum of six million two hundred fifty-three thousand six hundred dollars ($6,253,600) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated from the General Fund to the Department of Public Assistance for the payment of assistance administrative expenses and expenses of liquidating the State Emergency Relief Board as provided by the Public Assistance Law and for the payment of attorneys' fees and court costs necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the Department of Public Assistance for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-one

Section 2 Out of the moneys appropriated by section one of this act the Department of Public Assistance shall allocate funds from time to time for the several assistance programs (old age assistance aid to dependent children pensions for the blind general assistance and other programs provided by the Public Assistance Law) for administrative expenses of the several county boards of assistance for such administrative expenses incurred by the department which are chargeable to such boards and for the payment of attorneys' fees and court costs necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the department

Section 3 Out of the moneys appropriated by section one of this act there is hereby allocated to the Treasury Department the sum of sixty-six thousand dollars ($66,000) and to the Department of the Auditor General the sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) to pay the administrative expenses of said departments in auditing and disbursing the appropriation made by this act during the month of June one thousand nine hundred forty-one.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the report?

Mr. EDMONDS. May I say, Mr. President, with reference to this report, that the meeting with the conferees of the House was entirely satisfactory. We agreed on the total amount that the House had placed in the amendments, because they pointed out the amount which we had suggested, of eleven million dollars, seemed to imply the thought we would continue in session for two months and they were extremely anxious not to present that situation to their colleagues, so it was cut down to one month with the understanding a second appropriation bill of this nature will be considered if needed.

The House struck out section three of the bill and inserted as section three a provision which fixes a ceiling for the appropriation to the Treasury Department and the Auditor General. The ceiling is $66,000 for the Treasurer and for the Auditor General, $15,000, to pay expenses of their departments during the month of June in distributing this fund.

The State Treasurer elect, who was present, stated very frankly to us he will expect in the balance of the biennium merely $60,000 a month, but that the $6,000 additional was necessary to cover certain bills that had been contracted during the administration of his predecessor which related directly to relief, and consequently he would like to have those bills out of the red.

It seems to me a very satisfactory report and I take pleasure in moving its adoption.

Mr. RUTH. I second the motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the report?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—31

Barr,	Crowe,	Kephart,	Taylor,
Bartlett,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Thomas,
Becker,	Edmonds,	Mallery,	Wade,
Carr,	Farrell,	Miller,	Walker,
Chapman,	Geltz,	Ruth,	Watkins,
Coleman,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Wilson, H. I.,
Cox,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Wilson, T. B.,
Crider,	James,	Tallman,

NAYS—0

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, may I say on the part of the conferees there is a strong desire that if this report is approved by both the House and the Senate, it should be signed immediately and placed on the Governor's desk, so that appropriations which will be due June 1, may be paid.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 217 VETOED BY THE GOVERNOR

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 29, 1941.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 217, Printer's No. 108, entitled "An act requiring the Department of Welfare to notify the clerk of court and the county controller of all discharges or releases from institutions under its supervision."

This bill would require the Department of Welfare to notify the clerks of courts and the county controllers of discharges of persons from State institutions under its supervision.

I am advised that this information already is being furnished counties or county institution districts through the monthly billing put out by the Department of Revenue agents in each institution. However, as these billings are made only on a monthly basis, the reference to discharge or release is not made currently as the persons are actually discharged, but only as invoices are submitted to those agencies.

The Department of Welfare necessarily would have to set up a separate file of "committed cases" and employ additional personnel to check the records which originate within each institution in order to comply with the bill. Even if this function were delegated to each State institution, it could be carried out only at a substantial increased cost to the Commonwealth. Obviously, the possible benefit to the courts and county controllers would not offset the additional cost to the Commonwealth.

Moreover, the bill is poorly drawn. The title of the bill is at variance with the body of the bill in several particulars. The title refers to all discharges or releases, while the bill itself refers to persons discharged. The title refers to institutions under the supervision of the Department of Welfare, while the bill refers only to State institutions.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 217, just vetoed by the Governor, be laid on the table.

The SPEAKER (Elmer Kilroy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Donald McFall offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, thou hast said, "Call upon me in the day of trouble, and I will deliver thee, and thou shalt glorify me." In a penitent spirit we approach Thee today. On this Memorial Day, as we listen, as we march, as we decorate, as we bow our heads in prayer, make us conscious of the futility of war as a means to an end. Instead, our heavenly Father, help us to build friendship, to pluck the thorns of hatred and suspicion, and to plant roses of love and understanding, lest it be true that those who died on the field of battle shall have died in vain.

We beg of Thee, let Thy grace alight upon our land as we bring to memory Thy great mercies of old which have never failed. Forgive us our sins of omission and commission as we pray in the name of Thy Son. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 14, 1941.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania recognizing the duty of the Commonwealth to provide for its unfortunate blind citizens has provided for the payment to them of a pension; and

Whereas, The Federal Government contributes toward the care of blind persons but insists that moneys apportioned to any state for such purpose must and can only be contributed on a basis of the actual need of the blind; and

Whereas, This Commonwealth receives no part of Federal funds apportioned for blind persons because its system of assistance for the blind is on a liberal pension basis instead of the basis of actual need as required by the Federal Social Security Act; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House concur) That the Congress of the United States is hereby memorialized to amend the Social Security Law of the Federal Government by providing for the contribution of Federal funds for assistance to blind persons to states which provide for such assistance either on a basis of actual need or on a pension basis; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy hereof be transmitted to the President and Vice President of the United States, to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States and to the Senators and Representatives in the Congress of the United States from this Commonwealth.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. MARKS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. MARKS. Mr. Speaker, yesterday afternoon about five minutes to four, after I had voted against the recommendation of House Bill 849, I went to the rear of the House because I was feeling very badly. Not knowing there would be a long discussion on House Bill 849, I had to go to the hotel in a hurry. The House adjourned sometime around five o'clock, and by that time the House had reached a vote on Senate Bill 507 on which I am recorded as not having voted. I wish to state that the Berks County delegation had definitely decided to vote against the Wade Bill, and against the amendments offered by Mr. Achterman.

I ask that my remarks be spread upon the Legislative Journal because there was a definite understanding among the five members of the Berks County delegation we would not support the Wade Bill. I thank you.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MORAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, It is not often that I arise to address the House, but in this instance I must make a statement with respect to Memorial Day which all of us will so solemnly celebrate Friday, May 30.

Memorial Day found its origin in the patriotism of survivors who wished to memorialize their departed comrades of the battlefields. Down the years this has been observed as fitting and proper, but since the first Memorial Day, which years ago was called by most of us, Decoration Day, there has arisen another reason for the nation-wide celebration of this day in the United States.

This new reason has not been widely observed, but I believe it should be included along with the observance of the day by the military and naval authorities.

In peace and in war, labor, as we refer to those who are not executives in our tremendous industrial organization, always, year after year serve their nation as patriotically as any group. Often those who toil in offices, on farms, in factories and in mines are either exempt or are too old to perform military service. Many of these have felt that they too should have a part in the celebration of Memorial Day since without the industry to supply equipment to fight we never could put a man in the field or aboard ship.

Those who worked in industry to provide the sinews with which to fight take great pride in the fact that this nation of ours never lost a war. A considerable part of the credit for winning each of our wars rightfully belongs to the man who stands behind the man behind the gun.

This crisis in which we now find ourselves is no different from any other in which the United States has become involved. But this time, there is greater emphasis on labor's part than in the last two major wars that I can remember.

We all know there are divergent views between employers and the employees. We all know that this situation will probably always exist so long as we have our form of government, and as for me I hope that we shall always have this form of government, but that it shall not always be necessary to have intermittent industrial strife.

In this grave international emergency when all our cherished heritages of freedom, of liberty, of opportunity are at stake, there have been industrial dislocations unnecessarily caused by both the employers and by the employees.

It seems to me that this tremendous waste occasioned by these interruptions of production could have been avoided, not only in the interest of equitable consideration, but also as each side's contribution toward the saving of our democracy.

This is not the time, nor the place, to rattle skeletons of industrial strife, nor to attempt to fix the responsibility for the lost time.

We in Pennsylvania, are intelligent enough to realize that one of the many causes of the downfall of France was the ever widening differences between employers and the employees. Neither side wished to acknowledge that the other had a right to equitable treatment. The result was chaos when the crucial hour arrived. Men were not at their places, and the employers were negotiating with those whom they unfortunately thought would be their friends. What has happened to these appeasers now is well known. Both the employers and the employees have lost all they had accumulated in property and in savings,

We in the United States are not going to follow the ways of those who have been destroyed by a short-sightedness that finds its germination in greed, in inconsiderateness, and the unwillingness of either employers or employees to attempt to reconcile their differences without resorting to unnecessary stoppage of defense production.

No honest employe, or employer wishes that to befall our nation which now plagues business, industry and labor in some former industrial European nations.

I think there should be a period of discussing the claims of either side before any man leaves his place. I also think that no employer should refuse to consider the beliefs of his employees. Moreover, I believe that where there is genuine collective bargaining, there would be a period of mediation—a cooling-off period, as it has sometimes been called, during which each side could specifically state its case, leaving out factors which have nothing to do whatsoever with the demands, or the compromises of either side. In agreeing to negotiate for a period without first "going on the street" I think that both employees and employers can make a contribution toward our complete national security that will shake the knees of those dictators who would have us fight among ourselves and when we are divided, to administer the opiate of so-called security disguised as the "New Order," that in reality has become a new form of virtual slavery.

I know that the honest employees are as anxious to rid themselves of those who would cause unnecessary dissension and consequent disruption in defense-production, as are employers to avoid any break-down.

In this situation, it is all for one and one for all, or there will be confiscation and slavery for all of us.

BILLS ON THIRD READING NOT ON FILE

The SPEAKER. House Bill No. 1537, (Senate Bill No.

381), Printer's No. 360 and House Bill No. 1630, Printer's No. 806, bills on third reading, are not on file and will be passed over.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Mr. MELCHIORRE asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 1450, Printer's No. 561, on page 18, of today's calendar, bills on second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1450, entitled:

An Act requiring public utilities engaged in the transportation of passengers for hire in this Commonwealth, to charge only half-fare for all school children transported by such companies; imposing duties on the heads of certain schools in this Commonwealth; and imposing penalties.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MELCHIORRE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Public Utilities for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this motion because the bill we are considering is one that is very essential in the State of Pennsylvania, and inasmuch as the days of this session are now numbered, to recommit it to the Committee on Public Utilities means a delay of a week or more and may mean the loss and defeat of the bill. The bill which has been asked to be recommitted is to give reduced street car fares to school children. This bill may seem drastic in Pennsylvania, but it is interesting to note what they have done in other cities.

In 1936 I was successful in having this House pass a Resolution requesting the Pittsburgh Railways Company, of the City of Pittsburgh, and the Public Utility Commission to get together and secure for the school children of Pittsburgh a 25 cents Weekly School Pass. After a number of meetings that were held with the Pittsburgh Railway Company, I was successful in securing for these school children of Pittsburgh a 50 Cents Weekly School Pass.

This Pass is good between the hours of 7 o'clock in the morning and 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

A number of you may be interested in knowing just how this pass has worked out. The passes are sold at the schools. The average number of passes in any one year of the four years they have been used is 173,238. This means that the parents of the school children of the City of Pittsburgh have saved 33-1/3 cents a week, which makes an accumulated savings of $57,746—which, I might add, can buy a lot of shoes for the school kiddies of Pittsburgh.

Now this is not a loss to the Pittsburgh Railway Company, because it has been estimated by the Board of Education that the additional riders who are able to use the street cars, due to the cut in carefare, are around 41,000 riders per year. And, I might add, that in some cases this pass is used at noon for the kiddies to come home for lunch which makes an additional saving for the parents.

Let us now consider what they are doing outside of Pennsylvania, and I am going to use quotations direct from the letters received from the School Boards of the following cities:

Detroit, Michigan. School children, under 18 years of age, are entitled to a 6c rate of fare on buses as well as free transfers between street car and bus. The regular fare on street cars is 6c, the transfer from a street car to a bus cost 4c, and the bus fare is 10c.

San Francisco, California. Children purchase half fare tickets by presenting a blank signed by the principal of the school. Tickets are good on Saturdays and holidays up to 6 p. m. Regular fare is 5c.

Cincinnati, Ohio. 5c rate for pupils when on their way to and from school is in effect. Regular fare is 9c when tickets are purchased.

Los Angeles, California. Regular fare on the Los Angeles Railway is 7c, or 4 tokens for 25c. School children may purchase 40 ride tickets for $1.40, which is 3½c per ride.

Norfolk, Virginia. Regular transportation rate is 3 tokens for 25c. School tickets are purchased through schools for 24 rides for $1.00. Or, 4-1/6c per ride.

Salt Lake City, Utah. The Utah Light and Transit Company sell a book of 50 rides for $2.00 or 4c per ride. Regular fare is 3 rides for 25c.

Baltimore, Maryland. Baltimore Transit Company permits school children to ride for a 5c rate. Regular rate is 10c per ride.

New York, N. Y. Regular fare is 5c. A monthly school ticket is sold for $1.00 which is a little better than half fare.

Newark, N. J. The School Board furnishes transportation which is supplied the children free. The School Board pays 3c per school ticket which is good between the hours 8 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Cleveland, Ohio. School children, 12 years and under, may ride on any street car or bus by paying 1c to the conductor. Junior and senior high school children use a weekly pass costing 50c each. The regular fare for a single ride is 10c or 6 tickets for 50c.

Milwaukee, Wisconsin. A 50c street car pass is used by school children between the hours 7:30 a. m. and 5 p. m. daily and between 12 noon and 5:30 p. m. on Saturday. The Saturday arrangement is to give the children an opportunity to attend athletic events as well as going to the parks. The adult fare is $1.00 for a weekly pass.

Denver, Colorado. The regular street carfare in Denver is 10c and school children are permitted to ride for 5c during school hours.

St. Louis, Mo. The regular fare is 4 tokens for 35c. Children are sold tickets 10 rides for 70c. I might add that I lived in this town and it is politically controlled by the utilities.

Birmingham, Alabama. Regular street carfare is 7c. Children are supplied a book of tickets of 50 for $1.25.

Atlanta, Georgia. Here school children receive one-half fare.

Chicago, Illinois. School children receive one-half fare here, also.

Providence, Rhode Island. Regular fare 5 tokens for 35c and school children ride 10 tickets for 40c.

Now, in comparison with the quotations from the above letters, let me read to you from a letter received from the School Board of the City of Philadelphia, in the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

"The Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company has made no concessions in rates whatsoever with regard to fares for school children."

I think it is high time that if the Public Utility Commission of this State cannot within their jurisdiction take direct action with the Transportation Companies to secure such concessions for our school children, that it is up to this General Assembly to take drastic action and demand a reduction of fares. And—this will be done when this Bill passes both Houses and is signed by the Governor.

In every State concessions are made by the transportation company to school children and, I might add, that in every State the Utilities pay a school tax on their real estate that they do not pay in Pennsylvania. Certainly, in the millions of dollars they are saving by not paying their local real estate taxes for school purposes, they should be willing to give at least some assistance to our great educational system in Pennsylvania.

This move should have been made voluntarily by every street car company as well as every bus company without the necessity of an Act of Legislature. However, we have waited too long for them to become interested in our educational problem.

Let us show the people of Pennsylvania that at least the Members of this House are doing a little worrying over the future citizens of tomorrow—an put transportation within the reach of their pocketbooks.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOLLAND. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that this bill states that the Public Utility Commission may reduce the rates to school children?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman allow me to look at the bill?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw by request to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

Mr. Speaker, this bill provides that—

"All the public utilities now engaged in transportation of passengers for hire in this Commonwealth shall hereafter charge only half fares to all school children in using their facilities during such hours as the local school authorities shall designate."

Mr. Speaker, I do not want to debate the bill, but I do think it is important as far as this motion is concerned. I think all of us would like to see the school children get as low a rate as possible. I know in my own county on one line that I am familiar with, the line which runs from 69th Street to Media, they issue a book at lower rates, which I think a lot of companies do. But to say that they "shall", seems to me is unconstitutional. I do not think this bill would be constitutional, because we have a law providing for the regulation of utilities, the Public Utility Law. This would be taking property without due process of law. You cannot just say that a utility must cut a certain rate in half. In a rate-making proposition, that must be submitted to the Commission, it must hear the facts and upon those facts it must make its determination. When I first heard of the bill, I gave it very little consideration because I never thought it would even get out of Committee because of the unconstitutionality, as I see it, of the bill. Therefore, even if the bill should pass this House, I do not think it will get any place because of that fact.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Holland and Mr. Petrosky.

Messrs. Holland, Bentley and Yester asked for a verification of the roll. The roll was verified and was as follows:

BILL AND MESSAGE LAID ON TABLE

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the message from the Senate be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CORDIER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, nestled in the heart of Lackawanna county, adjacent to the fair city of Scranton, is the Borough of Dunmore. This borough is composed of a great number of decent thinking and decent living citizens. They have been unfortunately plagued in selecting to represent them on their school board a group of men who have mismanaged and misconducted and produced a financial mess in the affairs of that school district.

For some time both the Democratic and the Republican newspapers of Lackawanna County have exposed the conditions prevalent in the affairs of the Dunmore School Board. Pictures have been printed in the newspapers showing that among the purchases of equipment for the various schools was a pile of beer coils. Allegations have been made of misconduct, of bankruptcy and other mismanagement in the affairs of the Dunmore School Board. Now, because of these allegations and because of the printing of these things in the newspapers, a group of taxpayers of Dunmore requested the school board to allow them to conduct an impartial audit of the financial affairs of the Dunmore School District. This, they were refused. Accordingly, they went to the courts of Lackawanna County and secured a court order, issued by Judge Leach one week ago, in which the Court instructed the Dunmore School district to allow an impartial audit by a public accountant of the financial affairs of the school board. Immediately after this Court order was issued the directors of the Dunmore school district brought their body to the Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg, and appealed the Court order of Judge Leach on the basis of the fact that they were attempting to get an emergency grant from the Department of Public Instruction to carry on their affairs. This appeal to the Supreme Court will defeat the efforts of the taxpayers of Dunmore to secure a fair and impartial audit of their affairs. Accordingly, by this subterfuge the people have no way, except perhaps by a legislative investigation, of finding out what is wrong in the Dunmore School district. Accordingly, I have been requested and I intend to present a resolution to this House calling for a complete investigation of the affairs of that school district.

Mr. Speaker, I believe you may have on your desk a letter from these same school directors who welcome in that letter this impartial investigation. However, in that letter, I am informed by newspaper items in this morning's Scranton paper, if this investigation goes on, it will hamper the request of the Dunmore School District for this emergency grant. Accordingly, I have contacted

Dr. Haas the Superintendent of Public Instruction, who informed me he completed his investigation, insofar as the request for the emergency grant is concerned, over a week ago. There is no necessity for the books of Dunmore School District being in Harrisburg at this time. He did not request them and there is no need for them. In my opinion it is only an attempt at further stalling and an attempt to reduce the possibility of the taxpayers of Dunmore getting the truth insofar as the conduct of the members of their school district is concerned.

I say, Mr. Speaker, in presenting this resolution it is not conceived in politics. It is being presented for the simple reason of finding out the truth of what is happening in the affairs of the Dunmore school district.

Mr. Speaker, I ask the indulgence of the House while I read an editorial from the Scranton Tribune of May 28, which is headed "A Last Laugh." The editorial then goes on as follows:

"The decent citizens of the Borough of Dunmore are entitled to some measure of sympathy—in the fantastic situation into which they have been thrust by their own elected school directors.

'For weeks and weeks past a group of these citizens has been endeavoring to ascertain the true fiscal condition of their school district through an examination of the district's so-called public records. They have been rebuffed, refused and, in political parlance, given the "run around." Finally, reaching a point of distraction, they resorted to the courts to obtain a right which is inherently theirs and which in practically every other municipality would be granted without question.

"Now, after successfully establishing that right in one court they find they are subjected to further delay by reason of legal technicalities raised by their public servants through an appeal to the state's highest court. This may conceivably restrain the taxpayers another six months.

"Isn't it only natural in view of the ducking and dodging practiced by Dunmore's school directors to ask, What are they hiding?

"It is a known fact that the Dunmore school district under the political management which has been in control of it for many years back is a bankrupted wreck.

"It is also known that its affairs have been conducted in anything but a businesslike manner. Its present directors are forever attempting to explain away situations in which no well-regulated body would have become involved. In the past its former directors, have been hauled into court and fired from their positions. But even that has not cleaned up the dirty mess which is Dunmore's school management.

"It's a job for the decent citizens of the borough. That is why we say they have not been entirely blameless. They either elected, or by their negligence allowed to be elected, the motley crew which is now laughing up its collective sleeve at the very people whom it took an oath to serve.

"There is a chance for a last laugh. But it will come only if an intelligently-informed, united, decent citizenry goes to the polls in Dunmore."

I also desire to quote from the issue of the Scranton Tribune under date of May 28th as follows:

"Reports that Judge William R. Lewis will be requested to direct a Grand Jury investigation into the affairs of Dunmore School District were confirmed last night by Mrs. Genevieve Noone, secretary, Dunmore Taxpayers' Association.

"This climaxed a day of fast moving developments following the school board's appeal to the State Supreme Court from a mandamus writ authorizing accountants of the taxpayers' association to inspect the board's books.

"While the board rested behind a probable three-month respite before the appellate tribunal acts on its appeal, the taxpayers' leaders moved to force a showdown and decided to request the Grand Jury probe."

I desire at this time to also quote from the issue of the Scranton Times under date of May 29th the following article:

"The directors, in a statement issued last night, a copy of which has been sent to Speaker Elmer Kilroy, State House of Representatives, said, in part:

"As to Mr. Cordier's resolution in the Legislature we are forwarding a copy of this statement to Elmer Kilroy, Esq., Speaker of the House of Representatives at Harrisburg, with the request that it be read to that body at the same time as his resolution; that we hereby advise that body that we invite and welcome any impartial and non-political investigation made with a proper motive and will cooperate to the fullest with any such committee appointed'."

There were editorials in the Democratic newspapers of Scranton along the same vein, which I do not now have in my possession. Mr. Speaker, insofar as forestalling the granting of an emergency grant is concerned, I charge that it is a further subterfuge in the attempt to stop the people of Dunmore from getting the truth, because I am reliably informed that the same school district went many months ago to the Department of Public Instruction for an emergency grant and it was refused them because of the fact that they refused to accede to the requests and to the rules and regulations of the Department of Public Instruction. They continued to load up the school district with additional maintenance employes and further contributed to the cost of operation of that school district.

Mr. Speaker, it is not my intention to take up too much time of the House, but in presenting this resolution I respectfully urge that this is the court of last resort that the citizens of Dunmore have in their attempt to get at the truth of what is happening in the Dunmore School District. If the resolution that I present does not prevail the taxpayers of Lackawanna County may construe it as a further whitewash and as an aid to the subterfuge now resorted to in desperation by the Dunmore School Board who have violated by every form of trickery, chicanery and deceit the efforts of the taxpayers of Dunmore to learn the simple truth as to what this discredited school board has been doing.

Mr. Speaker, there is something rotten in Dunmore which the decent citizens are seeking to eradicate. They are looking with anxious eyes to this General Assembly to give them relief.

Mr. Speaker, I offer the resolution to which I referred.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be filed with the Clerk under the rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. KENEHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I ask the consent of the House to read an article appearing in the Scranton Tribune under the date of May 29th. The article is headed, "Dunmore's Board Welcomes Probe." The article goes on as follows:

Dunmore's majority school directors last night invited a legislative probe into their financial affairs and urged the investigation be expanded to include an inquiry into the activities of Rep. Robert Cordier, whom they charge with blocking their attempt to get a special state grant to pay Dunmore's teachers.

Representative Cordier yesterday at Harrisburg announced his intention to sponsor a resolution asking for a probe into "the entire matter" of the district's fiscal affairs. It followed Mrs. Genevieve Noone's announcement that the Dunmore Taxpayers' Association is considering a grand jury inquiry.

The directors, in a statement issued last night, a copy of which has been sent to Speaker Elmer Kilroy, State House of Representatives, said, in part:

Copy Sent to Kilroy

"As to Mr. Cordier's resolution in the Legislature we are forwarding a copy of this statement to Elmer Kilroy, Esq., Speaker of the House of Representatives at Harrisburg, with the request that it be read to that body at the same time as his resolution; that we hereby advise that body that we invite and welcome any impartial and non-political investigation made with a proper motive and will cooperate to the fullest with any such committee appointed; that we further request that the scope of any such inquiry be widened to include an investigation of the actions, motives and purposes of Representative Cordier in hindering the receipt of state funds for teachers salaries by a school district not located in his own Legislative district, and whether or not the same constitutes an effort on his part to make such financial aid a political issue."

Although they were quick to respond to Representative Cordier's attack, in which he characterized the board's appeal as "subterfuge to defeat the will of the court," the directors held continued silence concerning a grand jury investigation and the attempts of the taxpayers' association to inspect their books.

Charles Waters, Supreme Court prothonotary, yesterday was quoted as reporting that he received the board's appeal from President Judge Will Leach's mandamus writ by mail. However, Attorney George Morrow, taxpayers' counsel, has not received any formal notice of the action, it was learned.

Doesn't Need Records

Representative Cordier yesterday quoted Dr. Francis B. Haas, state superintendent of public instruction, as repeating his previous contention that his departure has no need of the Dunmore records, as claimed by the directors.

He also quoted Dr. Haas as saying that because of "happenings in Dunmore," the state department will move slowly in passing on the board's request for a $45,000 grant from the special $500,000 fund voted recently by the Legislature.

The board last night accused the legislator of blocking the board's first application last February and charged the department of public instruction with refusing to take action on the application upon Representative Cordier's request.

I request the Speaker to read the resolution.

QUESTION OF INQUIRY

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lackawanna will state his question of inquiry.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, what resolution is to be read to the House?

Mr. KENEHAN. Mr. Speaker, the resolution that was sent by the Dunmore School Board to the Speaker of the House.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Kenehan, a resolution presented by the Dunmore School Board is not read when presented. Such resolutions are referred to appropriate committees under the rules of the House.

Mr. KENEHAN. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my request.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CORDIER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I don't know whether all the Members of the House were listening to my previous remarks, but in them I stated specifically that the Speaker was in possession of a letter and a resolution sent by the Dunmore school district, and I presume, judging from the reports contained in the newspapers of Scranton, in that resolution they stated they welcomed an impartial investigation but that they thought the investigation would impair their request for an emergency grant from the Department of Public Instruction. Accordingly, I further stated that I contacted the Department of Public Instruction and Dr. Haas informed me that he was through with his investigation of the Dunmore school district insofar as the request for an emergency grant was concerned; that at no time did he request the Dunmore school district to bring their books and records to Harrisburg, so that this request for an investigation of the affairs of the Dunmore school district by a committee of the House will in no way stop or hinder their request for an emergency grant. All the people of Dunmore want to know is the simple truth as to what is happening in the affairs of the school district.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ELLWOOD B. WELSH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, a couple days ago the distinguished gentleman from Delaware, indicted one of the newspaper men at the bar of this House, and one of those who was appointed to represent that man stepped before the microphone in the middle of the House smoking a pipe. It seems to me from that point on I began to notice that the pipe smokers of the Democratic side were increasing. Only this morning we saw Mr. O'Mullen of Philadelphia and Mr. Boney walk into the House smoking pipes. Pipe smokers, of course, are old in this House. One of them was Mr. Turner, the gentleman from Delaware who occasionally indulges in pipe smoking. In the newspaper field we have Hi Andrews who always puzzled me by carrying a large cork around in his vest pocket. I never could determine what that cork was for until one day down at this very spot I noticed Mr. Andrews proceeded to clean his pipe and he started to take this cork out of his pocket. In this cork was a sharp instrument which he carried around for the purpose of keeping his pipe clean. We in Subsection 523, or whatever our number is in the rear of the House, are considerably troubled by one of the Members of the House smoking a corn cob pipe day after day. He comes before us puffing away on that pipe, and it seems to me we are well informed when we are told he buys his pipes wholesale. It happened however that this morning he came in here smoking an old briar pipe. The pipe itself was no prize.

In order that the gentleman may continue to enjoy smoking his pipe as he has in the past I take great pleasure, Mr. Speaker, this morning in presenting him with this pipe. It is a distinguished looking pipe inasmuch as it holds about three times the amount of tobacco that his present pipe holds. I hope, Mr. Speaker, this gentleman, Mr. McClanaghan of Philadelphia, will enjoy this pipe to the fullest extent.

It seems to me pipe smokers are doing a grave injustice to us cigarette smokers inasmuch as they are evading the tax, because every time we light up and smoke a cigarette, we are paying a portion of that extra two cents in taxes, but the pipe smoker does not do that. I want Mr. McClanaghan to have this pipe so that he may live long and play an important part in this House.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Welsh, a pipe is a pipe whether it is a gas pipe, a corn-cob pipe, or the turnpike.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McClanaghan. "Pipe up" now.

Mr. McCLANAGHAN. Mr. Speaker, it is with great pleasure that I accept this token from Mr. Welsh, and if he will move his chair out in the aisle and give me room I will be pleased to smoke the pipe.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. EARLY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Northampton will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. EARLY. Mr. Speaker, on page 1620 of the Legislative Journal, in considering House Bill 1157 I am recorded as "aye". I voted "no" on that bill and I would like to be so recorded.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. GRYSKEWICZ, from the Committee on Mines and Mining, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1462, entitled:

An Act to regulate the locating, drilling, casing, filling and abandoning of natural gas and petroleum wells on property underlaid with workable coal beds, having for its object the protection of life and property, by preventing intrusion of oil and gas therefrom into coal mines in territory containing workable coal beds and conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Mines and providing penalties.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. There are a number of communications in the Senate upon which the House must act when they are received. The Chair would request the members to remain until we adjourn.

If there is no objection the Chair will declare a recess for fifteen minutes.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, and address the House afterwards. I am willing to do so before recess or afterwards. I will leave it to the Chair to determine.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, strange to say the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, seems to be hungry and has suggested that perhaps some of the other Members also are hungry and that it would be a good idea to recess now and take up this interrogation later. It is satisfactory to me if the Chair wishes to do it in that way.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, the floor leader lives in Harrisburg and he can stay here all afternoon. I think we should go on.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Since the House is waiting for the Senate to act on the appropriation bill for relief, it is likely we will be here for some considerable length of time.

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the question of recess will have nothing to do with the time when we are likely to adjourn.

The SPEAKER. That is correct. The House must await the Senate's action on the relief bill.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, the excuse of the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, that Mr. Turner is hungry, I just cannot believe that because he does not look hungry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, you ought to see that fellow Baker eat.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to object to taking a recess now and suggest that we permit the minority leader to use that time to address the House. There is no use killing this time because somebody wants to eat. I think we ought to go ahead. If the minority floor leader wants to question the majority floor leader and then address the House, I think this is a good time to do it. Some of the Members here must go many miles to get home this afternoon.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman, we cannot adjourn until we receive certain communications from the Senate.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, whether or not he has a supply of popcorn downstairs for the Members.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, a supply of popcorn is not in my line.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware spoke with a great deal of authority yesterday, if I remember correctly, on the subject of popcorn and butter that was put on it.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is off again. He never gets things straight. That was cheese I was talking about.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, cheese is a form of butter. If the rodents didn't get the cheese, I think the gentleman from Delaware ought to give us popcorn, plain or otherwise.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the statement is still cheese.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, no matter how thin you slice it, it is still cheese.

Mr. WOLF. Mr. Speaker, you were talking about pipes a while ago, so I suggest we all pipe down while Mr. Turner and Mr. Kilroy eat their lunches.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Dauphin said he could make his statement either before or after the recess. If we are going to have a recess I thought this would be a convenient time to have it, and I thought we would all enjoy his statement much better after we have a little something in the boiler. That was my reason for suggesting it. If it inconveniences the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Huntley, to stay and have this recess, I don't know why it is he says he wants to go home—I don't think he is going any place when he does start out, and therefore he might as well stay here along with the rest of us.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Huntley, there is going to be a big parade in town tomorrow and he might as well stay and see it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HUNTLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I do not like to ask for unanimous consent to address the House. That is something I never did in my life before, so I do not think I will address the House. You all know what my opinion is. While we are taking this recess, the minority floor leader could be speaking and then we could get out earlier.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, while all this conversation is going on, we could have had the recess.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Go and eat. I don't care, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, if the minority floor leader would not detain the Senators, we probably could get them to work and get us through.

The SPEAKER. Is there a Senator in the House?

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED SENATE BILL NONCONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has nonconcurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate Bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 1004.

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance and providing for certain allocations therefrom for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-one and for the payment of assistance and expenses accrued or incurred prior to and remaining unpaid on May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-one

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House insist upon its amendments non-concurred in by the Senate.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WOODSIDE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask unanimous consent to address the House and at the same time to interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the gentleman from Monroe where in his budget he has listed the deficiency appropriations, and I call his particular attention to the deficiency appropriation bill which was passed by this House. The original amount was $4,900,000. That item is not accurate to the dollar, but it is somewhere in that neighborhood at the present time.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, we listed our deficiency appropriations the same as the Governor listed his: "As I have already explained, if an additional appropriation is necessary for this biennium, the amount will have to be taken from the $131,390,000." Perhaps we have used the same kind of twisting that the Governor used.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I am glad that the gentleman admits that he is twisted in the budget because I certainly know that he is. I am glad he is willing to admit it. I take it from the gentleman they have deliberately omitted that item from the budget in order to trick the public, and give as the excuse that the Governor did so in his budget, which, of course, is not true because it is in his budget.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I presume the interrogation is on?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, may I say that the Governor has not included it in his budget. I ask the gentleman to point out where the $6,300,000 is taken care of in their budget.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I am not talking about the $6,300,000.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I am, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I am talking about the deficiency appropriation of $4,900,000.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am speaking of the $6,300,000.

Mr. WOODSIDE. All right, Mr. Speaker, I am going to answer the gentleman on that in one minute, but before doing so I would like to know whether he has included the item of $2,150,000 postponed payment of Veterans' Bonds in his budget figures.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I believe, Mr. Speaker, it is possibly included in the $70,000,000 although I am not certain at the moment.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from Monroe able to tell me now whether that is included in the $70,000,000?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. No. Mr. Speaker, I haven't the figures.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I know it is not, but I would be glad to have the gentleman check the figures and find out for himself.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. May I ask, Mr. Speaker, whether those are the last borrowings?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, that is the item which was used along with a transfer to make up the $6,300,000, which was appropriated for relief in this biennium.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, then I can answer the gentleman we treated it in the same manner in which the Governor treated his last borrowings.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman make any reference to it in his remarks, either in the budget or in his remarks to this House?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, there is no reference to it except the reference I am now making, in the Governor's address to the House.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, that was totally ignored by the gentleman from Monroe in presenting his budget this week, was it not?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. That is not correct, Mr. Speaker. It was not totally ignored, it was treated in the same manner in which the Governor treated future borrowings.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman knows that it was an item which developed after the Governor's budget was given out.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, it was also an item that was anticipated or expected, otherwise I presume he would not have mentioned it in his budget message.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, he did make reference to it in his budget message.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, he made reference to possible future borrowings, yes.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Monroe did take into consideration, however, in arriving at the sum of $70,100,000 item, the transfer of that $6,300,000 appropriation?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I didn't get the question, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, let me go over the facts. We made an appropriation of $6,300,000 for relief to the end of this biennium. That was the last appropriation made this biennium for relief.

Of that amount $2,150,000 was realized from the postponed payments to the Veteran's fund, and the balance was realized by a transfer from the Motor Fund. Now, in arriving at that figure of $7,100,000 the gentleman from Monroe used the balance which was transferred from the Motor Fund, and he has that item set up in his budget, but the other item which is of equal importance, in the sum of $2,150,000, postponed payment to the Veterans he does not set up in his budget.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, we treated it in the same matter as the Governor treated it. In other words, there is no difference in the treatment of that particular fund or borrowing; we treated it the same.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, by "treating it the same" the gentleman means it is not in his budget, does he not?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, it is just as much in the budget as the Governor's.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, where is there any mention or any reference either in the gentleman's speech or in his budget to the item?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, in the same place that you will find it in the Governor's.

Mr. WOODSIDE. But, Mr. Speaker, the Governor made reference to that in his speech.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I know he did not.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, he made reference to the possibility.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I presume he contemplated it.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, he made mention of that contemplation. The budget of the gentleman from Monroe is supposed to be based on relief up to this time, is it not?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, we tried to count on the Governor to make the budget. To a large extent we left it up to him to point the way and we followed it.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, but the gentleman has totally ignored the $2,150,000 item in his budget, has he not?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I have not ignored it, Mr. Speaker. I treated it in the same manner which the Governor treated it.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman say the Governor ignored it?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Dauphin wishes to say that.

Mr. WOODSIDE. And, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Monroe ignored it, too.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, we treated it as something payable out of relief just as the Governor did.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, but the gentleman did not reduce the appropriation for relief?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Neither did the Governor, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, it was the Governor's recommendation which made that necessary.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. No, Mr. Speaker, it was not.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will refer to the Governor's speech, he will find there was an $11,000,000 cushion and in his speech he said the cushion may not be in existence at the time when the final appropriation would be made and therefore the appropriation for relief for the next biennium would have to be reduced. That is in the budget message.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, unfortunately the Governor did not state that. He just stated that the amount will have to be taken from the $131,390,000.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, isn't that saying it? There is one other thing—

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, may I supplement that by saying that that follows immediately after "I recommend that you make this appropriation of $131,390,000 for public assistance." The next sentence refers to it in the same place—

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is willing to admit now, I think, that there is not now available even under his budget the sum of $131,000,000 for relief, is that correct?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, in relation to relief our position is the same.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I did not ask the gentleman what his position was. I am asking him whether he admits that there is not now available $131,000,000 for relief.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, either under the Governor's budget or ours.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman realize that the actual amounts of revenue realized during this biennium have not equalled the estimates?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I do not have at the present moment the totals, although I have more or less figures indicating the receipts generally for the different tax subjects. If the gentleman is asking me whether I have the complete totals at the present moment, the answer is no.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has totally disregarded in his budget any shortage of revenues which existed during this biennium, has he not?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, we still don't know whether there is any shortage of revenues.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I can advise the gentleman that there is. He told me a month ago there is, and I can advise him now that there is. It is compatible with the figure which he gave us, only a little lower.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, was that at the time the gentleman from Dauphin denied there was going to be any such shortage?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I denied that there was going to be a 90 million dollar deficit.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman prepared to tell me what the deficit is now?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I can go into a discussion with the gentleman on that, and I will be glad to do so a little later on. The gentleman has totally disregarded it in his budget, has he not?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. No, Mr. Speaker, we have not disregarded it.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Monroe disregarded the shortage of revenue, did he not?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, we treated the entire problem the same as the Governor did on that subject.

Mr. WOODSIDE. In other words, after four months and within one week of the end of the biennium, the gentleman made no use of the information which everybody in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania had between the date when the budget was submitted by the Governor and the date when the gentleman submitted his so-called budget.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I assumed from the information which I received, and I think we received it on the floor of this House, as to the extraordinary efforts being made by, I believe, the Department of Revenue, at least some agency of the government, to collect every possible dollar, a more or less definite assurance that our thoughts in relation to a deficit were definitely wrong, and we would find out by the end of the biennium that we were in error. We received all those deficits in taxes from the minority and we treated them at one hundred per cent face value, that their party was going to do what they said they were going to do.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, there were never any remarks made in the entire session to the effect that the amount of revenue realized would equal the amount of the estimate. As a matter of fact the gentleman from Monroe knows that he and I argued that on the floor of the House in reference to the estimate, starting with the gasoline tax and all of the other taxes, and on down the list and pointed out that the total to be realized during this biennium would be less than the estimate, in other words there would be a deficiency in the amount. I argued that question with the gentleman from Monroe. I asked the gentleman what he used in making up his estimate of revenue.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I disagree with the gentleman.

Mr. WOODSIDE. That is all the interrogation I have, Mr. Speaker.

Last Monday night, less than one week before the end of the biennium, the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, presented to this House what the Democrats call, "their budget." One hundred and twelve days before the Governor had submitted to the Legislature his budgetary recommendations. The Democratic Party in submitting this so-called budget has exhibited a unique right about face.

Since the advent of the James Administration the New Deal Party had attacked the James Administration for not increasing taxes. During the 1939 Session the Governor was maligned because an additional tax burden was not imposed upon the people of Pennsylvania. During the Special Session of 1940, again the Democratic Party urged, in no uncertain terms, the imposition of additional taxes. The policy of the New Deal Party during the years 1939 and 1940 is so ably set forth by their Floor Leader in an address made before this House on May 9, 1940, that I desire to quote from it at considerable length.

"I think," said Mr. Cohen, "everything that I could have said has been said not only in this session but very peculiarly was said at the general session in 1939. At that time if you will refer to my comments and the comments of the minority on the general appropriation bill and the tax program as instituted by the James Administration, I pleaded with the membership of this House as their solemn duty and responsibility to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania . . . was to raise additional revenue, just as the problem today is the very same thing."

"At the 1939 session, the membership of this House had neither the originality or the desire to impose taxes. Today our problem is the same as it was in 1939, and today the only solution given by the majority is the same as that given in 1939. . . . I am thinking of the responsibility that you are taking off your own shoulders and placing upon the shoulders of the men who will be in this House in 1941, and I am thinking of the problems that the men who follow us will have to meet. I am thinking of the fact that when they come back in 1941, every available sum, every available security, every available penny, every available resource of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will have been placed in pawn."

Now listen to the Democratic solution in May of 1940.

"I say," continues Mr. Cohen, "that we have a solution, and a good solution. Let this session of the Legislature adjourn, let the Governor immediately issue a new call and include in that call all the necessary methods for the raising of revenues to save the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

When the Governor delivered his speech on February 3rd, the gentleman from Monroe gave his famous, "faith, hope and charity" speech, in which he ridiculed the Governor for submitting a budget based upon the hope of increased revenue, making impossible the balancing of the budget—a hope which the gentleman indicated was not justified.

When the tax bills were reported from Committee on February 10th, the position of the Democratic Party in the House was still consistent with their attitude in 1939 and 1940. When the bills were reported from Committee there was no indication and no intention on the part of the Committee, or on the part of the Democratic leaders of this House that those bills would be returned to the Committee after second reading.

The leadership of this House realized then, as they must now, that in order to have a balanced budget taxes could not be reduced and the mental hospitals could not be taken over. I believe they were making an effort to meet the situation fairly and honestly, and would have passed the tax bills during the month of February. If they had we would have long since adjourned this Session, much to the credit of all of us as Legislators, both Republicans and Democrats. But something happened in the Democratic Party between February 10th and February 12th. The apparent intent of the Democratic leadership of this House to solve our problems promptly and sincerely met with opposition from without. The tax bills were returned to Committee and nothing further was done with them for over three months.

During that time the New Deal about face was executed with the precision of Hitler's goose steppers. With it the talk of deficit abruptly ceased. What was but a few days before, a deficit, quickly turned into a surplus. The effort to meet the problems promptly and sincerely was abandoned. A program that was political and tricky was adopted. They realized that few people had any substantial knowledge concerning estimating revenue and by the simple device of making fictitious and fanciful estimates they increased appropriations, decreased taxes and transferred a deficit into a surplus; all on paper, of course—a typical New Deal method of financing, designed to upset the budget and ruin the finances of the Commonwealth with the hope that the chaos which it will create will be laid at the doorsteps of the present Administration.

I do not propose to make a detailed analysis of this budget at this time, but I assure you that it will be shot full of holes. However, in order that the Members of the Legislature and the people of Pennsylvania are not misled I deem it advisable at this time to point out that the actual receipts realized during this biennium will be approximately $382,500,000. If those same sources of revenue were maintained on the basis of the estimates made by the Democrats there would be $441,748,000 realized during the next biennium. This figure is demonstrated as follows:

$427,598,000	Democratic estimated income for the biennium;
$6,500,000	Deduction of income by taking over mental hospitals;
$6,900,000	Estimated loss of revenue by reduction of Personal Property Tax;
$750,000	Loss of revenue by reduction in bank taxes.

This represents an increase of $58,500,000 or 15% over actual revenues for this biennium. That this figure is fanciful seems evident on its face, but when it is considered that it includes license fees, hospital payments and a vast number of taxes which the Democrats themselves referred to as "static" we can appreciate how truly fantastic the estimate really is.

The books of the Commonwealth, for this biennium, have been closed this afternoon. I am advised by the Department of Revenue that the actual cash receipts fall approximately $5,500,000 below estimates revenue.

Although the gentleman from Monroe knew about this a month ago, no cognizance was taken of it in the preparation of his so-called "budget". To consider it would have made even more fantastic his estimates of revenue. But that is not all. The $5,500,000 shortage of revenues makes $5,500,000 less available for appropriations in the coming biennium. The Democratic "budget" conveniently forgets about this.

After spending two sessions urging additional taxes they now decide that taxes must be reduced, so they drop a $5,500,000 item into the hat and pull out a $6,900,000 reduction of Personal Property Tax. Well, if the magician could only make that $5,500,000 disappear but there it stands as plain as the nose on your face, and disregarding it will be of no avail.

We learned last night that the gentleman from Monroe is a very wise Democrat and an intelligent man, and I am not taking issue with that, but Solomon in all his wisdom, Houdini with all his magic, could not have made that $5,500,000 item disappear, and I doubt if the gentleman from Monroe will be able to do so.

There are other items which have been disregarded in the budget. The postponement of payment to Veterans Sinking Fund passed by this House, in order to provide necessary money to make the relief appropriation of $6,300,000 has been omitted. The deficiency appropriation of $4,900,000 passed by this House has been totally ignored. What a simple thing it is to reduce taxes, by failing to include items which must be paid.

There is much more to be said about this budget, including that it is likely between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 out of balance. I assure you that we will be pleased to discuss it in greater detail in the very near future.

The gentleman has raised some question about the reason he ignored some of these things. I think he has admitted on the floor of the House on interrogation that he has deliberately disregarded certain items. He must admit that that deliberate disregard of those particular items shows a false picture to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I appreciate the fact that he did not know and could not have ascertained exactly what the shortage of revenue would be, but I do recall that he on the floor of the House suggested that it was in the neighborhood of six million, or maybe in the neighborhood of eleven million dollars, by adding five million dollars to it. The gentleman was arguing at that time that there wasn't really going to be a deficit, and when it was in accord with their policy to recognize it, they did so, but as soon as it developed to be unwise to carry out their program of fooling the people they ignore it. Now, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman says that the $6,300,000 is not in the Governor's budget, and since the Governor disregarded it, he was entitled to disregard it. Did you ever hear of anything more ridiculous than that. On February 3rd, the Governor came before this Legislature and he said, "I think you should make a $14,500,000 appropriation for relief," and then the Governor shows how the money should be raised. Then he said, "It is impossible to say whether there will be an additional amount necessary but there likely will be." Now, of course, there is nothing in the budget about the $6,300,000 because it was something at that time that was in doubt. There was no knowledge as to how much it should be or how the money should be raised. The gentleman has ignored the whole business, although there were two bills, one making the transfer from the Motor Fund and one making the postponement of payment to the Veterans' Fund, but both were passed by this House at the same time and on the same day, and both of them should have gone in the budget. He puts one of them in and the other one he does not put in. I think the gentleman just forgot it. I won't say he did it deliberately, but I think he forgot it. His budget contained items of that kind which were forgotten and as a result of that his budget is definitely misleading to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and does not represent the true situation as it existed on the day when it was submitted to this Legislature, and as the gentleman knew, or should have known, did exist on that day. Then he tries to refute that on the ground that the Governor did not know on February 3rd how much money will be necessary for relief for the balance of the biennium, and so frankly stated to this Legislature in his message.

Now, Mr. Speaker, let us talk about the $4,900,000. That is an approximate sum, it is not the exact sum, but it is close to that amount.

That is another item that the gentleman just totally disregarded. It is not in his budget, he just dismissed it. Yet, he submits that budget after 112 days of studying the Governor's budget, but he does not bring his own budget up to date, and he even disregards some of the items which were in the Governor's budget, items of a substantial amount, and disregarded those items entirely, throwing them out of the picture. Then he said, "We got plenty of money, we are going to up the estimate of revenue to an amount which is fantastic, and we are going to reduce taxes." Anyone can reduce taxes by ignoring items that have to be paid and say it is not necessary to have those items in the budget, merely forgetting to put them in and forgetting to make any reference to them.

Mr. Speaker, as I stated, there are a lot of other things to be said about this budget but I think I have pointed out enough. The gentleman on the other side has frankly admitted on the floor of this House that his budget does not represent the true picture as of the date when it was submitted to this Legislature.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, seems to be greatly concerned over the fact that we have treated certain borrowings by the Governor in the same manner in which the Governor has treated them. I for the life of me cannot understand why exception should be taken to our method of proceeding. If that method of procedure could be used by the Governor why should it not be available to our party? May I call to the attention of the Members of the House once again the method utilized by the Governor of Pennsylvania? He made a great fanfare and stated, "I recommend that you make this appropriation of $131,390,000 for public assistance." Then almost in the same breath he says, "However, if there are deficiencies I recommend that the amount be taken from $131,390,000 mentioned above." I presume he excuses that by somewhere prior to that time having mentioned an $11,000,000 cushion, although the $11,000,000 was then added to the relief.

What is wrong, Mr. Speaker, if the Governor was permitted to do that if we also follow in the same vein and the same pattern laid down by the Governor? It is very true we have made no mention of certain borrowings from the Veteran's Fund, or rather the postponement of certain payments to the Sinking Fund. Neither has the Governor. They both are in the same category. There is no difference between the two. However, we did one thing the Governor did not do. The funds that he borrowed at the same time, which he was going to take from one particular fund, that is from this $131,000,000 to pay back the funds that he had transferred, that is from the Motor License Fund and the other funds. We treated in another manner. We did not take it from the items that the Governor named, but we took it from other items to be received, from general revenues to be received, the payments to be covered, nevertheless, under our budget just the same as under the Governor's, except that he treated it as a nebulous fund which he was taking from the Relief Fund. It does not make a great deal of difference if we take the deficiency that the gentleman mentioned and substitute for it the other, and anticipated that payment should be made in the same manner. The total sums, Mr. Speaker, are approximately the same, so that our borrowings, or shall I say the payments, from the $131,300,000 fund are the same type and the same amount of payments that are anticipated by the Governor in his message. Are we to be condemned because in balancing our budget, the budget that we submitted, we used the same identical method used by the Governor in his message to this House? I have at no time, Mr. Speaker, condemned the Governor for it. If condemnation is to be heaped upon anyone since the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside spoke of ours as a proposed budget, the condemnation in a greater manner should be heaped upon the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania and it should come from the mouth of the minority leader of this House.

Now Mr. Speaker, the gentleman says that we have underestimated the receipts. May I say just briefly, without a complete analysis, we have been modest in our estimates. May I point out just a few items, not in an effort to give a complete story, but to indicate that we have been conservative? May I point out for instance that the receipts in the domestic bonus tax have been two hundred and twenty-six thousand dollars plus in this biennium, and that is not the complete figure. We left the Governor's estimate undistributed at two hundred twenty-five thousand dollars.

May I point out Mr. Speaker that the Loans Tax, the Corporations Domestic has yielded five million four hundred and nineteen thousand dollars in this biennium, and those figures are not complete, although the Governor in his estimate for the coming biennium has only indicated an estimate of receipts of five million two hundred fifty thousand dollars, some several hundred thousand dollars less. Do you believe that is fair to the Commonwealth? Do you believe in that method of procedure of continuing to tax the people, although the experience of the present time has indicated that the receipts from taxes are in excess in this biennium of his estimates for the coming biennium? Would it not be more fair to the people of Pennsylvania to place his figures somewhere in relation to his receipts so that if a tax reduction were possible that they would receive it?

May I point out another figure in relation to the loan tax for counties, where his receipts are four million six hundred and forty-one thousand dollars, although his estimate for the coming biennium was one million and one half dollars less, or the sum of three million one hundred thousand dollars. We in our estimates have even underestimated the amount of receipts. Have we been proceeding incorrectly or have we moving conservatively? Moving conservatively, Mr. Speaker, but still able to show and still able to produce a very comfortable saving to the taxpayers of Pennsylvania, a saving that can be realized and will be realized in a two fold manner. First, by taking over the necessary and essential governmental functions which of course will relieve and release the local taxpayers from the expense thereof. Secondly, in a direct reduction in taxes.

I might say, Mr. Speaker, I do not intend at this time to go through all the figures and analyze the results or the methods by which we arrived at our figures. I have only pointed out certain facts in connection with just a few phases, but I am saying that the receipts, with the thought of the amount of increased business that is apparent and the consequent increased tax, that we have been more than conservative in our estimates and that there is nothing fantastic about the manner in which we have arrived at our results.

Perhaps, Mr. Speaker, the thing that is difficult for the Republican administration to realize is that the increase of business in Pennsylvania, the increase of business in the United States, the tremendous upsurge, is something that is difficult to imagine or to understand. The tremendous sum that is being pumped into every industry in Pennsylvania and in the nation as the result of national defense deserves and must receive very careful consideration by the administration. They have, Mr. Speaker, totally disregarded this, disregarded it to the point of where they are now estimating for the coming biennium certain taxes at an amount less than they received in this biennium now closing.

Mr. Speaker, I am saying that no administration can maintain that they are treating the people fairly and honestly as long as they maintain a budget that is so uncertain and so untrue. The people of Pennsylvania have a right to expect this administration to see that the figures are reasonably accurate and that the estimates are at least as reasonably true as all of the circumstances warrant. That means, Mr. Speaker, that this administration must take into consideration the upsurge of business, the effect of the defense program, and they must compute their figures and budget with that thought in mind, and that, I say, Mr. Speaker, is what the Democratic Party will insist on.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. CORDIER. RESOLUTION NO. 98.

In the House of Representatives, May 29, 1941.

Whereas, It has been alleged that gross irregularities, mismanagement and misuse of public funds exist in the conduct of the affairs of Dunmore School District in Lackawanna County; and

Whereas, The citizens of the borough of Dunmore have for some time vainly attempted to secure from the board of school directors a statement of the affairs of the district; and to obtain an impartial audit by qualified public accountants employed by such citizens; but every such effort has been met with subterfuge and technicalities to block an honest audit and an accurate report of the condition of the school district; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a special committee of five members to make immediate inquiry and investigation into the affairs of the Dunmore School District, and to compel the production by the officials of the school district of all their books, records and papers to facilitate the making of a proper audit; and be it further

Resolved, That said special committee shall have the power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoena may be served upon any person, and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall willfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTION NO. 99.

In the House of Representatives, May 29, 1941.

The State highway, known as U. S. Route No. 22, from Harrisburg to Easton is used as one of the main arteries of travel between the eastern and western ends of the Commonwealth. It has, ever since its improvement a few years ago, taken a ceaseless stream of traffic during every hour of each period of twenty-four hours.

Since the establishment of the Federal cantonment at Indiantown Gap, one mile north of this highway, it has become of tremendous military importance, for the movement of troops and munitions.

The present improved two lane roadway of Route 22 has for some time been wholly inadequate, and is becoming increasingly more so. A three or four lane highway over this route has become an imperative necessity; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby urge upon the Governor and the Department of Highways the pressing need for the immediate construction of one or two additional lanes on U. S. Highway Route No. 22, between the cities of Harrisburg and Easton, and for the relocation of the roadway wherever the widening is, for any reason, impractical or impossible; and requests that the project of widening this highway be at once undertaken for the safety and convenience of the people of this Commonwealth, the furtherance of its commercial progress, and to aid in speeding up the National program for defense; and be it Resolved, That certified copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk to the Governor and to the Secretary of Highways.

Referred to the Committee on Highways.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has adopted the report of the Committee of Conference on the subject of the difference existing between the two Houses on House Senate Bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 1004.

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-one and providing for certain allocations from such appropriation by the Department of Public Assistance and also allocations to the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 1004

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up the Report of the Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 1004, Printer's No. 384.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering Senate Bill No. 1004, entitled:

"An act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred forty-one; and providing for certain allocations from such appropriation by the Department of Public Assistance and also allocations to the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department"

Respectfully submit the following bill as our report

C. A. P. BARTLETT
FRANKLIN S. EDMONDS
EDWARD J. COLEMAN
(Committee on the Part of the Senate)
LEO A. ACHTERMAN
FRANCIS X. McCLANAGHAN
ELLWOOD J. TURNER
(Committee on the Part of the House of Representatives.)

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Public Assistance for the purpose of carrying out the Public Assistance Law for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-one and providing for certain allocations from such appropriation by the Department of Public Assistance and also allocations to the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The sum of six million two hundred fifty-three thousand six hundred dollars ($6,253,600) or as much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated from the General Fund to the Department of Public Assistance for the payment of assistance administrative expenses and expenses of liquidating the State Emergency Relief Board as provided by the Public Assistance Law and for the payment of attorneys' fees and court costs necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the Department of Public Assistance for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred forty-one

Section 2 Out of the moneys appropriated by section one of this act the Department of Public Assistance shall allocate funds from time to time for the several assistance programs (old age assistance aid to dependent children pensions for the blind general assistance and other programs provided by the Public Assistance Law) for administrative expenses of the several county boards of assistance for such administrative expenses incurred by the department which are chargeable to such boards and for the payment of attorneys' fees and court costs necessary for the proper conduct of the work of the department

Section 3 Out of the moneys appropriated by section one of this act there is hereby allocated to the Treasury Department the sum of sixty-six thousand dollars ($66,000) and to the Department of the Auditor General the sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) to pay the administrative expenses of said departments in auditing and disbursing the appropriation made by this act during the month of June one thousand nine hundred forty-one

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, as one of the conferees on this report, I agreed to the inclusion of the sum of $6,253,600 for the month of June, with the assurance of the majority leader, Mr. Achterman, that no advantage would be taken of the Governor, so that he might have the full time of thirty days to act upon the appropriation bills and in the event this session should not adjourn in time that this amount would be sufficient to carry us through, and allow the Governor sufficient time, he would be willing that sufficient time be given.

The gentleman from Monroe said he had no desire or disposition to hamstring the Governor in any way on that proposition and therefore we are agreeable to this amount.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to concur in the remarks of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner. It is not the desire of the Democratic Members of this House to prevent the Governor from having the usual and legal amount of time for the consideration of bills passed by this House before he signs them.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Our gracious Heavenly Father, we bow before Thy Throne of Grace. We return thanks unto Thee that Thou hast given us the privilege of living in a land where there is freedom, a land where there is plenty for all and room for all to live.

We thank Thee for those whom we have had in remembrance in the past few days, who made this land for us and gave it to us as a great heritage, and may our hearts ever be thankful unto them for what they have done.

We would ask, of God, that in these troublous times all our hearts might turn to Thee for guidance, for Thou alone, O God, canst lead us through the dark days that seem to lie ahead.

Grant, O God, unto each American, a spirit of willingness to serve and sacrifice, that Thy will may be accomplished in the preservation of our Nation; grant and give us the legislative wisdom, understanding, and willingness to do that thing which seemeth right at all times.

COMMUNICATION FROM PENNSYLVANIA MOTOR TRUCK ASSOCIATION

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is in receipt of a communication from the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, dated June 2, 1941, which will be spread upon the Journal.

Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association
Incorporated
711 Telegraph Building, Harrisburg, Pa.

June 2, 1941.

Honorable Samuel S. Lewis
Lieutenant-Governor
State Capitol
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

"Governor O'Connor, of Maryland, signed a modern highway transportation bill last week, on the recommendation of the Maryland Roads Commission, increasing the gross weight limit of tractor-trailers in Maryland from 42,000 to 50,000 pounds and the single-axle limit from 20,000 to 22,400 pounds.

"The Highway Committee of your honorable body last week reported out a truck regulating bill with amendments to increase Pennsylvania's gross limit for tractor-trailers from 39,000 to 42,000 pounds and the single-axle limit from 18,000 to 19,000 pounds. The bill, as amended, has passed first reading in the Senate.

"The trucking industry of Pennsylvania requested and the House of Representatives passed by an overwhelming non-partisan vote legislation for a 50,000-pound gross maximum for tractor-trailers and a 22,400-pound single-axle limit, in order to place Pennsylvania shippers and truckers on a more equitable competitive basis with neighboring states. New York permits a 58,000-pound gross maximum on tractor-trailers and a 22,400-pound single-axle load. New Jersey permits 60,000 pounds gross on a tractor-trailer and has no single-axle load restrictions. West Virginia allows 66,000 pounds on a tractor-trailer and 22,000 on a single axle.

"In view of Maryland's action, which was the result of a detailed engineering study by state officials, Pennsylvania is hemmed in now by states which have liberalized their motor transportation laws. There is a veritable Chinese wall around Pennsylvania to keep out trade.

"It doesn't take a prophet to see that if this situation is permitted to continue, if the modest requests of the truckers of this State are not granted, that manufacturers will find it advantageous to locate their factories below the Mason-Dixon line, because of the lower distribution costs afforded by the laws of Maryland, as compared with those of Pennsylvania.

"If our public officials can not see the importance of this problem now and the urgent need for chopping down Pennsylvania's trade barrier, especially in view of the President's proclamation that a national emergency exists, then Pennsylvania's position as the "workshop of the nation" and the "arsenal of America" will be seriously jeopardized.

Respectfully,

(Signed) EDWARD GOGOLIN,
General Manager."

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, by request I read in place and presented to the Chair a bill which might be known as the Youth Corrective Authority. This is a very important matter, and while I am not so optimistic as to think that the bill might pass at this session of the Legislature, the matter is of such importance that it will give to the members of the Legislature an opportunity to study its provisions and to suggest any improvements, and we are hopeful, at least, that we can do something along this line at the next session of the Legislature.

Mr. COLEMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read:

In the Senate, June 2, 1941.

Whereas, the Members of the Senate were royally entertained at a Plank Shad Dinner with all the trimmings by the Honorable Samuel S. Lewis on last Tuesday, and

Whereas, the dinner brought many of the leaders of both parties, fraternizing with each other in a fashion symbolic of national unity, and

Whereas, legislative duties and politics were taboo, and the only "motion" approved by the presiding officer of the Senate was the one in which the Members of the Senate and guests dug into the delectable meal, and

Whereas, it was not necessary for the Lieutenant Governor to give us a dinner to impress upon us the fact that he is one of the grandest fellows in the Commonwealth, and

Whereas, the only vote recorded on the occasion was the one in which the Members of the Senate voted 50 to nothing on the "motion" that our presiding officer is a "great guy", be it

Resolved, that the Senate expresses its sincere thanks to the Honorable Samuel S. Lewis for a great day, and be it further Resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to the aforementioned Mr. Lewis as a memorandum of the esteem in which he is held by the Members of the Senate.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Mr. President, this bill is one that I reluctantly must vote against, and I feel before I cast my vote I should say a few words to justify my position as I see it.

In my opinion, this bill, relating to assessments for the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth class counties, should not be enacted by the Legislature for the following reasons:

First. All it does is to provide for the appointment by the County Commissioners, sitting as a Board of revision of taxes to appoint a Chief Assessor, see Article 4, Section 401, page 11.

Second. It also provides for the appointment by the Board of an assistant to the Chief Assessor. See Sections 402 and 404.

Third. The offices of Chief Assessor and Assistant Assessors is in addition to the regular elected Assessors in each District as at present. See Article 5.

Fourth. No qualifications for Chief Assessors and Assistants are provided for.

Fifth. No duties are required of the Chief Assessor which are not already done by the County Commissioners.

Sixth. It would greatly increase the cost of making real estate assessments and would not better the procedure in any way. I am of the opinion that it was prepared and introduced to off-set Senate Bill No. 245.

I also want to call to your attention to the fact that the assessment laws were codified in 1933. It seems to me the time which has elapsed since the codification of the assessment laws is not sufficient to warrant such a condition as this. This is a large bill, a thirty-nine page bill, and when all is said and done, it merely helps the commissioners to have their duties done by somebody they appoint. Now, it is not necessary to take up the time of this Senate, as I assume every Senator has read it over and knows what is behind it and how he intends to vote on it, but I cannot subscribe to the additional costs on the counties when the county commissioners will actually be back of the assessments and have these assessors do the work for them.

Another thing, Mr. President, I do not think the county commissioners in these classes of counties have nearly the amount of work to do which they have done in the past, and I feel I am in a position to know.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Jefferson.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Jefferson permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. MALLERY. Do I take it, Mr. President, the gentleman takes the stand that there can be no improvement in our present assessment laws?

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. No indeed, Mr. President; I take the stand it is possible to improve them, but I wish to explain this fact, I feel that an honest effort has been made in this bill to try to improve it, but from my experience and my training I cannot subscribe to this kind of a solution of the problem, because I do not think it does solve it. I think the effort is all right and all that has been done has been commendable, but in the last analysis it puts the responsibility right back where it was before, with the county commissioners.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, the bill has been on the Calendar for possibly a month. Does the gentleman from Jefferson have any suggestions in mind to improve the bill?

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. No, Mr. President, not at the present time, because I was not called in upon it and it is a very big question. For all the years of my training, for forty-eight years, there has been more or less dissatisfaction on the question of assessments. It is a very big question, but when you come to this bill it says it must be assessed at its actual value, and what is the actual value of land today in such rural counties is in my opinion a very debatable question, and it is too convenient, and the county commissioners have so found it, and would like to put the responsibility upon somebody else whom they appoint and possibly control.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, one of the points to which the gentleman from Jefferson objects, or the reason for his opposition to the bill, is that this bill is in some respects similar to a bill that is sponsored by the State Association of County Commissioners?

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. I did not offer that part of it as a reason for being against the bill. I offered that part of it to show why this bill had been introduced. Senate Bill No. 245, as I remember it, provides that there shall be no elected assessors and as I understand it—I have an analysis here but I do not wish to go into that unless it is necessary—I simply say that this particular bill we are considering now was probably drawn up or brought about or put into its present form to offset Senate Bill No. 245. I might be wrong about that.

Mr. MALLERY. Has the Senator from Jefferson read both bills that have been referred to?

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Mr. President, I have only read the pink bill slightly. I have not had time to read all of it so that I could discuss it. I can tell the gentleman what my analysis is by reading the analysis.

Mr. MALLERY. Is the Senator aware that both bills provide for the appointment by the county commissioners of a chief assessor and as many assistants as they, the commissioners, deem will be necessary.

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Yes, Mr. President, I realize that and I do not say either of them is a good bill. I think of the two, if I were inclined to make a choice, the bill we are now voting on would be my choice, Senate Bill No. 529; I will say that.

Mr. MALLERY. Is the Senator opposed to allowing the people who elect county commissioners and state senators and governors—is he opposed to allowing those same people to electing assessors? Does he object to that feature of this bill?

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Mr. President, there are some people object to it; I do not know that I do. I think that if they appoint them they have the power behind the throne, and I believe they should do that work themselves. I do not believe anybody that they could appoint would be likely to go very far contrary to the ideas of the commissioners themselves.

Besides that, Mr. President, anybody who has been elected a county commissioner and who has served in that capacity and has had the responsibilities they have had to assume, I feel should continue to assume those responsibilities until after we get through some of this trouble that is immediately ahead of us with respect to real estate values which are going to change very greatly; in fact, all other kinds of values will change, and I feel right now is not the time to create a new board and create a new expense just to find out how much the value of real estate is going to be in a district, when we have been doing that for years and years, and while it has been unsatisfactory to a certain extent, it will be no more satisfactory, because there is no real vital difference in the methods. We cannot just simply hire somebody to do the work which should be done by the county commissioners themselves.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I have not heard anyone during the time this bill has been on the Calendar state that he did not believe that there should be something done to bring about more uniformity in assessments. I think everyone will agree that in every county in the state, from fifth class counties down to and including eighth class counties, there is a great deal that can be done to bring about uniformity in assessments.

I want especially to call the attention of the Senator to this fact and ask him if the same condition does not exist in his county; I will speak of my own county, Mr. President, because I know of conditions that exist there. In my own county we have boroughs where the property will be assessed at thirty-five per cent of its real value; then we have other townships or other boroughs where the property in those townships or boroughs will be assessed at forty-five per cent of its real value, and then in Altoona the property will be assessed at seventy-five or eighty per cent of its real value. That means that certain localities in our county are not paying their just share of taxation.

Now, Mr. President, this bill was conceived by the county commissioners to remedy that very thing. That is the reason why the county commissioners suggest that we have a chief assessor, who would keep in close contact and in close touch with what the assessors were doing, and then it would be the duty of the chief assessor to recommend to the Board of Commissioners, who will still sit as a Board of Appeal, that all property be assessed at the same proportion of its real value.

Mr. President, the only difference between the county commissioner's bill and this bill is that the county commissioners feel—and I do not say they are not right—they feel that in order to have a proper assessment they must have the power of appointing the assessors. That we think is too much of a change at one time. I believe that the people who elect county commissioners, the same people that elect State Senators and members of the House and the Governor, still have and should continue to have the right to appoint the assessors.

I also want to call the gentleman's attention to a resolution that was unanimously adopted by the county treasurers when they met here a few weeks ago in a state convention. They passed this resolution:

"Resolved, That the County Treasurers go on record as opposed to any and all legislation introduced in the present Legislature, which tends to remove or take away the privileges or rights, now enjoyed by the people in the various counties in the election of or voting for, all officials now elected by the people."

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 748, (House Bill No. 218), on final passage, entitled:

An Act to further amend section three and to amend section eight of the act, approved the seventeenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 224), entitled "An act preventing the manufacture, sale and transportation within the Commonwealth of adulterated or misbranded Paris greens, lead arsenates lime-sulphur compounds and other insecticides and fungicides and regulating traffic therein, providing for inspection of such materials and imposing penalties," by imposing additional duties on the Secretary of Agriculture and further regulating the sale, possession for sale and manufacture of insecticides and fungicides go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 818, (House Bill No. 1324), on final passage, entitled:

An Act to further amend section thirty-two of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1278), entitled "An act relating to counties of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes; and revising, amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto," further providing for ascertaining the change of classification of counties.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 904, (House Bill No. 1543), entitled:

An Act providing a method for supplying perfecting and recording birth records of certain persons whose births have not heretofore been made a public record or whose record of birth is incomplete or incorrect making such records competent legal evidence prescribing fees and imposing certain duties upon the orphans' court.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I have an amendment I intend to offer to this bill and I wonder if it would meet with the approval of the gentleman from Allegheny to have this amendment incorporated in this bill.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I was about to request that Senate Bill No. 904 be placed on the postponed calendar so that the amendment could be discussed and agreed to and I would suggest to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, that he withhold his amendment and see if we can not work out satisfactory amendments together.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I do not want to see the bill placed on the postponed calendar, as I feel when a bill is placed on the postponed calendar it has one foot in the grave, you see, and I want to keep it alive. I have no objections to the proposal of the gentleman from Allegheny, but I would like first to incorporate my amendment because I spent quite a long time in preparing this amendment and I believe it will add steel to this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Of course, the gentleman from Philadelphia understands it would be necessary for the Senate to reconsider the vote by which this bill passed third reading.

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 904 (HOUSE BILL No. 1543)

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 904 (House Bill No. 1543) passed third reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I voted "aye".

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I voted "aye".

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

The PRESIDENT. What is the desire of the gentleman from Allegheny?

Mr. GELTZ. As I understand it, Mr. President, no action has yet been taken on the amendment of the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. GELTZ. Then, Mr. President, I have no objection to the motion I anticipate the Senator will next make.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, since the vote has been reconsidered, I now ask unanimous consent to offer amendments.

Amend title, page 1, line 6 of title, by inserting after the word "duties" the following; "and powers"; amend Sec. 2, page 4, line 14, by inserting after the word "record" the following: "The orphans' court may, at its discretion, appoint a special master to hear testimony in all matters before it under the terms and provisions of this act, and such special master shall make appropriate recommendations to the orphans' court in all cases heard by him."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STIEFEL. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, what is the purpose of relieving the Orphans Court of the duty of hearing this matter themselves?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, out of sixty-seven counties of this Commonwealth, we have about fifty counties which have no Orphans Court at all the Common Pleas Court is sitting sometimes as an Orphans Court, and in seventeen counties we have separate Orphans Courts.

In cities of the first class and other large cities in the Commonwealth, there will be an influx of applications which will demand immediate action, and I believe that immediate action is of essence to help those people who need birth certificates, and in order to expedite this matter and accelerate disposal of the cases, I have inserted an amendment to have a special master who will handle these cases and in that way help the Orphans Court to render decision as soon as possible.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, what is the matter with the Orphans Court hearing the matters themselves and rendering decisions?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, it is estimated about fifteen thousand people in Philadelphia are in need of birth certificates. Now, if you, can imagine the work which is connected with hearing cases of this kind, in the light of so many applications, I will feel sure you can readily understand it will be impossible for the Orphans Court to cope with a situation of this kind.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, how are the masters to be paid?

Mr. STIEFEL. Well, Mr. President, there is money.

which is going to be accumulated from the fee of two dollars and fifty cents which is to be paid and the Orphans Court will probably pay out of this money the master's fee.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, has the experience of the gentleman from Philadelphia been that having a master appointed has hurried a decision in litigation on matters before either the Orphans Court or courts of equity of the Commonwealth?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, in answer to the inquiry of the Senator from McKean, there is going to be one master who is going to attend to all cases.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. In most counties of the Commonwealth, Mr. President, the Orphans Court judge could decide these matters and then be fishing half the month.

Mr. STIEFEL. Well, Mr. President, there is a provision in this amendment it is at their discretion. That means it is not necessary for an Orphans Court judge to appoint a master. It is only where there will be an avalanche of applications upon the court.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. What is the matter with the Orphans Courts themselves doing it? They draw salaries.

Mr. STIEFEL. It is optional, Mr. President, but as I say, the essence of this bill is to provide quick relief and quick relief can not be provided where you have thousands of applications.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. It will not bring about quick relief by appointing masters either in the Orphans Courts, the Equity Courts or any other court.

Mr. STIEFEL. Well, Mr. President, we differ in that matter.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I disagree with the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, that the money provided by this act is going to provide sufficient funds to pay masters in this matter. The act only provides for a fee of two dollars and fifty cents, fifty cents of which is to go to the state, and two dollars goes to the clerk of the Orphans Court. That money will be paid into the county treasurer, which is the law, and out of that will come the money to pay for the dockets and the other printing necessary to keep those dockets, and in addition to that, the pay of the help that is going to be needed to keep a record of these birth certificates will have to come out of that.

Now, as I understand, in some of those populated sections which the gentleman from Philadelphia talks about, Philadelphia, the master's fee would be about a hundred dollars, and this bill does not show from whence this money to pay the master is going to come and whenever an act does not say anything you have the same situation with masters in divorce cases, where the court itself will make a rule and say how much must be paid in order to have a master appointed—and then you will have this added expense upon the poor people who are trying to prove that they are born or to establish a record of their birth.

Now, Mr. President, I also have an additional objection to this bill. Even if this present amendment is voted into the bill there is still another portion that will have to be corrected before the bill makes good sense. If you will look at page three of this bill and start with line four, paragraph (q) it states: "(1) a certificate written in the English language signed by the doctor or midwife in attendance at the birth of such person or"—the conjunction "or" follows "either" to couple up subparagraph (2), and then on line thirteen they have the conjunction "and" and that ought to be "or" instead of "and", because under that subsection (q) the bill requires an individual who wants his birth recorded to furnish one of the three alternatives enumerated under that subparagraph (q), and they have four alternatives, and at the end of each of those alternatives, on three of them you will find the alternative "or" but there on line thirteen you will find "and".

That is wrong and this bill will have to be amended again, even though you insert this very unjust amendment to it now.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I want to confine my remarks to the amendment and I want to say apparently the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, is under some misapprehension as to the intent and meaning of the act. The whole purpose of the bill is to simplify the proceeding and to cut down the fees in connection therewith, so that an applicant for a birth certificate to the Orphans' Court may be able, by paying two dollars and fifty cents, to make his application to the clerk of the court and have the clerk present it to the court, without the necessity of the appearance of an attorney.

It seems to me it is entirely out of order to press an amendment of this kind in connection with a bill which would make it more expensive for the persons who are applying for birth certificates. I think that would normally be the situation and there would be few instances in which a hearing would be necessary. In the average case I believe if the court had any doubt at all about the propriety or the completeness of the information with which it was furnished, it could arrange to have additional information furnished.

In addition to that, the bill is quite explicit in what it requires of the applicants and I would like to ask my colleagues to vote down the amendment.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I think I can appreciate what the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, has in mind and the objection he has to the bill without this amendment, and that was the reason why I had intended to request the bill be placed on the postponed Calendar. I do not believe, however, the amendment offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, will cure the difficulty which he sees in the present bill, and I think we have another suggestion in mind which would work out to better effect, without increasing the cost to the individual applicant, and I would therefore now request that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, withdraw his amendment.

Otherwise, Mr. President, I will have to request my colleagues to vote this amendment down.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, every day this subject of birth certificates is becoming more complicated and it is even hard for an attorney to follow the intricate practice that we are trying to establish in order to have a person get a birth certificate.

If this Senate would have done its honest duty in the beginning, perhaps it would not have been necessary to discuss this problem at this time. That good, old fashioned, hard-headed, practical, common sense Senator from up in Warren introduced a fine birth certificate bill in this Senate early in the Session and somehow or another it got sidetracked. We should have passed that bill and taken this matter out of the courts entirely.

I have talked with Orphans' Court judges about this subject and they do not want to have anything to do with it. It is small, it is insignificant and it should be handled here in Harrisburg in a very simple way. Why is it necessary to go to all this trouble to have a person get a little birth certificate? It is ridiculous, in this age of intelligence and schooling, to go through all this maze of intricacy in order to get a little birth certificate.

Now, here we have an amendment through which they want to even further complicate it by sending the matter to a master. Mr. President, I have been practicing law for some considerable time and I have never seen a case when it was referred to a master where it was not unnecessarily delayed. If you want to get delay take a matter into court but if you want to get it further delayed, hand it on to a master and you are just one step further on.

I think what we ought to do in this Senate is to get down to the application of good old-fashioned common sense and get a bill for the establishing of a practice to get a birth certificate and pass it, get it over to the Governor and get it signed, and then drop a lot of these little bills that have to do with various phases of this procedure.

The bill introduced by the gentleman from Warren, Dr. Chapman, is a good bill and it ought to be hunted up, wherever it may be at this time, and passed, and then we can take this subject away from the Orphans' Court judges.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to refresh the memory of the gentleman from Washington and tell him the bill introduced by the gentleman from Warren, Dr. Chapman, deliberately put it into the Orphans' Court. In talking about the bill here on the Senate floor, I called attention to the fact that an individual who had made an application for a birth certificate, who was not registered by either the midwife or the doctor who attended the birth, went to a lawyer in my home town, and the lawyer told him it would take exactly $114 to appeal the case before the Orphans Court of that county. He had to contact seven witnesses and there were many other features that had to be complied with.

Consequently, in the bill introduced by the gentleman from Warren, Senator Chapman, you have the final analysis that when you can not get it anywhere else you go to the Orphans' Court. A copy of that bill is available and we read the bill thoroughly on the Senate floor and I think the gentleman from Warren will agree with me the Orphans' Court is contained within the features of his bill. However, shaking his head will not get us anywhere. We can call up the bill and read it.

Mr. President, I want to say I am not particularly impressed with this amendment nor am I against it, but I only want to say if it will facilitate the getting of birth certificates by those individuals who are seeking employment in defense industries and must have birth certificates, I am for any kind of amendments or any kind of a bill.

It has been stated here on the Senate floor there are many complications entailed in the getting of a birth certificate under this bill, and this is going to require additional clerks in the court house or the commissioner's office or the office of the register of wills, whichever office handles it, and if it is going to take additional clerks and if it is going to take $2.50 per person, for additional employment and expenses to get that birth certificate for an individual, it seems to me as a layman it is common sense to believe that an Orphans' Court judge is going to be swamped with work and will not be able to do the work without some positive power to delegate the work to somebody else, a master if necessary.

I want to say to you gentlemen we have dilly-dallied with this situation since the beginning of the session. A man came to my home Saturday night—he was home from Detroit over the holidays—and he started a year and a half ago to get a birth certificate. He happens to be working in a defense industry and because of the fact that he has worked for sixteen or seventeen years they have allowed him to continue to work, but every month or so they demand that birth certificate, and if the Federal Government ever cracks down that man will be out of work. He was born after 1906 over here and he has sent his application in to the department and the last result he got was a nasty letter, and I want to say to you I have asked him to send me the letter because I am going to read it to this Senate, because from his explanation it is certainly improper for any official of this state to write letters such as he claims he received.

In the beginning I said, and I say again, this matter should rest in the hands of the Register of Wills back home in the county. He is the proper person to handle this situation. There was a bill introduced calling for a fee of two dollars for obtaining a birth certificate, one dollar of which was to remain in the office of the Register of Wills for expenses and one dollar for registry. Well, they laughed at it and said it was not a good bill. You do not want it in the Register of Wills office, you do not want it in Harrisburg, you do not want it in the Orphans' Court. Will somebody tell me where you do want it and what you are going to do about those individuals who are born, because they are here, it is not necessary to prove they are born, and now they can not get proof that they were born. I think it is silly.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I can understand the remarks of the gentleman from Washington. If I was living in a rural community, where the judge knows all the people and knows each member of such community, then he could safely issue that certificate because he knows the background of the applicant, but in Philadelphia with its millions of residents, if you open the flood gates and admit all kinds of evidence, that will be a royal road to forged instruments and the getting of citizenship in the United States without any effort whatsoever.

That is the reason why in metropolitan districts like Philadelphia and Pittsburgh you must be very careful in sifting evidence that will be presented in order to get birth certificates, and eventually get citizenship in the United States.

No judge will take the responsibility of passing upon slipshod evidence, and for that reason you must insert in this bill a certain apparatus whereby you can be sure as to whether or not an applicant is a bona fide citizen of the United States.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I agree with the remarks of the gentleman from Washington, particularly those when he said the bill introduced by the gentleman from Warren was a very good bill, and that is why I can not understand why it is necessary for us to consider another bill of this kind, because we passed in the Senate the bill introduced by the gentleman from Warren on the twelfth day of March and sent it over to the House. That bill is just like a great many other bills, good bills as well as mediocre bills, that are stymied over in the House, needed bills, bills which are not only necessary for a few individuals but also in connection with the defense program, and yet they fail to act.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I think the implied motive behind the introduction of the amendment by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, is a desire to expedite the issuance of birth certificates.

MOTION THAT BILL AND AMENDMENT BE LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, without going into the merits or demerits of the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Philadelphia, I now move the bill and the amendment lay on the table, at least until tomorrow, until the interested parties can get together, and I suggest to those interested in this bill that they make a microscopic examination of the bill introduced by the gentleman from Warren, Dr. Chapman, which the Senate passed some time ago, and I think they will find there is no appreciable difference.

I now move, Mr. President, that the bill and the amendment lay on the table.

Mr. STIEFEL. I second the motion, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate must first dispose of the amendment. That is the only thing now before the Senate, the amendment introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Lackawanna will state his point of order.

Mr. COLEMAN. I submit, Mr. President, a motion to lay on the table is not debatable and is in order. I am asking that the amendment and the bill be laid on the table. That is a perfectly proper motion.

The PRESIDENT. There is only one matter before the Senate and that is the amendment introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia. The question now before the Senate is whether the Senate will lay the amendment on the table or adopt it or disapprove it. After that has been disposed of then a motion to lay the bill on the table would be in order.

The question is on the amendment.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, is it in order to ask for a re-reading of the amendment?

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection the clerk will re-read the amendment for the information of the Senators.

(The amendment was read.)

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I press my point of order. In the event the Senate votes on the motion to lay the amendment on the table and the motion is defeated and the Senate subsequently passes the bill, my motion, which is for the purpose of saving of the amendment, is licked.

Accordingly, Mr. President, I still press my point of order that I am perfectly in order in making a motion that the amendment and the bill be laid on the table.

I call to the Chair's attention the fact that some five or six weeks ago a similar motion was made and similar action was taken on a bill sponsored by the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, I think. That was temporarily laid on the table until such time as the Chair rendered a decision on the amendment submitted by the Senator, at the time the gentleman from Philadelphia raised a point of order that the amendment changed the effect of the bill. A motion was then made, and passed the Senate, that the bill and the amendment be laid on the table for the purpose of having the Presiding Officer delve into the matter of the constitutionality of the bill.

Mr. President, I submit I am still in order; that a motion to table the bill and the amendment is definitely in order.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order of the gentleman from Lackawanna is not well taken. A proper disposition of the matter would be to lay the amendment on the table and permit the bill to go over in its order. The bill and the amendment both would then be in status quo.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I believe that my amendment has given some food for thought so I have accomplished, if not entirely what I wanted to accomplish, at least some part of it.

Accordingly, Mr. President, I move that my amendment be withdrawn temporarily.

The PRESIDENT. A motion is not necessary. The Senator may withdraw the amendment.

AMENDMENT WITHDRAWN

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I withdraw the amendment.

The PRESIDENT. The bill is now on third reading.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, is it the intention of the Chair to take a vote on the bill?

The PRESIDENT. If that is the desire of the Senate.

MOTION TO PLACE SENATE BILL No. 904 ON THE POSTPONED CALENDAR

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I now move that Senate Bill No. 904 be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. HEYBURN. I second the motion, Mr. President.

Mr. MILLER. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I believe proper procedure, in view of the interest in this matter, would be to have the bill go over in its order. There is no necessity of putting it on the postponed calendar and then require the vote by which it passed third reading be reconsidered, and then reconsider the vote by which it passed second reading. If the bill goes over in its order it will serve the same purpose as going on the postponed calendar but if it is on the postponed calendar then it comes closer to death.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senator from Westmoreland, if the motion is carried, the bill will appear on the third reading postponed calendar. The Senate reconsidered the vote by which this bill passed third reading.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland will proceed.

Mr. DENT. Then, Mr. President, by our action here today we have lost a calendar day on this bill.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I think the thing to do would be to at least put the bill in the position where it was when we came in the Senate today. It seems we are legislating backwards here today.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Fayette may proceed.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, this bill appears on the Calendar for final passage, not for third reading.

The PRESIDENT. The vote by which it passed third reading was reconsidered.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Final passage, Mr. President. It is on final passage.

The PRESIDENT. It appears on the final passage Calendar for today.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Then there was a motion to reconsider the vote by which it passed third reading?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Then, Mr. President, it will be placed on the third reading Calendar again. It will be on third reading.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order raised by the gentleman from Fayette is correct. The bill will be on the third reading calendar.

MOTION RENEWED

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I renew my motion that Senate Bill No. 904 be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. JAMES. I second the motion, Mr. President.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland will proceed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is the motion to place the bill on the third reading postponed calendar?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am still going to vote "no", and ask for a roll call.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria will proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, was there a vote taken on the motion to place Senate Bill No. 904 on the postponed calendar?

The PRESIDENT. No.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the gentleman from Westmoreland asked for a roll call.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Westmoreland insists on a roll call on the motion to place Senate Bill No. 904 on the postponed calendar.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and Mr. HALUSKA and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 174, as follows:

A Supplement to the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 720), entitled "An act providing for the taking over by the Commonwealth under certain terms conditions and limitations of certain streets in cities of the second class and second class A and third class as state highways and for the improvement construction reconstruction resurfacing and maintenance by the Commonwealth of certain defined widths of said streets imposing duties on such cities and on public utility companies using such streets providing that no assessment shall be made upon the Commonwealth in the elimination of any grade crossing thereon authorizing cities persons associations or corporations to enter into agreements with the Commonwealth to bear a portion of the cost of construction or maintenance providing for the assessment of certain portions of the cost of street improvements on abutting property owners regulating the replacement of certain facilities of public utility companies prohibiting the opening of said streets after improvement without a permit and providing penalty therefor regulating the maintenance of detours authorizing the increase of city indebtedness in certain cases and appropriating money in the Motor License Fund for the purpose of this act" by establishing additional routes in the City of Erie

Section 1 In addition to the city streets adopted as state highways in the City of Erie by the act to which this is a supplement the following section of city streets in said city are hereby adopted to be taken over and to be maintained and constructed at the expense of the Commonwealth upon the terms and conditions and subject to the limitations and conditions provided in the act to which this is a supplement

Commencing at the intersection of East Twelfth Street with Parade Street thence over East Twelfth Street in an easterly direction to the intersection of East Twelfth Street with Franklin Avenue thence over Franklin Avenue in a northerly direction to East Lake Road otherwise known as Route number five at a distance of about 2.8 miles

And said bill having been read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill, the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Ziesenheim.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Erie permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ZIESENHEIM. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is it the intent of this bill to take over certain streets in the City of Erie and put them in the state highway system?

Mr. ZIESENHEIM. My understanding, Mr. President, is that Congress has passed a bill appropriating $150,000,000 to be used for building access roads or bridges leading to plants engaged in the national defense program. The thought behind this bill is if it becomes a part of the state system it then becomes eligible for this federal appropriation and we have had assurance federal money will be used for that purpose, to improve two and eight-tenths mile of road leading to the General Electric Company plant in Erie, where twelve thousand men will shortly be engaged in producing materials and supplies for the Navy.

Mr. DENT. The answer, Mr. President, as I take it is "yes".

Mr. ZIESENHEIM. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the reason I ask the question was that in 1937 and 1939 I tried repeatedly to get city streets of the City of Jeanette back in the highway system where they belong. The City of Jeanette was a borough, and by the will of the people, and by their votes, it was changed from a borough to a third class city form of government.

Under the laws as I understand them, streets which were part of that borough belonged to the highway system, but they reverted back to the ownership of the city. I have repeatedly introduced bills to take those same streets and put them back in the state system in order that this one city in the State of Pennsylvania would be allowed to receive some share of the motor license fund and the state tax on gasoline for repairs, maintenance and so forth. The bill has been pickled repeatedly on the ground that we are not taking over additional city streets.

Mr. President, I am now in the position of having to vote for this bill, because of national defense. You know we make rubber tires in the City of Jeanette for a lot of defense trucks and trailers, and perhaps some of these days we might be able to get some of that money in order that three thousand people working there might be able to get to their work, and I think it is mighty unfair not to take streets which rightfully belong to the state in the City of Jeanette.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—47

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	Lanlus,	Tallman,
Bartlett,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Taylor,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 292, (House Bill No. 382), entitled:

An Act authorizing counties cities boroughs incorporated towns and townships to appropriate money for the establishment or continuance of Federal Surplus Commodities Stamp plans therein and to borrow money and issue bonds for said purpose

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. President, I ask permission to offer amendments.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Mercer.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Mercer permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Mercer the intent of the amendments?

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. President, these amendments were sent over by the Department of Public Assistance and I am not familiar with the contents of them whatever.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I did not hear the statement of the gentleman from Mercer.

Mr. THOMAS. I said, Mr. President, the amendments were sent over by the Department of Public Assistance.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I understand from the majority Floor Leader that we are going to recess now, pending disposition of this proposition, until ten p. m. standard time tonight. I would like the members on the minority side particularly, to have an opportunity to examine the amendments and I wonder if the gentleman will permit the bill to go over in its order until such time as we have had an opportunity to determine just what the amendments do.

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. President, I thought if we had the amendments printed in the bill we would have an opportunity to study the bill. It will not be up until tomorrow.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, the difficulty with that is that I found out very early in my legislative experience all you need is the votes in this legislative game, and I feel we are justified in being a little suspicious, because if the amendments are in the bill we would have some difficulty in trying to "jimmy" them out of the bill and for that reason, Mr. President, I object to the insertion of the amendments in the bill and I ask the gentleman to show the courtesy of giving us an opportunity to examine them.

Mr. THOMAS. That is agreeable with me, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understands it is the intention that this bill go over in order, in its present status, until after the expiration of the recess. Is that correct?

Mr. THOMAS. That is correct, Mr. President. I withdraw the amendments temporarily and then the bill can go over in its order until after the recess.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 292, (House Bill No. 382), on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provision of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

RECESS

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 10:00 o'clock p. m. E.S.T.

Mr. SCARLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.
The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, as a member of the famous trio of K. O. Haluska, two-ton Tony DiSilvestro and myself, I feel it is important to call attention of the Senate to two articles appearing in Philadelphia newspapers.

Music, to my mind, consists of rhythm, melody and words and probably sound and of the latter, sound, we have been getting more than our share lately. Strangely enough, Mr. President, the Legislature has lately become music minded. Accordingly state songs have been proposed and in this connection I feel I would be remiss in my duty if I did not read these articles, as appearing in the Philadelphia newspapers. Only last week on this floor there was considerable discussion about those songs. Now, Mr. President, I shall read from an article appearing in the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

MUSICAL IMPASSE

Because the House is Democratic and the Senate Republican, affairs of state at Harrisburg go forward slowly these days, if at all. Among other partisan problems that will have to be ironed out is the question of adopting a State song of Pennsylvania.

House Bill No. 1275 names for this honor "The Rolling Hills of Pennsylvania," composed by a lady of Pittsburgh. It runs, in part:

"The azure skies reflect the flames
Of our factories and mills
Our farms are finest in the land
Nestled in the fair foothills."

Senate Bill No. 1005, on the other hand, nominates an anthem by a musical poetess of Churchill Borough, who sings:

"There is beauty in your mountains
There is peace upon your hills
And where'er I roam my only home is Pennsylvania
Pennsylvania we thrill with pride to be your local descendants Pennsylvania all hail to you the foundation of independence."

Somehow, a conference committee will have to meld these two compositions into one satisfactory to both parties. And for the independent, let them tuck into the final result an extra couplet, say:

"Keystone State, I give three cheers to you,
But not to politics, which makes me blue."

Now, Mr. President, I now read from an article appearing in the Philadelphia Inquirer, which is as follows:

"But we have a song which the Legislature should adopt for its own official use. It was alluded to earlier in this piece, and, to the best of our recollection goes as follows, to wit:

Don't take me home, please
Dont take me home.
Tell me, what did I do to you?
Oh, Oh, Oh, have a little pity!
I'm a poor, married man,
In search of peace I roam;
I'm with you in anything you do
But don't take me home."

Mr. President, before this session is over I hope that our trio, K. O. Haluska, two-ton Tony DiSilvestro and myself, will render these scores for you. Thank you.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objections? The Chair hears none.

Mr. LETZLER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 1087, entitled:

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, the vote on the Ruth amendment to the Constitution for a graduated income tax suggests to me that many members of the Senate obviously are voting under a misapprehension. The vote on a bill introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward, which was a similar proposition, passed and the vote just taken was 31 to 14.

I think, Mr. President, there are some members of the Senate that do not know—at least I know on our side a suggestion was made that we consider only Senate Bills, and I think they are following the Calendar and several of them have voted on the assumption we are following the Calendar in its order.

I think that ought to be clearly stated so that the members of the Senate know definitely what bill they are voting on.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair did state on at least two occasions we were considering only Senate bills; and we have been considering only Senate bills.

BILL RECOMMENDED

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 787, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 888, on third reading, entitled:

An Act abolishing Court of Common Pleas Number Seven of Philadelphia County go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, in the absence of my distinguished colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, I dislike to abolish his Court Number 7 in his absence, and I therefore would like to reserve any remarks I have to make until he is present, but I would like to make one additional remark.

This bill is No. 888 and I have another amendment, No. 444, which has been—well, it has disappeared, and I simply want to say as an epitaph I hold in my hand the Sterling figures of the cost of Common Pleas Court Number 7 to the Commonwealth and to the county of Philadelphia. There is one item here of furnishings of $51,271, paid by mandamus. That is a beautiful illustration of what we were trying to do, by passing Bill No. 444, to abolish dual government in Philadelphia, because this points a moral that any county department in Philadelphia can get all the money it needs by mandamus, because we have dual government. Hence these tears.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, am I to understand the Senator from Philadelphia wishes to put this bill over in its order

Mr. WOODWARD. That is what I intended to ask, Mr. President.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, isn't it a fact the gentleman from Philadelphia felt this bill should have been sent back to committee on second reading?

Mr. WOODWARD. It is all the fault of Senator Shapiro for not being here.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Does the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward believe one man can hold up the mechanics and the approval of the Senate?

Mr. WOODWARD. Oh, often, yes.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I do not agree with the Senator from Philadelphia and I feel that prolonging the decision on this bill, either the passage or the defeat of the bill, seems to me to imply propaganda on the part of my colleague from Philadelphia in order to discredit the three gentlemen who are judges of the Court of Common Pleas No. 7 and I do not think it is proper or fair.

We have the utmost confidence in our judiciary and I do not think the Senator from Philadelphia should make such a big joke out of this matter. If he feels the court should be dropped I would like to see this bill put to a vote tonight.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, may I say another word? I am not making a joke out of the bill at all, but I do not wish to be discourteous to my Democratic colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, what was the cause of printing on the Calendar time and time again the title of Senate Bill No. 888?

Mr. WOODWARD. Well, Mr. President, as compared with the cost of Common Pleas Court number 7 it is but a drop.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Philadelphia believe in the principle of economy in government?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I accept that very nice gentlemanly rebuke.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, am I to understand our friend from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, has lost favor with the Court of Common Pleas Number 7 and in order to re-establish himself has asked the gentleman from Philadelphia to drop this bill?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I had only one little conversation with Senator Shapiro about this bill and from his remarks I thought possibly he wanted to stand up in the Senate and confess he had been in error when he organized this court and I wanted to give him that opportunity of confessing his mistake and of joining hands with me to rectify the mistake by abolishing his court.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I do not think the gentleman has answered my question. I insist upon an answer. If he can not answer let him say so.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I can not answer for the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, and I only hope he will be here tomorrow. I can not answer for Senator Shapiro.

SENATE BILL NO. 888 OVER IN ORDER

The PRESIDENT. Does the Chair understand the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, desires that Senate Bill No. 888 go over in its order?

Mr. WOODWARD. That is the idea, Mr. President. It was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 889, entitled:

An Act relating to the practice of veterinary medicine; defining such practice and providing for the licensing and registration of persons engaged therein and for the revocation and suspension of such licenses and registrations subject to appeal and for their reinstatement; defining the powers and duties of the State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners and the Department of Public Instruction; providing penalties and repealing existing laws.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend Section 2, page 2, between lines 25 and 26, by inserting the following paragraph: "(4) The experimentation and scientific research activities of biological chemists engaged in the study and development of methods and techniques directly or indirectly applicable to the problems of veterinary medical practice."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, am I to understand these amendments legalize and give the right to veterinarians and biological chemists to practice medicine.

Mr. WADE. No, Mr. President, that is not the case. The amendments I think clearly set forth what they are intended to do and I would request that the Chair have the amendments read again so that the gentleman from Luzerne may understand.

(The amendments were again read.)

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I just want to say I feel these amendments will destroy the whole effect of the bill, if I understand them correctly.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, in answer to the statement of the gentleman from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy, this added provision—if the Senate agrees to it—has to do with the exceptions made in lines nine and ten, page two of the bill, which states "For the purpose of this act the term 'practice of veterinary medicine' does not include—" and then follow paragraphs one, two and three, and this if a fourth exception.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the amendments being adopted? Does the Senator from Luzerne withdraw his objection?

Mr. MUNDY. Yes, Mr. President, I withdraw my objection.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

It was agreed to.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That said bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

BILLS RECOMMITTED

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 995, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to add section three and one-tenth to the act, approved the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, (P. L. 717), entitled "An act fixing the number, compensation, mileage and duties of the officers and employees of the General Assembly and providing for their election or appointment, term of office and manner of filling vacancies," further regulating the compensation of certain officers and employees.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 1005, on third reading, entitled:

An Act relating to the adoption of the song entitled "Pennsylvania," words and music written by Gertrude Martin Rohrer and providing for its adoption as the State song of Pennsylvania.

be recommitted to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I know this is a little out of order, but I would like to suggest to the sponsor of the bill that he take this bill and also the House Bill and have a public hearing in order that we can all have a song fest some night this week and have the sponsors of the bills sing them.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I would like to make another suggestion to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker. I wish he would inquire into the fact whether or not the song mentioned in this bill is copyrighted and if we declare it the state song whether the state will have to pay for the copyright to the writer of the song.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, all the suggestions will be received gratefully; they are always very constructive and we are always very happy to have them.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

INTRODUCTION TO THE SENATE OF HON. GUY R. SWOPE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair at this time interrupts consideration of the Calendar, for the time being, for the purpose of presenting to the Senate the Governor of Porto Rico, Honorable Guy J. Swope.

Mr. SWOPE. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I bring you greetings from the farthest east outpost under the American flag; I bring you these greetings in the name of two million Americans who want to be your brothers and want you to be our brothers down there. I am moved with emotion and sentiment to have an opportunity to appear before you for a moment as a resident of Pennsylvania. I was born here and have lived here most of my life and I want to have my ashes rest here when I pass on, and I have the honor of being presented not only by the President of the Senate, the Lieutenant Governor of Pennsylvania, but by my friend whom I am privileged to call "Sam."

MOTION TO CONSIDER SENATE BILLS ON SECOND READING

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I now move that we proceed to the consideration of Senate Bills on second reading.

Mr. GELTZ. I second the motion, Mr. President.
On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am agreeable to that proposition. However, I do feel that it is very important that bills that are before us now, recalled from the Governor, should have action this week. I think under legislative law, if they are on the Calendar more than five days without being put on the postponed calendar, they can be dropped, and I think it is only fair that the bills be given a fair chance. Let us take a vote on them one way or the other.

Mr. President, before we take a vote on this motion, I would like very much to call up a very important bill that is on the Calendar and has been on the Calendar for over a week, and one that must go back to the Governor for his signature.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, there is a motion before the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, before that motion is put, I think the question asked by the gentleman from Westmoreland ought to be answered, that a bill not acted on for five days will be dropped from the Calendar. I think we should know that.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order raised by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, is not sustained, for the reason that the only thing before the Senate now is the motion of the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, to proceed with the reading of Senate bills on second reading. The question can be raised after this motion is disposed of.

All in favor of the motion that the Senate proceed to the reading of Senate bills on the second reading Calendar say "aye."

It was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

MOTION CALLING UP SENATE BILL No. 469

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do take up for consideration Senate Bill No. 469, appearing on page one of the Calendar.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I ask my good friend from Westmoreland to yield for a moment, in order that I may ask the Chair a question pertaining to this particular controversy.

Mr. DENT. I yield to the gentleman from Lackawanna, willingly.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, it is my understanding from my experiences in the House that where a bill is placed on the postponed Calendar it must be called up and given a new lease of life, so to speak. I understand we do not have the same rule here in the Senate, and the gentleman from Westmoreland has raised a very pertinent question.

It is my understanding that a bill can remain on the Senate postponed calendar indefinitely, but I think there is some doubt in the minds of the membership of the Senate, and I think the Chair should rule in order to eliminate that doubt on that particular point.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, made the same inquiry privately, and the Chair told him he knew of no rule in the Senate on that point, and he also was in the dark the same as was the Chair. The Chair has made further inquiry and finds that in the Senate we have no rule on that question.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I do not want to put any words into the mouth of the Chair, but I understand the Chair's ruling is to the effect that there is no such rule in the Senate, and that a bill can remain on the postponed Calendar indefinitely, without being dropped from the Calendar.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair so understands.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is my motion now in order?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wants to make himself perfectly clear, for the enlightenment, information rather—it is not necessary to enlighten the Senator from Westmoreland.

Mr. DENT. Very much so, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. But under the motion just adopted, second reading bills are the only thing in order. However, if the gentleman from Westmoreland makes the request and there is no objection, the bill can be taken up for consideration.

Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Westmoreland to call up a bill at this time?

Mr. GELTZ. If it is a request, Mr. President, I object to it.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland will state his point of order.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is it not true that any motion made by a Senator, after another motion has been passed, that motion can be put before the Senate? What is the duration of the previous motion?

The PRESIDENT. The only thing before the Senate now is the consideration of Senate bills on second reading, unless by unanimous consent or by a motion carried by a majority, the Senate sees fit to grant the gentleman from Westmoreland the privilege of calling up a bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, that is the point of order I raised. In other words, there was a motion made to take up only Senate bills on the second reading Calendar. Now, that motion passed, as I understand it.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I got up and made a brand new motion and it has been seconded. That motion, if it is voted for, certainly takes precedence over the preceding motion.

The PRESIDENT. If the motion has been seconded the Chair did not hear any seconder.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I consider it a great pleasure to second the motion of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

The PRESIDENT. It has been moved by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, seconded by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cox, that the Senate at this time take up for consideration Senate Bill No. 469 appearing on page one of the Calendar.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. I object to the motion, Mr. President.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I rise to a point of order, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from McKean will state his point of order.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, there is nothing before this Senate but consideration of Senate bills on the second reading Calendar. That is the only order of business now before this Senate.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct, in the absence of a motion. A motion is always in order and the majority can decide to take up a bill.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I have great respect for the parliamentary ability and fairness of the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair does not have the experience of the gentleman from McKean.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I will submit, of course, to the ruling of the Chair, but I am asking whether it is not so, that the only thing before this Senate now in order is—the motion itself is out of order, this body having decided it will proceed with consideration of the Senate bills on the second reading calendar, and the motion is out of order. The motion is out of order. It is true in the House when something is in order, one might debate a different motion. I am raising the point of order that the motion itself is out of order, the Senate having decided that the business before it is to take up the Senate bills on the second reading calendar.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to raise a point of order. The point of order of the Senator is well taken, but any time after consideration of a bill on second reading the motion of the gentleman from Westmoreland will be in order.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, by the time the two gentlemen have finished quibbling over the point of order we could have passed a bill. As I understand the rules governing Senate procedure, if the gentleman from McKean had risen in his position and called for the order of the day, the order of the day would be bills on second reading, and that would be the mandate of the Senate. However, the gentleman from McKean did not couch his request in that language, and I submit, Mr. President, the gentleman from Westmoreland is privileged to call up a bill for concurrence in House amendments.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, just to clarify the parliamentary situation, I think any member of the Senate has the opportunity to call for the order of the day. I also have the right to raise a point of order that the motion of the gentleman from Westmoreland is out of order, because the Senate has decided by a roll call what is the next order of business, and that is Senate bills on second reading, and having fixed that order of business, nothing else is in order.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair has ruled on that.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have had too many courtesies from the Chair to enter into a debate with the Chair. I tried that once long ago in a labor union, and when I ended up I was not even able to talk, so I am not going to take it up here. However, I will say this, that according to the rules of the Senate any motion is in order at any time. I did not call the bill up. I only moved that the bill be called up, if the Chair recalls my wording, and my motion was in order, according to my own interpretation of Robert's Rules on parliamentary law. However, I am not going to go into it, because there is a mis-print in the bill, and the word "members" is left out, and the word "numbers" placed in the bill, so we will just let that take care of it.

The PRESIDENT. This is much ado about nothing.

Mr. DENT. I agree with the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. And the Chair is of the opinion that it comes with poor grace for anybody to rise on a point of order on a matter of that kind, when we have been extending all kinds of courtesies, when the consideration of bills was set aside, and the Senate took up communications from the Governor, and most anything, but if the Chair must rule, he is going to be just as courteous and as liberal as he possibly can and if a point of order is raised, the Chair is going to try to determine that as it should be determined. The Chair does not want to limit debate.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I do not agree, Mr. President, that this is a trivial point of order. The order of business is consideration of Senate bills on second reading.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair has already sustained the point of order of the gentleman from McKean.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from McKean will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I do not agree it is a trivial matter, when a member of this Senate stands on the floor and says that bills on second reading, which must pass this body on third reading and go over into a Democratic House and get out of committee, maybe on the morning of the day of the Resurrection, in order to consider a bill on the postponed calendar that can be passed finally by a vote in a minute or five minutes. I think the bills on second reading Calendar are of much more importance and that is what I insist upon.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair does not want to get into an argument, but the Chair still insists it is rather inconsistent for a Senator to raise a point of that kind, when he has consistently made requests that we are not in order.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. That is correct. Mr. President. Differences of opinion sometimes makes a legislative body.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland will state his point of information.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, on page one of the Calendar, Senate Bill 469, (House Bill 364), Printer's No. 741, there is a printer's error on page two, line twenty-six. All other copies of the bill contain the word "members"; this copy of the bill contains "numbers." My point of information, Mr. President, is whether it will be possible to have that correction made in the bill without amendment, inasmuch as it is distinctly a printer's error.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is of the opinion that that would have to be corrected by amendment and the bill reprinted.

Mr. DENT. I wish to thank the Chair for the information. I do think however, Mr. President, that if that is the rule and we maintain that position, printer's errors may keep us in quite a Session here. If I remember rightly, we had printer's errors on conference reports, and the conferees did not have to make a redraft. What happened was that the bill went back to the printer and was printed according to the conferees' original draft. Now, it is all right, Mr. President; the only thing I would ask is that we have a recess for a few minutes in order to prepare an amendment to take care of that matter.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is just advised that in 1929 an act was passed creating a commission to correct minor errors, consisting of the Attorney General, the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House.

Mr. DENT. Then, Mr. President, I am in position to call up the bill with the idea that the commission will act upon the printer's error, is that right?

The PRESIDENT. If the gentleman from Westmoreland wishes to take that chance, I think he may do so.

Mr. DENT. Then, Mr. President, with the permission of the Senate, if the Chair will assure me that the Senate will stay in Session long enough to allow me to get this amendment ready, otherwise I am going to ask for a recess for a few minutes. I will have the amendment ready if we continue as we have been for the past five minutes.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I just informed the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, that at this afternoon's Session some one asked that this bill go over, because there were some amendments under consideration, and it was asked that it go over until tomorrow, and I do not see why that printer's error can not be taken care of at the same time.

Mr. DENT. I will comply with that. Is it a request, Mr. President?

Mr. GELTZ. That is merely to give the gentleman from Westmoreland some information, if he will recall our conversation this evening when we were discussing this bill.

Mr. DENT. Yes, Mr. President, but if the gentleman from Allegheny will remember rightly, I disagreed with the amendments put in, and decided I would be much better pleased with the bill as it is than to be placed on the spot of voting for the bill with amendments inserted, by the majority, and I would rather vote on it in its original condition, than to vote on amendments which would destroy the purpose of the bill.

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Mr. President, it will be remembered that I asked that this bill go over until tomorrow, as there were some amendments that we thought were necessary, but since I asked that, I have learned that the author of the bill did not think it was necessary to make the amendments. It is just a question of having the words come nearest to the ones they modify, but inasmuch as the sponsor of the bill does not feel it is necessary to have it amended, I am perfectly willing that it shall be considered at any time. I did that just to protect the sponsor of the bill. Now, Mr. President, the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, is interested in the matter, and if it is agreeable to the other members of the Senate, I withdraw my motion to have it go over in order, and it might be taken up at any time.

However, there is one word that I would like to say as to the interpretation, the question of modification. The amendments put in should modify "duties" and not "fire companies" or "fire departments," so it will be made a matter of record what it modifies.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, am I right in my assumption that it would be impossible for this Senate to take up amendments, other than those that had been considered prior to the bill on its final passage going to the Governor, by both the House and the Senate, and that any additional amendments can not be taken up by the Senate at this time, other than corrective amendments? The bill has already been on the Governor's desk.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understands that this is a House bill that was recalled from the Governor and amended by the House, so that the only thing before the Senate now is concurrence or non-concurrence in the amendments inserted by the House. Now, what action does the Senate wish to take?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask for a two and half minute recess until the girl gets the amendment ready.

The PRESIDENT. There is nothing before the Senate—

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I now call up again—you are right, Mr. President, the bill is not before us. I only asked a point of information.

SENATE BILL No. 469, (HOUSE BILL No. 364), ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I now call up Senate Bill No. 469, (House Bill No. 364), on concurrence in House amendments, recalled from the Governor, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-first day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 566), entitled "A supplement to the act, approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws, seven hundred thirty-six), entitled, as amended 'An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employee in the course of employment: establishing an elective schedule of compensation: providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder; and prescribing penalties,' as reenacted and amended, providing for the payment of compensation to volunteer firemen or their dependents," amplifying the provisions thereof as to persons entitled to such payments.

Mr. COLEMAN. I second the motion, Mr. President. It was agreed to.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO OFFER AMENDMENT REQUESTED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to insert an amendment to Senate Bill No. 469, which is entirely corrective in nature.

The PRESIDENT. The only question before the Senate is that of concurrence or non-concurrence in House amendments.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Somerset.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I think the Chair is perfectly correct that the only thing before us is concurrence or non-concurrence in the House amendments.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I think it is coming to a very sad pass when the printer can tie up our entire legislative duties. If the printer makes an error in a bill, certainly the Senate and the House can not be held accountable for a printer's error, the printer is accountable for it, and certainly an error by the printer should not put off action on this bill indefinitely; under this procedure we concur in the House amendments, we concur in a bill that is faulty, and the bill will not be approved by the Governor, because it is faulty.

MOTION TO NON-CONCUR IN HOUSE AMENDMENT

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, for the reason just stated by my colleague, the gentleman from Westmoreland, I move that the Senate do non-concur in the amendments inserted by the House.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Allegheny tell the Senate what he does not like about the House amendments?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, there is not anything I do not like about the House amendments, but I believe this is the only way that we can make the correction which our colleague, the gentleman from Westmoreland, desires; that is, to non-concur in the House amendments, and the House can then make the correction and we can concur.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, when I was a small kid I learned there were a lot of ways of killing a cat besides drowning, and I am learning another one of them tonight.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, is trying to help the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Mr. President, I do not wish to get into a controversy as to what is good practice, but the first thought that I have is that I think this bill should really go over in order and that the proper practice would be to have the House recall the bill from the Senate for the purpose of amendment, and have it amended over there and come back here and we will not be tied up with trying to amend something when we do not know just what is wanted. I feel this bill should go over until tomorrow, when the House is in session, and if the House wants to have it amended over there, they can recall the bill from the Senate and put their amendments in. However, it does not make any difference how you do it.

The PRESIDENT. I think if the motion of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, prevails, it will do the very thing the gentleman from Jefferson desires.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Unlike the other Senator Wilson, I like controversies and I do not think there is any other way to do this except to do what the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, has moved. The only way this can be done, although it is technically a roundabout way, is to non-concur in the amendments, and then have it corrected; even though it is a roundabout way, it is the only way it can be done.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate non-concur in the amendments?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

SENATE BILL No. 947, (HOUSE BILL No. 310),
ON SECOND READING CALLED UP

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I now call up Senate Bill No. 947, (House Bill No. 310), on second reading, page 23 of the Calendar.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.
The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 947, (House Bill No. 310), entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the State Veterans' Commission for certain expenses of the commission and for the assistance of needy Pennsylvania veterans of any war or their dependents.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Mr. MILLER. I might add, Mr. President, my purpose in calling this bill up for consideration is to save a legislative day. The appropriation made to the Pennsylvania Veterans Commission expires on the first day of June, and the Commission will find itself without funds to carry on their work if this is not acted on.

RESOLUTION MEMORIALIZING VETERANS ADMINISTRATION TO CONSIDER NORTHEASTERN PENNSYLVANIA AS SITE OF VETERANS' HOSPITAL

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. COLEMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read:

In the Senate, June 2, 1941.

Whereas, The United States Veterans' Administration in Washington are contemplating the erection of a Veterans' Hospital for the afflicted veterans in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and

Whereas, Reports out of Washington indicate that a decision on the site for the new hospital will be made in the very near future, and

Whereas, The three basic things essential in the consideration of the site for an institution of this kind are the supply of water, air, and sunshine, and

Whereas, There is a section in north-eastern Pennsylvania familiarly known as the Pocono Region whose name and fame as a health resort has spread throughout the nation, and

Whereas, There is located in this region the Tobyhanna Military Reservation embracing twenty-eight thousand (28,000) acres already owned by the Federal Government and contains many basic features necessary for the establishment of a hospital and the appropriate surroundings, and

Whereas, The location is readily accessible, being serviced by several railroads and an airport located nearby as well as good roads leading to and from it, and

Whereas, Several sites have been suggested for the location of the hospital in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and

Whereas, The hospital can be erected on the site suggested with a minimum expense to the Government, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania petition the Veterans' Administration in Washington, as well as, Representatives of the various Veterans' Associations who have an essential interest in this type of institution to carefully examine the tremendous possibilities of this region, as well as others that have been suggested, and therefore be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Veterans' Administration at Washington, D. C., and the various Veterans' Organizations in the Commonwealth.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE 39

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Donald McFall offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, our Father, we thank Thee for this wonderful world in which we live for we realize that from its beginning it has been perfect in beauty because Thou did'st create it.

Forbid that we should look upon our neighbor merely as a hand that labors for us, or as a customer why buys from us, or as a clown who laughs for us, or even as one whom we feel beneath us.

Help us to find the larger truth which gives all other truth its meaning, that gives life a worth-while purpose, that tells us not only how to be well fed and clothed, but also how to find our true life that is found only in Thee, our God.

We beseech Thee to bless each member of this House of Representatives and every visiting friend here tonight. May each member play his part in helping Pennsylvania take its place as a leader in the defense of our great Nation. In Thy Holy Name, we pray. Amen.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF JUDICIARY GENERAL
ON RESOLUTION No. 9

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the Committee on Judiciary General of the House of Representatives, I desire to transmit to the Speaker and to the House the Committee's report on House Resolution No. 9.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to read into the record the entire report, which is as follows:

May 27, 1941.

To the Honorable Elmer J. Kilroy, Speaker, and Members of the House of Representatives.

We have the honor to transmit herein a Report of the Judiciary General Committee of the House of Representatives concerning House Resolution Number Nine, a copy of the said Resolution is attached hereto, made a part hereof and marked Exhibit A.

Judiciary General Committee of the House of Representatives
HOMER S. BROWN, Chairman.

LEWIS J. FINESTONE, Secretary.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

Honorable Presley N. Jones, a member of the House of Representatives from the County of Lawrence, duly elected to the General Assembly for the Session of 1941 and 1942, on February 3, 1941 presented Resolution Number Nine to the House of Representatives alleging that the Honorable Don Wilkinson, a duly elected member of the House of Representatives from the County of Luzerne for the Session of 1941-1942, did while serving as a member of the House of Representatives during the Session of 1939 and 1940, introduce and sponsor legislation defining the rights, powers and duties of County Tax Collectors as will be found in Act Number 277, approved the 20th day of June, 1939, P. L. 508, and that said Don Wilkinson, at the time of introduction of said bill, was a tax collector, that the bill was introduced by the said Don Wilkinson for his private and pecuniary profit and that the said Don Wilkinson voted upon the said piece of legislation and that after passage of same received contracts from certain school districts, townships and boroughs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the collection of taxes under said act.

On February 10, 1941, the resolution was returned to the House of Representatives by the Committee on Rules and referred to the House Judiciary General Committee for action. The House Judiciary General Committee thereupon appointed a subcommittee composed of the following members of the Judiciary General Committee: Honorable Homer S. Brown, Honorable John H. McKinney, Honorable John R. Bentley, Honorable William L. Shaffer and Honorable George W. Cooper.

Subsequent to the appointment of the subcommittee, the petitioner, Presley N. Jones, submitted a bill of particulars to the committee, which bill of particulars stated in substance that said Don Wilkinson, as a tax collector, had secured certain contracts from the School Board of the City of New Castle for the collection of delinquent per capita taxes, which contracts provided for the payment to the said Don Wilkinson of fees and charges set forth in the Act of 1939 above referred to. To the bill of particulars the respondent, Don Wilkinson, filed a demurrer alleging that the present session of the House of Representatives had no jurisdiction in that the House of Representatives is not a continuous body and that Article 3, Section 33 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania dealing with the question of personal or private interest had not been violated. To the demurrer, the aforesaid petitioner filed an answer stating that the respondent had violated Article 7, Section 1 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania dealing with the oath of Senators, Representatives, the Judiciary and State and County Officers, and Article 3, Section 33, the personal and private interest section of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, as it applies to members of the General Assembly.

DISCUSSION

I. The first question raised by the demurrer filed by the Honorable Don Wilkinson is that the present House of Representatives has no authority to take jurisdiction of the matter alleged in the resolution and in support of this question the respondent cited a number of precedents recorded in Hinds' Precedents of the House of Representatives of the National Congress to the effect that the House of Representatives not being "a continuous body but an entity that dies at the expiration of the term of each of its members":

"It is a rule of the House of Representatives of Congress that a House may not try to punish one of its members for an offense alleged to have been committed against a preceding House." See Hinds' Precedents of the House of Representatives, Vol. 2, Section 1283; also Sections 1284 and 1285.

Our Committee while not attempting to over-rule the Hinds' Precedents, are of the opinion that the better view is to effect that misconduct on the part of a member of the House of Representatives in a previous term may constitute grounds for his removal or impeachment in a succeeding term, especially where the offending party is his own successor and that re-election would not condone the offense. See State vs. Welsh, 109, Iowa, 19, 79 N. W. 369:

"The very object of removal is to rid the community of a corrupt, incapable, or unworthy official. His acts during his previous term quite as effectually stamp him as such as those of that he may be serving. Re-election does not condone the offense. Misconduct may not have been discovered prior to election, and, in any event, had not been established in the manner contemplated by the statute. * * * The commission of any of the prohibited acts the day before quite as particularly stamps him as an improper person to be intrusted with the performance of the duties of the particular office as those done the day after."

See also the case of Throop Borough's School Directors, 298, Pennsylvania, 453, page 457:

"Wrong doing cannot be overlooked and approved by the act of the people in re-electing them to office for the ensuing term, and such attempted condonation does not prevent the legally constituted authorities from visiting on the offending persons the results of conduct expressly prohibited by the Act of Assembly."

and on pages 458, 459:

"Offenses committed during a previous term are generally held not to furnish cause for general removal, but where removal carries with it a disqualification to hold office in the future, the rule is otherwise, 46 Corpus Juris 96."

II. The offense alleged in the Bill of Particulars submitted by the Petitioner, primarily charges the Respondent with violating Article 3, Section 33, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which article reads as follows:

"A member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the General Assembly shall disclose the fact to the House of which he is a member, and shall not vote thereon."

Believing that this Session of the Legislature has jurisdiction over the subject involved in the pending Resolution, we now proceed to discuss whether or not the Respondent, Don Wilkinson, is guilty of violating Article 3, Section 33, aforementioned and it becomes necessary to discuss the important provision of this Section of the Constitution in order to define and explain the meaning of the words "personal or private interest."

A perusal of the debates of the Constitutional Convention that concluded its work November 3, 1873, reveals that it not only failed to adopt a sanction of penalty for Article 3, Section 33, but likewise omitted to make clear the meaning of the important language embodied in this Section. Much was said about the practice of individuals representing corporations seeking special and local legislation and special favors, but the Section was finally adopted without a clear distinction as to its meaning.

The Committee is fortunate to cite as an authority in defining the aforementioned words: the interpretation of the able Parliamentarian of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania, the Honorable S. Edward Moore, and quotes in its entirety his review of this subject which has been handed to the Committee:

"The Constitution of Pennsylvania, Article 3, Section 33, provides: 'That a Member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the House shall disclose that fact to the House and shall not vote thereon.'

The right of a Member to represent his constituency, is of such major importance that a Member should be barred from voting on matters of direct personal interest only in clear cases and when the matter to be voted upon is particularly personal.

When the matters under consideration affect a cause rather than individuals, the personal interest, belongs, to that cause and is not such as to disqualify a Member from voting.

As for instance a Member may have a personal interest in a particular hospital seeking an appropriation—The Pennsylvania Commission on Constitutional said—"It was not the intent of Article III, Section 33 that a Member should expose such a personal interest to the House of which he is a Member."

Rule VIII of the National House of Representatives reads in part:—"Every Member shall vote on each question put unless he has a personal or pecuniary interest."

In interpreting this rule of Congress which is similar to our own—it has been held that the disqualifying interest must be such as affects the Member directly and not as one of a class (Hinds' Precedents Vol. V, Section 5952; 5954; 5955 and 5963.

Speaker Robert C. Winthrop of the Massachusetts House discussed the subject of Personal Interest exhaustively in 1840 and was of the opinion: "That an interest which a Member holds in common with thousands of others could hardly be regarded as a private interest."

Speaker James G. Blaine when the matter of personal interest came up in 1893 in the National House said: "You can go through the whole round of business and find upon this floor gentlemen, who, in common with many citizens outside of this House, have an interest in questions before this House. But they do not have that interest separate and distinct from a class."

Speaker Talbot of the Pennsylvania House of 1933, in response to a parliamentary inquiry stated: "That the right of a Member to vote where a question of personal interest was involved was a matter entirely within the conscience of the individual member."

In conclusion the question is definitely one upon which each individual Member must satisfy his conscience. He must settle it for himself."

The view of the able Parliamentarian is supported by many authorities. See Luce-Legislative Procedure, page 366; Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, Section 323 and Jefferson's Manual on Rules of the House of Representatives, 651. For the purpose of brevity, we quote only the following:

"In one or two instances the Speaker has decided that, because of personal interest, a member should not vote (V. 5955, 5958); but usually the Speaker has held that the member himself should determine this question." (V. 5950, 5951) And one Speaker denied his own power to deprive a member of the Constitutional Right to Vote." (V. 5956).

"It is a principle of 'immemorial observance' that a member should withdraw when a question concerning himself arises (V. 5949); but it has been held that the disqualifying interest must be such as affects the member directly (V. 5952)." Jefferson's Manual on Rules of the House of Representatives, section 651.

The Committee finds that this matter has been the subject of interpretation by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, as will be found in the case of Wilson v. New Castle City, 301 Pa. 359, pages 362 and 363. The Court saying in this case:

"The question hinges upon what is known as personal or private interest. The 'interest' in a matter which will disqualify a public official acting in an executive capacity must be certain pecuniary or proprietary acts and capable of proof. It must be direct, not contingent nor depending on an indirect benefit as that contract may or may not affect other independent transactions. A sentimental interest or a general interest is not enough."

III. The Petitioner, Presley N. Jones, in his argument asking for expulsion of the Respondent, Don Wilkinson, contends that the said Respondent violated Article 7, Section I, of the Constitution for Pennsylvania, said Article having to do with the Oath of Senators, Representatives and all Judicial, State and County Officers; and provides inter alia the following:

"And any person who shall be convicted of having sworn or affirmed falsely or of having violated said oath or affirmation, shall be guilty of perjury, and be forever disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit within this Commonwealth."

and in support of his argument asserts that under this Section, the Respondent could be found guilty without a trial by jury; citing as his authority the opinion of the learned Chief Justice in the case of Commonwealth v. Walter, 83 Pa., 103 where the Court in construing Article 8, Section 9 of our Constitution used the following language:

"The word 'guilty' is defined by our lexicographers to mean 'having guilt'; 'chargeable with a crime'; not innocent'; 'criminal'. Hence we say a man is guilty of an offense when he has committed an offense. We say he has been convicted of an offense when he has been found guilty by the verdict of a jury.'

Article 8, Section 9, supra, cannot be interpreted in the same manner as Article 7, Section I; and we believe the latter Article pre-suppose that a person must be convicted of perjury in Court of proper jurisdiction before being disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit within this Commonwealth. However a member violating his oath of office could be punished by the Legislature under Article 2, Section II of our Constitution, without first having been tried in Court of proper jurisdiction:

"Each House shall have power to determine the rules of its proceedings and punish its members or other persons for contempt or disorderly behavior in its presence, to enforce obedience to its process, to protect its members against violence or offers of bribes or private solicitations, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, to expel a member, but not a second time for the same cause, and shall have all other powers necessary for the Legislature of a free State. A member expelled for corruption shall not thereafter be eligible to either House, and punishment for contempt or disorderly behavior shall not bar an indictment for the same offense." Article 2, Section II.

CONCLUSION

Your Committee is of the opinion, from the argument above given, that the House of Representatives of the Session of 1941, has jurisdiction to punish a member for an offense committed in the 1939 Session provided that offense is one which affects the right of the member to hold office in the present term and that if such offense were established, it would be a violation of the oath of the member to the extent that the present Session of the House of Representatives would have the power to punish said member under Article 2, Section II, of the Constitution. However, we find that the matters alleged in the Petitioner's Bill of Particulars and Brief do not come within the meaning of the "personal and private interest" section contained in Article 3, Section 33 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania for the following reasons:

1—The matters alleged, namely the voting upon legislation in Act 277, approved the 28th day of June 1939, P. L. 508, affected the Respondent, Don Wilkinson, as a member of a class, to wit:—Tax Collectors.

2—The passage of said Act 277, by the House of Representatives in the absence of bribery, fraud or corruption would not make the Respondent's vote a violation of the Constitution, notwithstanding the fact that he may have received a pecuniary benefit from the results of the Act of Assembly.

We have omitted in argument any discussion concerning paragraph ten (10) of the Petitioner's Bill of Particulars which charges the Respondent with violating Section 895 of the Act of 1939, P. L. 872 of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, making it a misdemeanor to disperse any paper purporting to be a legal process or summons of a Court of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It is our opinion that charges of this nature should be made in the Court of proper jurisdiction where the Respondent would have the constitutional protection afforded Defendants charged with violating our Criminal Laws. If the Legislature undertook to try each member on matters submitted to it of this nature, the accused member might be at the mercy of a Legislature unsympathetic to his political views, which alone might be, the factor in determining his guilt or innocence. We believe that except in case of impeachment and for crimes of bribery, perjury, corruption in office and closely related matters, the Legislature should not invade the field of Criminal Law to invoke the provisions of Article 2, Section II of our State Constitution.

The procedure asked for by the Petitioner, Presley N. Jones, is a most extraordinary one and should only be used in a case or cases where the evidence admits of no doubt as to guilt of the Respondent. To hold otherwise would turn an orderly and free House of Representatives into a chaotic and despotic body; and members might be allowed to hold office only by the will of two-third (2/3) of its membership. In this connection, we quote with approval the able argument presented in the dissenting opinion of Mr. Justice Dean in Commonwealth v. Moir, 199 Pa. 534:

"The time is not very remote in the past in English politics when the victorious political party, as soon as it was seated in power, promptly proceeded to cut off the physical heads of their leading antagonists and confiscate their property, it is not very remote in the future when the victorious political party will promptly proceed to cut off the political heads of its opponents where they hold office by the municipal vote of cities."

Your Committee therefore urges that the Prayer of the Petitioner that the House of Representatives authorizes the Speaker to appoint a committee of five members of the House of Representatives to inquire into the matter concerning the official conduct of Don Wilkinson and further inquire whether he is guilty of misconduct as grounds for expulsion from the House of Representatives, be refused.

Printer's No. 9

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF PENNSYLVANIA FILE OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

RESOLUTION No. 9

Session of 1941

Introduced by Mr. PRESLEY N. JONES, January 28, 1941

Referred to COMMITTEE ON RULES, February 3, 1941

In the House of Representatives, January 28, 1941.

Whereas, Don Wilkinson of 73 Bedford Street, Forty-Fort is at present a member of the House of Representatives being duly elected at the general election held November 5, 1940 from the VI Legislative District of Luzerne County and was duly sworn in as a member of the House of Representatives on its convening in January 1941 and

Whereas, The said Don Wilkinson was duly elected a member of the House of Representatives from the said legislative district at the general election held November 7 1938 and was duly sworn in as a member of the said House of Representatives at its convening in January 1939 and

Whereas, The said Don Wilkinson while serving as a member of the House of Representatives as aforesaid introduced and sponsored legislation specifically an act defining the rights powers and duties of county tax collectors etc which act is now known as Act Number 277 approved the 28th day of June 1939 P. L. 508 and

Whereas, It is believed at the time the said Don Wilkinson introduced the bill aforesaid his purpose and intent was to derive a private pecuniary profit for himself as a collector of such taxes he then being engaged in the collection of similar obligations and was not in furtherance of his sworn obligation as a member of the House of Representatives and

Whereas, It is believed at the time the said Don Wilkinson voted on this legislation he was engaged in negotiating contracts with school districts township and borough officers etc. for the collection of taxes thereunder for his own private interest and

Whereas, At the time of his voting on such legislation he did not state he was interested privately in such legislation in contravention of Article 3 Section 33 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania which reads

"A member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the General Assembly shall disclose the fact to the House of which he is a member and shall not vote thereon" and

Whereas, If the said Don Wilkinson was interested and so conducted himself he would be guilty of such misconduct as would require his expulsion from the House of Representatives under the provisions of Article 2 Section II of the Constitution of Pennsylvania which reads as follows

"Each House shall have power to determine the rules of its proceedings and punish its members or other persons for contempt or disorderly behavior in its presence to enforce obedience to its process to protect its members against violence or offers of bribes or private solicitation and with the concurrence of two-thirds to expel a member but not a second time for the same cause and shall have all other powers necessary for the Legislature of a free State A Member expelled for corruption shall not thereafter be eligible to either House and punishment for contempt or disorderly behavior shall not bar an indictment for the same offense" therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives authorize the Speaker to appoint a committee of five members of the House of Representatives to inquire into and concerning the official conduct of the said Don Wilkinson and to further inquire whether he has been guilty of such misconduct as could be grounds for his expulsion from the House of Representatives and be it further

Resolved, That the said committee speedily report to the House of Representatives with appropriate recommendations

Mr. Speaker, I move the adoption of the report of the Committee on Judiciary General.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report?

Mr. PRESLEY N. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown in the light of fair play. May I state at this time, Mr. Speaker, that the report of the Committee on Judiciary General came to my hands just five minutes before Mr. Brown took the floor. My compliments to the Committee on Judiciary General for the very lengthy, and the very fine and fair job they did. I realize they have had a very arduous task; I realize particularly that the task of the sub-committee composed of Mr. Homer Brown as Chairman, Mr. Bentley, Mr. Shaffer, and Mr. McKinney, was one that was most difficult. I realize quite well, as I believe every man in this House realizes, that the decision arrived at today for which there is a motion upon this floor for its adoption, is the most momentous and vital one in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania from this day on.

Mr. Speaker, I presented this Joint Resolution No. 9, Serial No. 28, after serious thought and study with a staff of attorneys, and in presenting the resolution it was presented not only on behalf of my constituents of New Castle, Pennsylvania, nor the county of Lawrence, but was presented on behalf of the constituents where they have the same method of operation in the collection of delinquent taxes, as has been carried on in Nescopeck Township, Luzerne County, in the counties of Washington, Allegheny, Westmoreland and cities of Bradford, Williamsport, Lancaster, Scranton, Allentown and a good many others, too many to enumerate at the present time.

Mr. Speaker, because I realize that the report of the Judiciary General Committee has been quite lengthy I would appreciate your kind indulgence and that of every Member of this House in order that I can convey to you exactly why I took the stand I did after careful guidance by my attorneys. This paper was filed with the Judiciary General Sub-committee some five weeks ago, and only after careful preparation from the standpoint that when the collection of delinquent taxes started in the city of New Castle, Pennsylvania a mass meeting was called to which every citizen was invited, and I would say a great majority was very much against this procedure.

Mr. Speaker, may I further call your attention to the fact that even at this act one of the greatest jurists in the State of Pennsylvania, the Honorable W. Russell Carr had ruled that P. L. 508 of 1939 was a non-retroactive measure. That same decision, gentlemen, was upheld by the Superior Court of Pennsylvania, Judge Keller presiding, in which he said,

"The clear and concise opinion of the Lower Court is hereby upheld," showing that the provisions in the act were of a non-retroactive nature, and these provisions have been used to a great extent since that decision was arrived at.

IN THE MATTER OF RESOLUTION NO. 9 ASKING FOR AN APPOINTMENT OF A COMMITTEE TO INQUIRE INTO THE CONDUCT OF DON WILKINSON, A MEMBER OF THIS HOUSE

This paper is filed in answer to the demurrer interposed by Don Wilkinson questioning the power and right of the legislature to investigate his conduct for acts done in a prior session of Legislature. The demurrer filed pertains to the resolution above captioned.

Since the charge as made and the Bill of Particulars filed, together with demurer filed by Mr. Wilkinson, depend entirely on the meaning, interpretation and purport of two provisions of the Pennsylvania Constitution, for the sake of clearness, we herewith quote in full the two provisions of the Pennsylvania Constitution that are called in question:

Article VII, Section I, Pennsylvania Constitution. "Senators and Representatives and all judicial, State and County officers shall, before entering on the duties of their respective offices, take, and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: 'I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support, obey and defend the Constitution of the United States, and the Constitution of this Commonwealth, and that I will discharge the duties of my office with fidelity; that I have not paid or contributed, or promised to pay or contribute, either directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing, to procure my nomination or election (or appointment), except for necessary and proper expenses expressly authorized by law; that I have not knowingly violated any election law of this Commonwealth, or procured it to be done by others in my behalf; that I will not knowingly receive, directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing for the performance or non-performance of any act or duty pertaining to my office other than the compensation allowed by law.'

"The foregoing oath shall be administered by some person authorized to administer oaths, and in the case of State Officers and Judges of the Supreme Court, shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and in the case of other judicial and county officers, in the office of the prothonotary of the County in which the same is taken; any person refusing to take said oath or affirmation shall forfeit his office; and any person who shall be convicted of having sworn or affirmed falsely, or having violated said oath or affirmation, shall be guilty of perjury, and be forever disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit within this Commonwealth. The oath to the members of the Senate and House of Representatives shall be administered by one of the Judges of the Supreme Court or of a Court of Common Pleas, learned in the law, in the Hall of the House to which the members shall be elected."

Article III, Section XXXIII, Pennsylvania Constitution. "A member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the General Assembly shall disclose the fact to the House of which he is a member, and shall not vote thereon.

THE OATH TAKEN BY A MEMBER REQUIRES THE MEMBER TO OBEY THE CONSTITUTION OF PENNSYLVANIA AS A WHOLE

The mere reading of the oath is the most convincing argument in support of the proposition stated above. The word "obey" is not conditioned by anything less than the Constitution of Pennsylvania in its entirety. The word "obey" found in Article VII, Section I . . . I will support and obey and defend the Constitution . . . sworn or affirmed to is a prerequisite to the taking of office. "Obey" means to obey the entire Constitution, all of its provisions and amendments, effective and binding on the member at the time of taking his oath and during his tenure of office. Much has been said by Don Wilkinson that disobedience to Article III, Section XXXIII, carried no penalty, since the penalty is not specifically contained in the Article itself—it is our contention that the penalty for Article III, Section XXXIII is contained in the oath of office, Article VII, Section I, and which oath covers all provisions relating to the office.

It can not be said that the framers of our Constitution of 1873 were unmindful of the protection owed to the public and intended that a member take an oath for each separate provision of the Constitution. Specific oaths are not required for every specific vote or for each and every specific act done in the line of the member's duty. Only one oath is administered and that is binding on the member in all his activities throughout the term. A separate oath on each and every measure is not required. The one oath is administered and binds the legislator in all of his official duties. The argument advanced in the demurrer i. e., "The enforcement of Article III, Section XXXIII lies in the conscience of the individual member," is untenable. The purpose of the insertion of Article III, Section XXXIII, was to protect the public against the conscienceless member. The conscientious will religiously observe the rule regardless of its being incorporated into the organic law or any other law. The framers of the Constitution knew that many men elected to the Legislature regarded the public office as a public trust, but there would be others who would possess a facile conscience and in order to protect the public, it was necessary to insert this provision in the organic law (Article III, Section XXXIII) and Require the taking of oath (Article VII, Section I) that carries with it definite penalties for its violation.

THE REMOVAL OF A PUBLIC OFFICER FOR MISCONDUCT IN A PRIOR TERM

The weight of authority is to the effect that misconduct of a public officer in a prior term may constitute grounds for removal or impeachment. Decisions of Courts that hold the above state quite definitely that re-election does not condone the offense. This is especially true where a man is his own successor. Misconduct in a prior term such as contempt for the authority of the speaker, disorderly conduct on the floor, or offenses against the House that are disorderly, a succeeding House would not inquire into but offenses that are distinctly against the public, as those alleged in the complaint, the weight of authority favors the view that re-election does not condone such offenses and the separate entity of the succeeding House does not act as a bar.

The justice and the reasoning in support of the removal of officers in a prior term is well expressed in the case found in State v. Welsh, 109 Iowa, 19, 79 N.W. 369;

"The very object of removal is to rid the community of a corrupt, incapable, or unworthy official. His acts during his previous term quite as effectually stamp him as such as those of that he may be serving. Re-election does not condone the offense. Misconduct may not have been discovered prior to election, and, in any event, had not been established in the manner contemplated by the statute. The defendant was entitled to the office until his successor was elected and qualified. . . . Being his own successor, the identical officer continued through both terms. His disqualification to continue in particular office results from the commission of some of the prohibited acts during his incumbency . . . This has been the uniform rule in impeachment trials, where, coupled with removal from office, is the penalty of disqualification to hold any office of honor, trust, or profit under the State. In New York, Barnard, J., was impeached during his second term for acts committed in that previous. The same was true of the impeachment of Judge Hubble, of Wisconsin, and Governor Butler, of Nebraska . . . For many purposes each term of office is separate and entire. This is especially true with respect to the obligation of sureties. But there is no reason for so holding as to the incumbent. Being his own successor, there is no interregnum. His qualification marks the only connection between his term. The commission of any of the prohibited acts the day before quite as particularly stamps him as an improper person to be intrusted with the performance of the duties of the particular office as those done the day after."

Our reason for quoting this Iowa case is that much of the language and reasoning there used is quoted with approval by our own Supreme Court in Throop Borough's School Directors 298 Pennsylvania, Page 457.

In the paper filed by Mr. Wilkinson great reliance is placed on Fudula's Petition 297, Pennsylvania, 364. In the Fudula case, where it was decided that a school director could not be ousted for misconduct during a prior term, it should be remembered that a school director who is ousted under the School Code is only barred from holding office for five (5) years; Section 218 of School Code 24, Purdon's Statutes, 181. In the case of a school director being ousted under the School Code, there is no permanent disqualification from holding a public office or trust. Under Article VII, Section J. which we will discuss later, we merely mention at this time in making this distinction, that the disqualification provided as a penalty is "for-ever holding an office of public profit or trust."

An examination of cases later than Fudula's Petition place a very definite limitation on that case. On Page 458 of the case of Throop Borough's School Directors 298, Pennsylvania, 453, the Court said:

"Offenses committed during a previous term are generally held not to furnish cause for general removal, but where a removal with it carries a disqualification to hold office, in the future, the rule is otherwise. 46 C. J. 96."

In this statement, the Court admits that where the disqualification to hold office is a permanent one the rule of the Fudula case does not apply, but our Supreme Court by the adoption of the language of the case of State v. Welsh, Supra, which indicates that where there is a permanent disqualification for holding office that misconduct during a prior term is grounds for removal. At page 457, we find them using the language that is in line with the weight of authority, namely:

"The very object of removal is to rid the community of a corrupt, incapable, or unworthy official. The commission of any of the prohibited acts the day before quite as particularly stamps him as an improper person to be intrusted with the performance of the duties of the particular office as those done the day after. The fact of guilt with respect to that office warrants the conclusion that he may no longer with safety be trusted in discharging his duties."

Our own Supreme Court in adopting the language of the case cited above clearly enunciated the rule and the reason for the application of the rule.

"BE FOREVER DISQUALIFIED FROM HOLDING ANY OFFICE OF TRUST OR PROFIT WITHIN THIS COMMONWEALTH"

We wish at this time to call attention to the admission made in the paper filed by Mr. Wilkinson at Page 4. This admission deals with the intent of the framers of the Constitution and their attitude toward Article III, Section XXXIII. We herewith quote from the paper filed by Mr. Wilkinson:

"It is further interesting to note that when a question arose in the committee to whom this article is delegated, concerning a sanction or penalty for a violation, it was mentioned that the committee on sanction would provide for the penalty."

In connection with this admission, we call attention to Paragraph A, Page 3 of Mr. Wilkinson's Brief, to wit:

"The enforcement of this provision lies in the conscience of the member of the General Assembly and the House of Representatives has no power to enforce it. It contains no penalty and no sanction is contained in the Constitution."

The first admission in their paper clearly indicates that the framers of the Constitution did not intend that so vital a provision as Article III, Section XXXIII, was to be left to the conscience of the individual member. This admission on their part as to what transpired when it was being discussed indicates what is the truth, that the framers of the Constitution felt that this was a vital provision and that penalties should be provided for its violation.

We contend not only did they intend penalties to be provided but in the oath of office provided the sanction and carried out that intention.

In the Oath of office it is provided that:

"Any person who shall be convicted of having sworn or affirmed falsely shall be guilty of perjury and be forever disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit within this Commonwealth."

In the oath it is provided that:

"Any person having violated said oath or affirmation shall be guilty of perjury and be forever disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit within this Commonwealth."

These provisions, supra, read without any forced interpretation, but interpreted reasonably and fairly indicate beyond all doubt that sanctions were provided for the violation of Article III, Section XXXIII, or any other provision violated in the Pennsylvania Constitution.

If the offending member is found guilty by a jury of having sworn falsely, he is forever disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit. If it is determined by the Legislature or any other Court in quo warranto proceedings of having violated said oath or affirmation, he is disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit. We call the attention of the members of his committee that a conviction of crime is not a condition precedent to either the Legislature or the Courts preventing a member, who has violated his oath, from forever holding an office of trust or profit. In support of the above statement we herewith quote at length the case of Commonwealth v. Walter, 83 Pennsylvania, 105, in which it is held, on matters involving a similar provision, the conviction is unnecessary to give jurisdiction. It was not an essential preliminary at common law. The Commonwealth has the right to be allowed to enforce her rights without being driven into the criminal courts as a private prosecutor.

"Under the Act of June 14th, 1836, the writ of quo warranto is the appropriate remedy where any person shall usurp, intrude into or unlawfully hold or exercise any county or township office within the respective county; or where any person, duly elected to any such office, shall have done, suffered or omitted to do any act, matter or thing whereby a forfeiture of his office shall be created. It is not pretended that we have any statute which declares a forfeiture of either of the offices aforesaid by reason of any of the acts charged in the information. But the 9th section of the 8th article of the Constitution provides that 'any person who shall, while a candidate for office, be guilty of bribery, fraud or wilful violation of any election law, shall be forever disqualified from holding any office of trust in this Commonwealth; and any person convicted of wilful violation of the election laws shall, in addition to any penalties provided by law, be deprived of the right of suffrage absolutely for a term of four years.' The object of this provision in our fundamental law is manifest. The frequency and extent of election frauds were beginning to awaken serious apprehension for the future unless promptly checked. A fraud upon the ballot is a crime against the nation. Hence it was that the framers of the Constitution sought to arrest the evil by embodying in the fundamental law the provision referred to. It is our duty to give it such construction as will carry out the intent apparent on its face, and the object which the people had in adopting it."

"It will be seen that by the express and clear language of the section, any person who shall while a candidate for office, be guilty of any of the prohibited acts, is ipso facto forever thereafter disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit in the Commonwealth. It follows that if this defendant while a candidate for the office of High Sheriff of Butler County, was guilty of 'bribery, fraud, or a wilful violation of any election law,' he is forever disqualified from holding his present office or any other of trust or profit."

"We have here an allegation on the part of the Commonwealth of the existence of certain facts which, if true, amount to a disqualification. Whether the defendant has committed the alleged acts would seem to be a proper subject of inquiry upon a quo warranto. But it was urged on behalf of the defendants, that it was not the doing of the prohibited acts which disqualified, but the being guilty of them; that such guilt could only be legally ascertained by a criminal prosecution in the Quarter Sessions where the defendant would be tried by a jury of his peers. This was substantially the ground upon which the Court below quashed the writ."

"We are to presume that the framers of the Constitution used the word 'guilty' in its ordinary or popular signification. That they had in view the distinction between being guilty of an offense and being convicted of an offense is clear, from their employing both words in the section referred to. In the concluding paragraph thereof they say 'any person convicted of wilful violation of the election laws shall, in addition to any penalties provided by law, be deprived of the right of suffrage absolutely, for a term of four years.' The word 'guilty' is defined by our best lexicographers to mean 'having guilt'; justly chargeable with a crime; not innocent; criminal.' Hence we say that a man is guilty of an offence when he has committed such offence. We say he has been convicted of an offence when he has been found guilty by the verdict of a jury. We need not elaborate so plain a proposition. Be it as strongly urged on behalf of the defendant that great injustice would be done him if the question of his guilt was not first settled in the Quarter Sessions; that he is really charged with crime, and of such a nature as to blacken his reputation. We do not see the hardship. There are but two roads. The one leads to the penitentiary in case of conviction, the other merely to a disqualification from holding office. If we send him upon the latter path, surely he has no just cause of complaint. It is his right to have the issues of fact raised upon the quo warranto tried by a jury. He has therefore a trial by his peers in the latter proceeding. An adverse verdict deprives him of neither life, liberty nor property. It merely prevents his holding an office which he would have no right to hold by reason of disqualifying acts committed by himself. The effect of requiring a previous conviction in the Quarter Sessions would be to give the Defendant two jury trials; for such conviction could not deprive him of his right to a jury trial in the quo warranto. So that by the time of the Commonwealth had followed the Defendant to the end of his sinuous path the contest might become of little real importance, and the victory, if obtained, a barren one. The construction claimed for this section of the Constitution, if adopted, would render the said section of little practical value."

Again we call the attention of the committee to that of the case of Throop Borough's School Directors, 298, Pennsylvania 453, Pages 458, 459:

"Offenses committed during a previous term are generally held not to furnish cause for general removal, but where removal carries with it a disqualification to hold office in the future, the rule is otherwise. 46 Corpus Juris 96."

To hold there is no penalty is to take the word "obey" out of the oath. From the authority cited above in Commonwealth v. Walter, not only does the Legislature have the power to inquire into a legislator's past conduct, but if the facts are established by competent evidence at any court of this Commonwealth, determined as a fact that he had violated his oath, he could be removed by quo warranto.

In conclusion, we state that Mr. Wilkinson evidently thought there was merit in this contention because in the case of Mrs. Estelle Brown vs. Don Wilkinson and the New Castle School Board at Nq. 1 December Term, 1940, Equity Court of Lawrence County, the point was raised about his right to hold the public office of delinquent Tax Collector, and Mr. Wilkinson resigned.

DO THE ACTS SET FORTH IN THE BILL OF PARTICULARS DISCLOSE A PERSONAL OR PRIVATE INTEREST?

The true test to be applied in determining whether the acts complained of were of a personal or private nature within the purview of Article III, Section XXXIII, would be an examination of the Acts cited in the Bill of Particulars involved in this case. Do the acts complained of in the Bill of Particulars and sustained by competent evidence show a personal or private interest on the part of Don Wilkinson? In determining a personal or private interest, the true test as we said in the beginning, is to be found in considering the acts complained of.

The Bill of Particulars in Paragraph 7 states that the Act of 1939 P. L. 508, made it possible for tax collectors to collect fifty cents (.50) for distraint, one dollar ($1.00) for levy and ten cents (.10) per mileage and that prior to its passage there were serious legal questions as to the legality of this cause, Paragraph 8 of the Bill of Particulars states:

"That the passage of the Act of 277, 1939, resulted in great profit to all delinquent tax collectors in that, provision relating to attachment of wages were made mandatory on employers. The word 'shall' being used instead of the word 'may', inured to the profit of all tax collectors by making a penalty on employers mandatory.

Paragraph 10 of the Bill of Particulars states:

"That the said Don Wilkinson has intimidated, coerced the tax payers of the School District, by dispersing a paper that purports to be a legal process or summons of a court of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is unlawful and contrary to the Act of 1939, P. L. 872, Sec. 895, paragraph G, and a copy of said paper is hereto attached and marked exhibit "A" and made part of the Bill of Complaint."

As to whether or not Mr. Wilkinson thought about a personal or private interest is part of his statement made to Charles Snyder, a former employee of Mr. Wilkinson's is found the following affidavit:

I, Charles Snyder of Dallas, Luzerne County, Pennsylvania, have lived in Luzerne County all my life. I have known Don Wilkinson for twelve years, knowing that he operated a tax collecting agency for the last ten years.

I solicited a position with him before the primary election of 1938. Mr. Wilkinson came to my home with campaign literature and asked me to support him for General Assembly, telling me that in return for my efforts he would be able to give me a position immediately, if he were nominated.

I was sent to Williamsport for a two weeks instruction for which I received no compensation. In Williamsport the collection was made on a percentage basis. Ten percent (10%) was received by Mr. Wilkinson and the other Ten percent (10%) was divided between the men working on the collection of taxes. Approximately, Forty-seven Thousand Dollars ($47,000.00) was collected.

After working for Mr. Wilkinson for some time, he told me he intended to introduce a Bill before the House which would make the collection of taxes much easier and more profitable. Some time later Mr. Wilkinson handed me to read a copy of House Bill 979, which he had introduced in the Assembly. After we talked about House Bill 979, Mr. Wilkinson said that it would make the attachment of wages for taxes legal. Mr. Wilkinson said all other Acts read that in the matter of wages that the Firm 'may' deduct from the wages of their employees but this Act compelled the Firms or corporations to make the deductions from the wages of their employees and imposed a penalty for not making the deductions.

I, hereby, swear that the facts contained herein are true and correct.

Again we have Mr. Wilkinson's idea on whether he had a personal or private interest when we refer to the Bill of Particulars in the following affidavit:

I, S. Emerson Harris, of 227 Linden Street, West Pittston, Pennsylvania, of my own free will and accord without any inducements or promises make the following statement relative to my employment with Don Wilkinson, as a Deputy Tax Collector. Mr. Wilkinson is a member of the Pennsylvania Assembly from the Sixth Legislative District, Forty-Fort, Pennsylvania.

I have known Mr. Wilkinson for three years and I met him through the Rod and Gun Club of the Sixth Legislative District and I was employed by him through the Chairman of the Republican Party of the Sixth Legislative District, Peter Clark.

I started to work for Mr. Wilkinson in July of 1940, and had to serve two weeks apprenticeship without pay in order to qualify as a Deputy Tax Collector. Mr. Wilkinson required this of all his help. My apprenticeship was served at Allentown, Pennsylvania, and that is also where my apprenticeship and job began. From Allentown I was sent to Hazleton, Pennsylvania. I worked there about a month and then my contract was terminated two weeks before the election of November 1940. Due to Mr. Taylor being the hotel owner and member of the School Board in Allentown, six of the employees were told by Mr. Wilkinson to rent an apartment in the hotel which amounted to One Hundred Eighty Dollars ($180.00) a month, for which each man had to pay his proportionate share.

We collected the 'cream of the town' in taxes first. The rest of the town was worked but not too much time was wasted on it. This was done upon instructions from Mr. Wilkinson. Instructions from Mr. Wilkinson were to make sure that the One Dollar Sixty Cents ($1.60) cost were collected. That was the main object of the collection of these taxes. According to Mr. Wilkinson's instructions were that in going over the town we were to spend most of our time on the tax payers who we thought were able and would pay and not waste much time on those we thought would not answer the Summons. The office of Mr. Wilkinson kept a record of the streets on which the employees were working in order that if any of the residents voluntarily came in to pay from the streets which were being worked at that time, they would collect the One Dollar Sixty Cents ($1.60) cost, taking it for granted that the five day Summons had already been served before they made the voluntary payment. In the instructions given to me, I was not to collect at the residence for that would eliminate the cost but often times the costs were collected even when the taxes were paid at the residence, even though the cost were illegally obtained in this manner and to Mr. Wilkinson's knowledge. Any taxpayer that ignored the levy made on his household goods was not prosecuted in any manner. Taxes were collected from those who were willing to pay the taxes and costs and those who disregarded the levy were never bothered at any later date for collection of those taxes and they were exonerated from paying. We left many delinquents exonerated when we left town.

We were instructed to use a five day period in which people were to appear at the Tax Office to pay these taxes but at the same time Mr. Wikinson told us that these five day Summons were not legal, that the law called for a thirty day period before they must appear. Mr. Wilkinson told us that we must use this five day Summons so that they would appear early and we would not have to waste any time and that taxes must be collected in a short time so that he could move on to another job. The object being that he could collect the One Dollar Sixty Cents ($1.60) cost without much trouble and with the least amount of expense.

All instructions were the same for every job done regardless of what community we were working in, the main object was to have the greatest number of people pay without many questions being asked by them. He told us that if this five day Summons were questioned, he didn't think it would or could stand a Court test and he said he had approved and furthered the lobbying in Harrisburg to get this Law passed.

I was on a flat salary of Forty Dollars ($40.00) a week at both Allentown and Hazleton, out of which I paid my own expenses and at no time were there any deductions made for Workmen's Compensation, Unemployment Compensation or Old Age Pension.

On the Luzerne County Institution Tax, the name of H. Berkheimer was substituted for the name of Mr. Wilkinson, who is elected to office from that particular County and District, who did not want his name connected with the collection of these delinquent taxes because of the effect it would have on his political future. Russell Lohman was Mr. Wilkinson's brother-in-law and manager of his western activities in the delinquent tax collection in that section of Pennsylvania. Mr. Wilkinson has been in this delinquent tax collection business for a period of more than ten years.

Mr. Wilkinson told us often, that he had spent quite a bit of time in Harrisburg to pass Act 277 in the Session of 1939, which helped him in the collection of delinquent taxes. He also said he wanted to spend one more term in the Assembly so that he would be able to pass legislation that would abolish local tax collectors and centralize the collection of taxes in each county. He thought, he said, with the passage of the Bill and the collecting organization he had built up and also with the aid of the Bonding Company, he would be able to secure and hold all those jobs in each county and that it would be a 'gold mine' for him and give him a very lucrative income. He stated that if he were returned to the Legislature and could get his Bill passed that we, all of his employees, would receive more money, have better jobs and be set for quite some time to come.

I have read the above statement and swear it is true and correct as dictated by me according to the facts known by me.

As to whether Mr. Wilkinson thought he has a personal or private interest in the Bill we again call attention to the following affidavit as to what Mr. Wilkinson said to a former employe of his, Morris M. Lloyd:

I, Morris M. Lloyd, of Truckville, Luzerne County, Pennsylvania, have known Don Wilkinson some twenty years and know that he operated a collection agency for collecting taxes from municipalities' and Bonding Companies for the past ten years.

On June 26, 1939, I accepted employment with Mr. Wilkinson. On the twenty-seventh day of June, I rode from Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania to Bethlehem, Pennsylvania with Mr. Wilkinson at which time he gave me to read a copy of House Bill 979, the Bill later passed as Act 277 and was signed by the Governor on June 20, 1937. Mr. Wilkinson said to me that this Bill would improve his business as it made legal all points of his tax collecting business and he was very jubilant as he said he had gotten this bill passed as this Bill would make legal the charges and mileage which he was then collecting. This made legal his collection of fifty cents (50c) for distraint, One Dollar ($1.00) for the levy and ten cents (10c) per mile.

This was my first day employed by Mr. Wilkinson as I was to work for two weeks gratis and pay my own expenses while learning the business. I worked for several weeks in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania becoming familiar with the business and was then sent out to make contacts with tax collectors and School Boards to secure collections. I covered the entire State and among other towns, contacted the School Board at New Castle, Pennsylvania, with his Mr. Lohman, who is also a brother-in-law of Mr. Wilkinson. I, also, worked at Beaver, Pennsylvania, where the collection was made for the Bonding Company.

I worked until November 23, 1940, for Mr. Wilkinson and collected in most of the larger towns in the State, both for the School District, the tax collectors and some jobs for Bonding Companies.

Our average collections were between fifty per cent (50%) and sixty percent (60%) of the delinquent accounts running in some of the Townships as high as seventy-five percent (75%) to eighty-eight percent (88%).

I hereby swear that these facts contained herein as true and correct.

In our judgment, if consideration is given to the specific acts complained of, the mind of any unbiased person will be irresistibly drawn to one conclusion, namely, that such interest as these acts disclose is not remote, incidental or speculative but the interest disclosed by these acts is pecuniary, direct, certain and fixed.

On Page 3, Paragraph 11b, it is stated in the paper filed by Mr. Wilkinson, i. e., "The interest referred to by this section as a personal or private interest is an interest which no other person has or possesses. The section does not apply to interest which is the same as others have or an interest which a class of people have in the legislation." With the statement that, the interest, which no other people possess, we flatly disagree. If this statement is not the limit of absurdity, it is because absurdity knows no limitation. To hold that an individual who had a personal or private interest must hold that to the exclusion of all the world, no one can defend. To avoid punishment that would be necessary is that the Legislator, having the personal or private interest, would only need to take in another lucre-minded member as a partner in the venture and divide the spoils with him. Don Wilkinson's statement must fall of its own weight.

Mr. Wilkinson in voting and sponsoring the Act of 1939, was motivated by a pecuniary, selfish and monetary profit to himself which he could reap from the passage of the bill. In the legislature of 1939, Mr. Wilkinson's interest differed from any other legislator in that session. It is true that there may have been other tax collectors in that session. But in the session of 1939, there was no other member who was engaged in the business of collecting delinquent taxes. There was no other member who held himself out of the public and the various divisions in our Commonwealth as an expert tax collector. In the session of 1939, there was no other member, who already was engaged in the business of collecting delinquent taxes and who had a force of skilled employees working for him; there was no other member in that session to whom the passage of that act meant hundreds of thousand of dollars. In our own County of Lawrence, Don Wilkinson, after the passage of the act of 1939, entered into a contract with the school district of the City of New Castle for the collection of delinquent per capita taxes. Under the said contract the possible commissions and profits to Don Wilkinson was over $145,586.07. This is just one of the scores of contracts entered into by Don Wilkinson with various taxing divisions in our commonwealth. We cite this example because it is the one with which we are most familiar. After Mr. Wilkinson entered into this contract, a bill in equity was filed in the Common Pleas Court of Lawrence County at No. 1 December Term, 1940, Equity Court, asking that Don Wilkinson be enjoined from collecting any taxes under the contract. One of the grounds alleged in the bill for an injunction was that Don Wilkinson violated his oath of office by voting on the Act of 1939 and therefore, was disqualified from holding an office of public trust within this Commonwealth. After Don Wilkinson was served with the said "bill in equity", he resigned as tax collector. His conduct was not the conduct of an innocent man, but the conduct of one who feared the penalties prescribed for his unscrupulous acts.

What is a personal or private interest within the meaning of Article III, Section XXXIII, is defined by our court in Wilson v. City of New Castle, 301 Pa. 359. Third class city law provides as follows, "A member of council who has personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the council, shall disclose the fact to Council and shall not vote thereon nor take any part in the discussion of the same. The language of the act construed in the Wilson case is identical to the article of the constitution in question. At page 362 of the Wilson case, the Court said, "The question hinges on what is known as 'personal or private interest'". The "interest" in a matter which will disqualify a public official acting in an executive capacity must be contained, pecuniary or proprietary, and capable of proof. It must be direct not possible or contingent, nor depending on an indirect benefit, as that the contract may or may not affect other independent transactions. A sentimental interest or a general interest is not enough. In short, "interest" must be reduced to a financial one coming directly to the public officer or to the company of which he is an officer. A contract would be manifestly against public policy if it were awarded by a person having a direct personal interest in pecuniary return from the contract . . . It must be a more direct personal interest, weighed in terms of money coming from the contract as such.

It is submitted that Don Wilkinson's act comes within the condemnation of the above rule. Prior to the act of 1939, there was some question as to whether or not a tax collector could include costs in his distress for collection. The Attorney General of Pennsylvania had delivered an opinion and many municipalities and taxing divisions took the position that the act of 1935 which abolished imprisonment for taxes, abolished as well the right for the collector to levy for costs in addition to the delinquent tax. Prior to the act of 1939, the School Code provided that a delinquent tax collector could not receive a greater salary or commission than that paid the regular collector. Don Wilkinson was engaged in a delinquent tax collection business. He contracted with many municipalities and taxing divisions to collect delinquent per capita tax and other taxes. Such was the status of the law when Don Wilkinson entered the legislature in 1939. By the act of 1939, Don Wilkinson removed all doubt from the statute and made it mandatory that a delinquent tax collector be allowed the cost of a constable when he levies for delinquent taxes. Thus, Mr. Don Wilkinson would be entitled to approximately $1.60 on all levies and $5.00 if a sale should prove necessary. Surely, this was a direct pecuniary interest to Mr. Wilkinson who would be enabled by this act to reap hundreds of thousand of dollars in profit which he could not do before the passage of the act. If there is any doubt in this committee still, that Don Wilkinson did not have a private and pecuniary interest in that act of 1939, we intend to show by competent evidence that Mr. Wilkinson solicited and made known to many people that the act of 1939 would make him wealthy and the few friends that would work with him would be rewarded and that all he needed was one more term in the legislature and that he could retire.

Don Wilkinson was elected as a legislator for Luzerne County. As a legislator, he was entrusted with the right to represent his constituents not only in that district but in Pennsylvania. As a legislator, he was a quasi-fiduciary entrusted with a power but a limited power. A power to be used only for the best interest of the people who entrusted him with that power. When there come a time that Don Wilkinson acted not because he was motivated by the best interest or what was best for his constituents but because he was motivated by what was pecuniary best for his own interest, common prudence directed that Mr. Wilkinson abstain from breaching the trust and abstain from using the power vested in him by his cestuis, the people of Pennsylvania, the voters of his district, to sub-serve an interest of his own which was contrary to the interest of his constituents. It is horn book law that a trustee who has an adverse interest can not act in his trust. Surely, the rule of law, which protects a cestui against an unscrupulous trustee in private matters applies equally as well the cestui is the people of Pennsylvania, and the trustee is their duly elected delegate to the legislature.

CONCLUSION

THE LEGISLATURE HAS THE POWER TO INVESTIGATE AND HOLD A MEMBER ANSWERABLE FOR HIS ACTS

The vice of a member having a personal and private interest in a Bill is well illustrated by the Act of 1939, P. L. 508, by Don Wilkinson, who admits playing a prominent part in securing its passage. Other members of the Assembly, having a lesser knowledge, would look upon Don Wilkinson as a distinterested expert. Some other members of the Assembly would look upon the measure as meritorious and not figure on the Bill to use Don Wilkinson's graphic language, "a gold mine", for delinquent tax collectors. Delinquent tax collection as far as this Bill was concerned could well become a racket. Is it a sufficient answer, when faced with the clear facts of misconduct, to say to the legislative committee, "So what"?

In addition to the provisions of Article VII, Section I, quoted throughout the brief, we call attention to another provision of the Constitution, which gives the legislature the right to oust a misbehaving member.

Constitution of Pennsylvania, Art. II, Sec. XI Section XI. Powers of each branch; Expulsion "Each House shall have power to determine the rules of its proceeding and punish its members or other persons for contempt or disorderly behavior in its presence, to enforce obedience to its process, to protect its members against violence or offers of bribes or private solicitation, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, to expel a member, but not a second time for the same cause, and shall have all other powers necessary for the Legislature of a free State. A member expelled for corruption shall not thereafter be eligible to either House, and punishment for contempt or disorderly behavior shall not bar an indictment for the same offense."

We are of the opinion that the oath of office administered to a member, "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support, obey and defend the Constitution", means exactly what it says and the member taking such oath is bound to observe all the provisions of the Constitution and by no possible interpretation can the member pick out what provisions he will observe and what provisions he will defy. Further, it was never intended by the framers of the Constitution that the people of Pennsylvania were to be protected by so unreliable a safeguard as the elasticity of the individual conscience of the member. Any conscientious member who violates any of the prohibitions embodied in our Organic Law for the protection of the public, does so at his peril. The penalty provided for the protection of the public, "be forever disqualified from holding any office of trust or profit within this Commonwealth", may seem to some severe, but it is to be remembered that nobody suffers the penalty unless he offends against the provisions.

Can the reasoning of Don Wilkinson be supported under law or justice when the very purport of his position allows a member to reserve his venal conduct to the close of a Session, before all the facts and his machinations can be discovered—knowing that the close of the Session is a bar to all further inquiry?

Mr. Speaker, I realize quite well that my presentation was quite lengthy and I can only express my thanks for your consideration. As I said before I feel that the motion of the Committee on Judiciary General in respect to Resolution Number 9 is of very, very vital importance, because it will set an example for what may be very necessary in the future to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It seems to me, gentlemen, if we are to build structures that are to withstand the elements in the future it is necessary that we should have the courage of our convictions in order that the structures will hold together.

I do not want to seem unfair to any man in this House, particularly to the gentleman that this resolution was filed against. Mr. Speaker, I therefore feel that the report of the Committee on Judiciary General relative to Resolution Number 9 is unfair and unjust to the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Wilkinson. In the short time in which I had to read the report, namely about four or five minutes, I do feel that justice has been done to Mr. Wilkinson to this degree. The question still remains, he is still guilty, and the ruling of the Committee on Judiciary General is to the effect that there is no ground upon which a member can be expelled. Therefore the honorable gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Wilkinson, if he is not guilty, should be given every positive right to face a committee of five which I requested in order to show his facts and figures and submit to a duces tecum in order that we can clear up the situation entirely as to whether he is guilty or not.

Mr. Speaker, I submit to you that the motion to refuse the resolution is unfair to Mr. Wilkinson and I ask that you vote this motion down, and, Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I sincerely request that the Members vote "aye" on this motion. You have heard two lengthy reports and I am not going to discuss them, because we have filed our written report. I wish the Members would take the written report and read it and study it, and they will see that the committee has been honestly fair to all concerned. We have stated that it would be unwise for a free Legislature to take action of this kind in expelling a Member from the House unless it involved a case of impeachment for corruption, bribery or fraud in the passage of the act through the House. Not once did Mr. Jones or anybody in his behalf present any evidence to the committee of any corruption, bribery, fraud, collusion or connivance in any manner which would absolutely give us jurisdiction in this House. We have advised Mr. Jones, and we have so stated in our brief that these matters should go into the criminal court where a man has the protection of the ordinary safeguards of the Constitution placed around him.

I sincerely ask all of you to vote "aye" and adopt the report of the Committee on Judiciary General.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. JONES and Mr. BROWN and were as follows:

Honorable Thomas J. Callahan
Chief Clerk, House of Representatives

Dear Mr. Callahan:

CONFERENCE COMMITTEE ON SENATE BILL No. 253

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair will name the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Sarraff, in place of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Mihm, as a member of the Conference Committee on Senate Bill No. 253, Printer's No. 152. This committee was appointed last week. The Chair hears no objection and Mr. Saraff is substituted for Mr. Mihm.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BROWN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, during our debate in presenting the report on House Resolution No. 9, I omitted in my remarks to pay due respect to the Parliamentarian of this House, the Honorable S. Edward Moore. I would like the record to show that in the matter we had under discussion he very ably assisted us, and without his assistance no doubt we should not have found some of the precedents that we have embodied in our report.

GOVERNOR OF PORTO RICO INTRODUCED

The SPEAKER. We have with us this evening a distinguished Pennsylvanian, the Governor of Porto Rico, the Honorable Guy J. Swope. If there are no objections the Chair will call upon him for a few remarks. The Chair hears none. The Chair presents to this House, the Governor of Porto Rico.

REMARKS BY GOVERNOR GUY J. SWOPE

HON. GUY J. SWOPE. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I bring you greetings from the easternmost outpost of the United States of America. In the name of the two million souls who inhabit that beautiful little island at the juncture of the Atlantic with the Carribean, I bring you greetings from the youngest parliamentary body in the American Commonwealth, and yet at the same time from the oldest community which now enjoys government under the American flag.

I am deeply moved emotionally to be asked by your Honorable Speaker to say a few words to you who as a continuation represent one of the very oldest of parliamentary bodies on the North American continent. We of Porto Rico are proud to be called fellow-American, brothers with you of the states on the continent, and in turn we ask that you also try to be our brothers.

When I took office in Porto Rico a well-meaning friend, a local resident, came to me and stated that Porto Rico politics was a very hard game, that the boys asked no quarter and frequently gave none, and he feared that perhaps the situation might frequently become very perplexing to me in the Governor's Chair. He said, "Have you had any experience in politics?" I said, "I have had a little." He said, "Where?" I said, "in Pennsylvania." "Well," he said to me, "in that case I'm going to warn the politicians of Porto Rico."

I just finished the work about ten days ago that was left on my desk by the Legislature of Porto Rico. We have a House of 39 members and a Senate of 19 members, which operates very much in the same manner as the Legislature of Pennsylvania frequently operates. There are many discussions and many dissensions, but in the final analysis the results flow from the Democratic process.

Let no one be dismayed at some of the things that come out of Legislative procedure, because we are here free beings, the very keystone of democratic government, in permitting the people to express themselves through their elected representatives. The people of Porto Rico are eager and anxious to have the democratic process, to prosper in it and to learn about it from their northern brethren. When they concluded their work on the fifteenth of April, and I might add parenthetically that under our Constitution they meet on the second Monday of February every year and must adjourn by the fifteenth of April. The boys and girls—and we have some girls in our Legislature who did a "right smart" piece of work this year. When they left they had on my desk 387 bills, some of them containing 80 pages of closely typewritten words. I read every word of them; I read all the reports on them and then I decided as to my action. I think I gave them a fair break, I vetoed 199 and signed 188.

My friends, I do not want to take up your time any longer except to reiterate my great and heartfelt pleasure at being privileged to stand before you for a brief few moments in the State where I was born, where I lived most of my life and where I hope my bones may rest when my time on earth has concluded.

I invite you to come to Porto Rico during the session of our Legislature. We have somewhat more direct action than you more sophisticated brethren have in Pennsylvania. The Speaker and the President of the Senate have considerable power, and if they do not like some of the things that are said on the floor, they just rule them out and they don't get into the Journal at all. When you come to Porto Rico, I want you to see me. I will show you an island where we stand ready to defend all the things that are held near and dear by the American people. We are building defense works there through which we will be able to intercept any unfriendly visitor who might endeavor to cross the Atlantic for the purposes of attack upon any part of the New World. I am speaking of my Porto Rico citizenry now, we are doing that cheerfully and we are doing it willingly. We have almost thirty-thousand men under arms, of whom almost twenty-thousand are citizens of Porto Rico. Under the Defense Act, we have called to the service by selection more than ten thousand Porto Ricans, and all but ninety-four of those who had to be selected for special services were taken from the volunteer registers that we have in Porto Rico, and we have a sufficient number on the volunteer registers to meet all the requirements of selective service for the next two years to come.

The men and women of Porto Rico are proud to be called Americans. They know what the fundamental principles of liberty mean to them and to you on the continent, and to whatever extent they may be called upon to make good, with a full understanding of what liberty means, they will come to the support of the flag. When you come to Porto Rico I will show you some of the most beautiful scenery outside of Pennsylvania that you can see in the whole United States, mountains and valleys, sugar cane fields, coffee plantations, grapefruit orchards and all kinds of fruit farming. When you do I will take a day off and accompany you through that island. We can cover it from one end to the other in one day. It is only one hundred miles long and thirty-five miles wide. Again I thank you for the honor you have given me tonight.
